COL. SHIP OND THE BOERS ME COULD ROUND UP THE FARMER GUERILLAS

If Placed in Command of a Division, but Not of a Mere Regimen

The following letter appeared in last evening's issue of The Toronto Star, and may have escaped the at-tention of many of our citizens. It is too good to miss; Editor of The Star; In a recent issue The Toronto Globe gave curr ney to an utterly un ounded rumor i.e., that I had recently wired or ap-plied to the Minister of Militia, vol-unteering to command the so-called Canadlau contingent about to pro ceed to South Africa. You would not have been troubled with this let-ter only that, there is not one particle of truth in the rumor.

Several weeks ago I received in-formal suggestions from prominent and successful British officers to the effect that in the interests of the Empire, which I have ever held dear to my heart, I should again go to South Africa and help to round up the Boers, and assist in speedily ending the wor. Soon after that I WROTE UNOFFICIALLY to Dr. Borden, stating that if a mounted contingent of say 1,500 men mounted contingent of say 1,500 men or upwards, viz., a brigade, were sent, 1 would be pleased to accept the command, provided, however, that I should have proper recognition regarding rank, and further provided that in South Africa, in the field, I should have an absolute independent command, subject only to Logic Kitchener or Major-General soldiers, in short, the harder the better; that I should not be hampered by "incapables," and that I be held rigidly reponsible for rounding up the enemy therein.

For some weeks I was beyond the reach of newspapers, letters or telegrams in the far North-West of Cannada, but on reaching Edmonton a Iew days ago I found a letter and a telegram from Dr. Borden awaiting me. Col. Evans had been chosen. In reply to Dr. Borden's communications, I whred him, thanking him for his letter and telegram, and stating that I was then returning home. But I melther directly nor indirectly referred to the contingent or to the command thereof.

In the best interests of the Empire I am still willing to proceed under the conditions until under J can speedilly raise a division, much more easily a brigade, and would guarantee success; for there is not a doubt the whole

PUNY, PETTY, TRICKY

PUNY, PETTY, TRICKY
Boor outfit could easily be rounded up in a few months. To round up and hag the Boor is a very simple and very casy job, but it must be gone about in an energatic, earnest soldierly, business-like, practical manner. But so long as special recognition in the shape of special decorations and honors from the War Office is awarded chiefly for "masterly retreats," "narrow escapes," 'brilliant rear guard actions," mishaps," and runaways in general; so long as "inactivity" or activity is long as "lnactivity" or activity is regarded as good strategy and tactics; so long as Lord Kitchener and other good generals are encumbered, last so long will a miserable handful of Boers roam at will over South Africa, dragiling at thirty times their number of British solders. Let me say, in all kindness, that I would promptly have REFUSED THE COMMAND REEDSED THE COMMAND of a mere regiment, such as the proposed one, had it been offered me. In 1899 the position of second in command would have been accepted by me for the South Africa contingent under only two Cauadian officers, i.e., Col. Henry Smith, now of Toronto, but late of Louden, Ont., and Col. W. D. Otter To-day I would not accept second in command of a contingent under any Cauadian officer.

Therefore the statement said to be given out by the Militia Department that I had sought the command of the proposed corps, and that It was given to that very estimable officer, Col. Evans, because he is a cavalryman, is absolutely untrue, so far as I am concerned. However, since the question of fitness has been introduced, let me state that by reference to the affisial. since the question of litness has been introduced, let me state that by reference to the official reports of Major-General Henry H. Settle it will be found that in his opinion, "Lieut. Col. Sam. Hughes is a born leader of men," and that he thoroughly undersecurial Sir Charles Warren, long since published in England and in Canada, credits "Lieut.-Col. Sam. Hughes" with being "an ideal leader of irregular horse," or words to that effect.

One thing I frankly admit I lack, tiz., the sycophancy and hypocrisy necessary to have prevented my running foul of a couple of IMPERILLY.

oul of a couple of IMPERIAL TYRANTS Integrated the couple of Imperial Tyrants in Canada. But though their intrigue and teachery have somewhat obseredited me, yet I am proud to know that the people of Canada endorsed my course and still endorse me. Even the most contemptible of the faw who belittle me in the Montreal Herald have not been able to point to one single incident in South Africa where aught but decisive success attended my every act, or where one single opportunity to act, and not promptly and violatelously even against overwhelming odds, was avoided. Under such chromatanes there are no "masterly retreats," no "brilliant rear guard actions," in short, no "mualways," to my credit; but there are as many straight scraps and other positive actions as are found with the majority.

How Col Sam Did It

The Ottawa Journal of Friday last contained an article written appar-ently by an officer of the Canadian contingent, who proceeds therein to expose the gulleless manner in which the English officer allows himself, to be tricked by the wily Boers, while the Canadian officer is as sharp as a steel trap. By a strange coinci-dence the writer picks upon Col. Sam as an exemplar of the correct style dence the writer picks upon con-sain as an exemplar of the correct style, which is set down as follows:

Col. Hughes' methods were less easy going and produced wonderful results. The Boeg ought to be an ideal poker player, for he is a bluffer from 'way back, but, being an ignorant bluffer, where his bluff is called real hard he collapses. Observe Col. Sam at work; A burch of rebels would be brought in to surrender with the usual old clo' outfif. Col. Sam would come out of his tent to receive them with a gun on his hip, and pause to regard the outfit with his Engle Eye fixed in a steel-blue glassy stare expressive of equal proportions of Angry Menaca and Sovereign Contempt. Then he would remark coldly: "Sergeant, what are those things?"

"Rebels come in to surrender, sir."

"Hi h! You a rebel? What have you got in your hands? A gun?

Rebels (in chorus); But, bossby the jumping - - - FLL AFTER YOU. You understand

GO AFTER YOU. You understand me thoroughly?"

Rebels (in chorus); "Yaa, boss!"

"All right, you can go; and when you come in to-morrow I want you to bring in the rest of the gang or I'll ge after them. I'll teach you people not to take up arms against Her Majesty the Queen. Don't forget what I say about those Mausers and horses. Get to, h.-ll out o'this."

So you have been in Mexico?" looking at him with some admiration, for although she has declared that she ought not to talk with Doctor Jack without some form of introduction, or, at least, the presence of the duenna, she continues to do so. Truth to tell, there is a peculiar magnetism about him that draws this girl; he is just such a brave man as she has always declared should be her knight errant if ever she had one.

His gallant work in the arena has put a seal upon her eyes, and she

"What would you have, Miss Morton? I have an eye for the beautiful, and admire nature in whatever mood I find it. They tell us woman is the loveliest work of all, and I must be blind, indeed, not to notice what is patent to all men. Besides, I have always been judged something of a connoisseur of a handsome face."

This he says with a meaning look,

This he says with a meaning look, but Avis, quick as thought, turns it

He turns red, although the does not

He turns red, although he does not know why he should, but samehow that clear blue eye seems to contushim. She evidently belleves Mercedes, still talking to the Turk, to be his latest love, perhaps his affianced, and he almost shows a ludicrous haste to

"Oh! you would have to give up your filrtations, that would be all," and a killing little look accompanies and a killing little lova sets upon the speech.

Doctor Jack finds himself upon the defensive, and although the situation is a novel one to him he rather enjoys it. One will accept thrusts from a certain hand in preference to favours from another, and although ten minutes ago Jack had never set eyes on this bright New York girl he is "What possessed vou to enter that ring and risk your life to-day?" she asks, her eyes on his face as if reading him through and through.

Doctor Jack had not known this lively girl ten minutes, and yet something warns him to beware. He does not tell her that it was a woman's sayes that caused him on, a woman's eyes that caused him to take his life in his hand and spring into the arena. True, Avis Morton can as yet have little interest in him, but he is too shrewd a man to make so bad a break in the start. First appearances go a great way, and he means that this American girl shall have no cause to

This is the exact truth, and yet not all the truth, for the challenge Doctor Jack took up came from the Spanish beauty at his side and not from the master of ceremonies.
"You talk like an aged man! you do not look so very old," she smiles.
"A friend asked me that to-day, enumerating the countries I had hunted in, and all that I had seen for a score of years. I told him my experience made me about seventy, while in actual truth I lacked by several years being half that old. I have been a great traveller—in Asia, Australia, South and North America, and with Stanley in Africa."

"I have always been passionately fond of travels myself, though it is the last year, since coming of that I could gratify my whim in that respect. Perhaps some time you may tell me of strange things you have seen."

"With pleasure," Doctor Jack cries, eagerly.

"Oh! I forgot, we have not been introduced—we do not know each other," laughing.

"Humbug! I can refer you to a dozen gentlemen in New York, belonging to the first society, from Pierre Lorlllard down, who will youch for me as a gentleman. What more is needed? You have yourself seen that I am a man."

"Forgive me. I only joked. I "You naughty girl! I began to think you had eloped with some one. My heart was in agony until I sighted you. Ah! pasha, is it you? I rementior meeting you in London. Permit me to introduce my nephew, may be mistaken, I never am."

"I wish I could see Madame Sophie. We were to meet by this 'Rebecca at the Well' in case we became separated. The only thing I can imagine is that she has met Larry?

"Larry?" and Doctor Jack unconsciously takes a sudden alarn.

"My cousin, Lawrence. He wrote that he would be in Madrid about this time, and was bound to find us. Larry never gives up an object he has in view. You would not think it, but he is as stubborn as a mule."

Doctor Jack is contemplating her while she glances around, and meditating upon the possibility of this self-same Larry's having ever taken a notion to fall in love with his cousin, and also considering what effect his being as stubborn as a mule would have on Avis, who looks herself as though she possesses in little of the family trait in the shape of firmness.

A low cry from his companion announces that she has made as discoverr.

"Why, it's the pasha with whom

"Good Heaven! do you know that miserable Turk, Miss Avia?" gasps our Jack—he has a reason for it.

"No doubt. These Turks are good judges of beauty. They generally have a score of wives," dryly answers the American, then adds, quickly: Serhaps you would like to meet the senorita? I will introduce you a has been doing all the fluttering up to this minute.

The two girls greet each other warmly, but that is no indication of their real feelings. As a rule the gentler sex are better actors than their male relations, and Doctor Jack looks deeper than the surface to find the truth. He enjoys standing there and comparing these two types of beauty. It is astonishing how changed his deas have become since meeting Avis. Previous to that he thought Mercedes the loyellest woman he had ever set eyes lovellest woman he thought merceaes the lovellest woman he had ever set eyes on; now her beauty is dimmed, and by a Yankee girl, who makes no pretensions in that line. Doctor Jack swakens to the fact that there is more accurately that mean bounts of the convenient that mean bounts. in expression that mere beauty of con-in expression tour.

They chat for a few minutes on general subjects. To travellers there is always a host of things of which they can talk. The pasha says little, and devotes that to the ladies, completely ignoring Jack, who watches the Turk out of the corner of his eye, and grates sis teet to see the averious manner in which he surveys olous manner in which he surveys Avis Morton, as though he would give her weight in gold to convey her to his harem.

Jack's gloomy thoughts are inter-

"There she is—naughty Madame Sophie, and as I suspected, dear Larry is with her. How well he looks."
With a sinking of the heart Doctor Jack turns his head to look upon the man whom he has already set down as his most formidable rival.

CHAPTER VI.

Somehow in his mind Jack has pic-tured Cousin Larry as a good?humour-ed giant, handsome, and ready to an-ticipate the every wish of his fair re-lative. He has known before now of lative. He has known before now of cousins being brought up together like brother and sister, and finally discovering that the world was too small to keep them asunder; and although he has no reason for believing this is a similar case, the notion appears to have entered his head.

There they come, making gestures that they have seen Avis, which she returns eagerly, the crowd separating them. Under such circumstances it is only right that the glant should elbow a passage through for the lady in his charge, but as Jack looks and gapes, he sees it is the latter who throws her weight against the barrier—she is the entering wedge that divides the crowd.

Cousin Larry does not loom up at all. He is concealed behind the ample figure of the madam, but Jack has already sighted him, and an amused smile creeps over his sun-burned face, giving place to the look of concern.

On an acquaintance of fifteen min-utes this is getting to be a very seri

"You naughty girl! I began to think you had eloped with some one. My heart was in agony until I sighted you. Ah! pasha, is it you? I lementber meeting you in London. Permit me to introduce my nephew, Larry."

Larry is a genuine New York dude, small in figure, natty in dress, effeminate in appearance, with his hair parted in the centre, sporting an eyelass, a heavy cane, and all the well-glass, a heavy cane, and all the well-

Jack is at first inclined to think him a fool, but accustomed to looking beneath the surface, he fancles he sees semething there that Larry hides beneath his foppish exterior. Perhaps the studborn quadditios of which shis has already spoken are not the only good ones he possesses. At any rate, now that his inward fours of Cousin Larry as a rival are set at rent, Jack nodes he may endure the dude, even like him, for her sake.

Naturally Mademe Sophie todks foward the others as if desiring on introduction, which Avis readily gives.

"You are the sentieman who upheld the honour of the starry flag today. I shake hands with you because I adore a brave man," seys the stout matron, warmly, and Jack start sas he hears the identical weeds that sent him over the hander into the arena, "but Avis calls you Docket that the thin over the hander into the read of the starry flast name, or have you another?"

"My full name its Jack Evans." While he speaks it the American watches the face of Awis, and its satisfied at the little stant she gives, proving conclusively that the name is familiar to her. She Jocks at him with renewed interest, a quick saamling look it is, mixed with a little wonder, familiar to her. She docks at him with renewed interest, a quick seanning look it is, mixed with a little wonder, but Jack is chaiting and laughing with Larry, whose affected drawl and Eng-lish ways are quite amusing. The pasha excuses himself, and walks away, but Jack notices that he speaks a low word to Moroedes as no passes, and that lovely woman shrugs her shoulders in a very Frenchy fash-ion.

It is Juck's desire to learn where the American ladies are stoppling, so he puts the question to Madame Sopble, who replies that they have the best rooms at the Fonda Peninsular, near the centre of the city, where its life is daily seen in the grand plaza known as the Puerta del Sol. Mercedes is plainly uneasy. She looks often upon Cousin Larry, who stands succing his cane, and saying little beyond "bah Jove!" and evidentity the Spanish beauty seems to think he is some new beast on exhibition. Truth to tell, Larry's face is extraordinarily shaped, and shows a lack of human qualities, more resembling the head of a fox, from which reason Jack judges that he possesses some of the cunning of that animal. As he is Mercedes' cavaller, he must obey her wishes, besides, he can see Avis again, and what he has to say to her will keep, as it is better suited to the privacy of an hotel parlour than the publicity of the museo. The girl is watching him. She has

Doctor Jack rather enjoys the fact that he has assumed a new importance in her eyes, but he has no desire to play upon the subject, for there are grave memories connected with it, thoughts that stir up every emotion within him, and take him back to seenes in the past that he often wishes he could forget.

"The senorita no doubt desires to find her friends. I must say goodday," he says, speaking to all, but at Madame Sophle, and that worthy dame replies quickly:—

"We shall not call it good-by. You will drop in, and see us again, Doc-

Jack looks toward Avis, who mur-too will be glad to see him. He knows it now that she has learned his name, though what magic there may have been in that does not yet appear.

With what seems to be more cegemony than is necessary, he bids cash one good-by, shaking hands with Madame Sophie first, then Coush Larry, and last of all Avis herself.

This is the opportunity he has looked for. The others are laughing because a fat man has become wedged in between two flanks of the crowd, and looks pitifully around as it for assistance. Only the dazzling eyes of Mercedes Gonzales see Dootor Jack press the fair girl's hand, and bending over say something in a low tone that causes fier face to light up and a glad look appear in her eyes.

"I shall call upon you this evening at eight, Miss Avis. I have something to tell you, something for your ears alone, connected with one I knew and loved—your brother, Aleck, Shall I be welcome?"

anen they separate, each party resuming the tour of the gallery in different directions. Mercedes is quick to note a change in her attendant cavaller. He had been witty and full of life before this meeting, and now he has become preoccupied in mind, so that soveral times he answers some sally vaguely, as though his thoughts were far away.

were far away.

This piques the Spanish beauty at once. There is nothing what will oftend a woman quicker than to see that for Doctor Jack before, but now a her attractive powers have been overshadowed by a rival.

She may not have cared a great deal great burning passion eats into her soul. She loves—the spontaneous growth of this plant in the heart of a Southern woman of the Latin races is not uncommon. Their passions are deep and sudden, though far from being as lasting as the slower flo growing in more temperate zones.

This bold American has won her ad-This bold American has won her admiration to begin with. He has braved death in the arena for her smile. Yes, there are other causes why he should belong to her, and she is not true daughter of Spain if she sits calmly down and allows him to be taken from her by this girl from over the sea. These down in her heart there is a tumult raging. It beats like a tempest upon the shore, surging high at tignes, and yet above are fair skies, smiles, and a placid countenance. You can trust the intelligent girl of the nineteenth century to hide her emonineteent century to hide her emo-tions. She does not go about with her heart on her sleeve, to show how it has been riddled by the numerous firstations of the past.

Birtations of the past.

At last they meet Don Carlos and the senora. Jack catches a significant glance, which the former exchanges with Mercedes, and once more the suspicion flashes into his brain that the old Scanlard may not be the walth friend he has believed up to

New. Mercedes complains of being weary, so they pass out and enter the carriage, which soon leaves them at the residence of the Spanjard. This is quite a fine house on the Del Prado, where they find every-comfort.

The day is declining, and Doctor Jack is invited to dine with them, which he can hardly refuse to do. Besides, he has a great curiosity to fathom that line of mysteries connected with the past. Why was Mercedes disguised as a Catalan peasant girl in the flower mart on the Rambia at Barcelona? Why did she tell him she would be at the bull-fight in Madrid? How came she to assume the character of Sister Agatha, a nun from the cloister of San Pedro, the Benedictine church at Gerona? What was there in common between this wonderfully beautiful woman and the Turkish pasha?

All these questions can be answered, but it may require time and patience to unravel the skein in its tampled up condition. At any rate it gives zest to his existence, which, up to this period in his career, has been prosaic enough with regard to love affairs.

Mercedes and Don Carlos find a chance to have a quiet talk, while the senore entertains Doctor Jack, who when Mercedes and the old Spaniard meet in the small music-room, her black eyes are full of resolution. The other laughs and pats her on the head as a father might—he is her uncle, and has the right.

Don Carlos smiles and nods, placing one finger on the side of his nose.

"Ah! you give me an idea, girl, which we may yet find occasion to work up if other things fail. If the pasha is struck, we can make use of him, perhaps. About Doctor Jeck—you think he is going to see this girl?"

"I know it. I heard him say so,"

"It is easy to put some one on his track and find out, if you wish."

"Vaya! It is not easy for one to confuse the truth. I shall try the power of music and my blandishments, but I fear me they will fail. He is the man to keep an engagement. On my Lart I, too, have made a vow. Doctor Jack must not leave this house at eight. He is in the spider's web—to escape now may mean ruin."

She is intensely agitated, but the man does not seem to share her alarm.

She is intensely agitated, but the man does not seem to share her alarm. He is not in love with Doctor Jack, and that makes all the difference in the world.

"Be caretui, she was a way."
"Of what?"
"That you do not make a mess of it and smoke the wrong cigar."
"Have no fear of ma."
While this side play has been going on in the music-room, Doctor Jack on in the music-room, Doctor Jack and the senora have chatted in the Spanish drawing-room over a number of things, for he manages to tempor-arily tear his mind away from Avis, and laugh with the good dame, who is genial company for any one, and amuses Jack with her broken English.

genial company for any one, and anuses Jack with her broken English. By and by they speak of curiosities, and she tells him of a relic which has been handed down for centuries in her family. She has it in her room along with her beads and crucifix, and will get it. So she goes, and Jack is left temporarily alone for the first time since he was intruded upon by Don Carlos while at his morning ablutions. It is an opportunity he has been looking for these two hours back. Half a dozen times he has remembered the paper thrust into his hand by some one unknown as he pushed through the crowd just outside the payllion in the Plaza del Tores. Of course it will not amount to anything, he is sure of that, but as curiosity is not confined to the gentler sex alone, he has a desire to see what it is, and in order to have a minute alone, has encouraged the senora in the laudable ambition to show him her wooderful leventer in her bear of the her weather the part of the senora in the laudable ambition to show him her wooderful leventers. show him her wonderful legacy he thrust it, and the fishing goes on anace.

Ah! victory! here it is, and now for some silly gush from a young damsel's heart. With a smile Doctor Jack smoothes out the crumpled sheet and catts his eyes upon it.

The characters are in Spanish, written with a lead pencil, and evidently ha hurry, as if time pressed with the scribe. In spite of these defects the is something even in the chirography that tells Jack the writer is a woman. Holding it to the light of the window he reads:

"The American senor is in terrible anager from an unseen source. More

"The American senor is in terrious canger from an unseen source. More I dare not say. Trust no one save your countrymen, and leave Spain as soon as possible."

There is no signature. Whoever this friend may be, she has not dared acknowledge her identity. You see, Doctor Jack still insists that the writer that the friend the service of the femiline, ex.

A singular idea strikes him. He has Now he has what he wants, and laying the note beside the inscription, he compares the two with caim de-liberation, makes allowance for the studied work on one and the hurry visible with the other, and then decides positively that the same hand perned both.

This strip up the waters of the Si-

This stirs up the waters of the Siloum pool again, and renders the situation more muddy and complicated than before. He has believed that if there is a deep and mysterious game being played Mercedes is in it—his Earcelona adventures tell his so—hence how comes it that she sends him warning? Can it be that after witnessing his feat in the arens she has compassion on him, and desires to undo her chare in the conspiracy? The note must have been written on the sly while the last bull was engaged. Doctor Jack remembers that she seemed to be doing something—he thought searching in her Spanish reticule for bon-bons.

Another thought comes to him, and causes a smile. This note was written. This stirs up the waters of the Si wav. The expression on her face tells him that she has been standing there for a full minute, and hence understands his action; but ever cool, he is in no hurry, deliberately folding the note, and replacing it in his pocket.

It is on Jack's tongue to speak, to ask for an explanation of the strange warning, but he gets no further, for

Jack pretends to show great interest in the matter, but in reality cares less for the specimen of early days than for a piece of the Sphinx that a curlosity hunter once cauticusty showed him, and which the vandal assured him solemnly, had been chipped from the nose of that glant figure by his own hands.

No opportunity is given him for a private interview with Mercedes during the remainder of the evening, so ing the remainder of the evening, so for the present those mysteries which he longs to have solved must remain secrets beyond his reach.

Mercedes is asked to sing, so they adjourn to the nrusic-room. This is a cosy apartment with a leaning toward Oriental luxury, soft divans for lounging, and draperies that hide the walls. There are many musical instruments here, from a plano and harp down to a guitar and native mandolin. Mercedes is wise encugh to leave the former alone. It is hardly in harmony with its surroundings, which are decidedly Moorish in colors and hangings. Seating herself at the harp, she strikes a few sweet chords 'hat enchant Jawk. Then in a low voice she Jack has heard Patti and all the lesser lights of the operatic stage time and again—he loves music, too, and is a little inclined that way—but never in all his life as a rover has he listened to such sounds as fall from the lips of this Spanish beauty, never has he seen so lovely a minstry.

Soil Cultivation-Dairying

DISCUSSED AT THE FARMERS INSTITUTE MEETING

eld at Cakwood/ Wednesday-Mr. Duncan Anderson and Miss Blanche Maddock the Speakers-Profitable Discussions.

Discussions.

The West Victoria Farmers' lustitute meeting held Wednesday in the Village of Onkwood was largely attended and was a gratifying success. The farmers of Maripesa are undoubtedly anxious to obtains new these and information on the lines. ideas and information on the lines of scientific and modern farming. Perhaps we are safe in saying that no township in Ontario can outolass Muriposa as far as fertile land is concerned. It's handsome residences and fine barns are indications that its citizens are prosperous and progressive. President Channon, in opening, spoke briefly, expressing his pleasure at seeing so many farmers present. He had only recently read an articles in one of the local navers on the abolition of township fairs and centralizing them into county fairs. It would be better in many ways as county fairs could pay higher prizes. However, that was a matter for men to discuss. was a matter for men to discuss.
Farmers' Institute meetings are not creating the interest they should and it was a pity as they have good practical men of experience going should the country interest.

Soil Cultivation.

The President called on Mr. Duncan Anderson, of Rugby, to give an address on 'Soil Cultivation.' Mr. Anderson, who is a very interesting speaker, soid he was pleased to see a large gathering of farmers present. He said farmers should ever remember that the fertility of thesoil was of the greastest national importance. All classes of people, which is the merchants, professional men, manufacturers or men of wealth, all are dependent on the mass who till the soil, and consequently it is essential that good food should be supplied. Cultivating the soil, following a rotation of crops, and manuring, are three things which would have a tendency to keep up the Iertility of the soil. He referred to the Gueiph Iat stock show and considered it would be to every farmer's interest to visit that exhibition, as valuable information on all lines of farming would be received. Our fairs should be for the agricultural part of it, not for horseracing. They were never intended for thir but for educational purposes and there should be parties present at the fairs who could take the various samples of products exhibited and point out their defects and good qualities, at the same time giving necessary information. He visited British Columbian last year and his work there was partly in that capacity.

Farmers cannot make the seed plant too light. Take wheat and led it grow and if there is no fertility in the soul it will die. Then again, the seed bed should not be too fine and the fertility too near the top. If you put manure on the field on top of the surplus exposed to the sun and should wet weather set in the good substance will wash away. Nover let the cold sub-soil come up up the fertility too near the top, at well in the soul it will give better results. Take barnyard and decayed manure to a chemist and have it analyzed and he will feel that the soil. In plowing you meet with many difficulties and you must be care

Mr. Swain.—"I get good results by only going down to a dopth of 3 inches. I do not see how a set of twin plows for a root crop in the spring will do very well. There is no harm to put manure ca the land in the winter, unless the snow is very deep which will renden it impossible. Ha knew a man who built a barn to put manure in and had an ever-flow to keep it moist, then when he was ready to apply it to the land he utilized two teams, using one for plowing and the other for drawing the manure. In that way he plowed the manure into the land without letting it lay on the surface for any length of time."

Mr. Grant — "I find I get better results by the short rotation."

Mr. Channon.—"I am satisfied that by going down three inches and getting the earth good and fine, you will obtain good results."

Miss Blanche Maddock,

Alies Blanche Maddock, of the Ontario Agricultural College, gave an interesting talk on "Dalrylug." She intended to speak on Domestic Science, but on account of there being so few ladies present sike changed the subject. Miss Maddock is a fluent speaker and discussed the subject so theroughly that her audience were able to sceure much valuable information. She said she was here principally to organize Women's Institutes and take the names of any ladies who intended joining. There should be institutes for women in East and West Victoria and as the fee-was small, only 25c, there should be avery large numbership. The money would not go to the government, but would be used for local purposes. As their literature was different to the Farners' Institutes some of the money would be used to purchase literature. These meetings could be held once a month at the different members' homes.

There was Science in Dalrylng Miss Blanche Maddock, There was Science in Dairying

as well as domestic science in the hone. Dairying should not be conducted in a hap-hasard way and with practically no results. If carried on in a selectific way it would be helpful. One of the oldest occupations on the farm is dairying. We hear of milk as soon as we do of man The product of milk is butter and cheese and it is important that these two articles should be of the very best quality. The first churn in the world was a skin bag and the only way of churning the milk in those days was to attach the bag to the neck of an animal. The methods of churning are now changed. The principal thing now in churning is to get the concussion, but not friction, to get small fat particles. In order to have good butter keep your cans clean. You must also have clean cow stables and have them verillated so that the pure air can get in. Then again you will never have pure milk by letting cows drink impure water. Parties milking cows should see that their hands are clean; cleav the cows and wipe them with a dry cloth. After the milking is done strain the milk through a wire strainer and then cheese cloth. Milk should be left in a temperature of about 60 degrees. There is a germ that belongs to the lowest form of vegetable plant that will get into the milk and cause impurity.

Dry fodder should not be fed to the cows during milking time. All germs in milk will be destroyed by a temperature of 160. From 65 to 100 they will molsten and grow rapidly, but below 85 they will not multiply. Iron pote are used principally for heating the milk to temperature of 160. In the spring there has been unanofacturing brick and tile for over 26 years and contended that the most successful farmers are those who drain their land well. Heavy chay well drained will pro luce a heavier crop of grain than light land. In draining the land see that the outlet is so arranged that the water will not come back and flood the land. You should have the tile well burned so it will stand frost. Two or three feet is a sufficient depth for a drain and when laying the tile be sure and have the bottom of the drain perfectly sucoth. A level bottom is absolutely successary. In laying the tile do not stand in the drain as it will press the bettom, but lay the tile from the side of the drain. As to the importance of proper draining, a noighbor had a low wet field, which was not drained, and was only able to grow twelve bushels of barley to the acre. The cening session was well attended and interesting addresses were delivered, filled with evcelient suggestions along the line of up-to-date farming.

ONTARIO EXPERIMENTAL UNION

The most important results of these tests will be taken up the year. Dr. H. W. Wiley, Washington, D.G., U.S.A., is to give an iliostrated address on "The Growling of Sugar Beets and the Manuliacture of Beet Sugar." Mr. J. A. "La Grande, Nov. 7th,—After the most successful run in its history, the Oregon Sugar Company's factory at La Grande will close next Saturday evening. This is the factory's fourth year of operation. The functory has run continuously for 50 days, the only interruption being a five hour stop for repairs to a gas engine whell broke down. The output will be about 35,000 sacks, which approximates 3,500,000 pounds. The warehouse now contains 30,000 sacks of this season's product. The quality of the sugar is as high as that produced anywhere in the world. The percenting this year was 16 per cent. sugar, 85 per cent. purity, ar increase of one per cent. over last year. "Twenty-four million pounds of beets were cut, which is about 300 tons, or 60,000 pounds more thin was cut in any previous run. One hundred and fifty men have been constantly employed to operate the factory and watch the pump. Presses, vats and engines, which transform to sugar the Jules, as it passes through the 25 miles of pipes. Eight hundred tons of lime rock hare been consumed during the 50 days' run. Seventy-five tons of coke, many tons of suphur and 500 gallons of lubricating oil were used. Over 4,000 cords of wood were burned by furnaces."

In wages the factory disbursed an average of $2.25 per man, a total of $337.50 a day, on $19,875 for the entire run. This is exclusive of the-large amounts paid to growers of beets.

Yes, the farmer is independent! No mistake on this point. Everybody says so, and, of course, everybody knows it. Most independent life there is. You have heard that often. Let's see. The plow trust prode lim on plows; the twine trust twists him on twin; the implements; the wire trust allops him on wire; the lumber trust lampoons him on lumber; the leather trust larrups him on leather; the sugar trust soakes him on sugar; the transportation trust takes terrible toil on traffic; all the other trusts take a silee out of him and they not only skin him on everything he bays, but they put the price on everything he raises and sells. O, yes, the farmer is independent. See how he takes his family to Europe every year. If you don't believe it, get a microscope and look at his prosperity and independence.

The two great branches of the National Government, the army and navy, were battling for supremacy on the football field of old Penn. The army finally won by a score of 11 to 5 by the prowess of a young man named Daly, and when the young man, who is the chief of both of these great arms of the Government, found the fence an obstruction to his better view of the contest he leaped it.

A half-dozen Philadelphia police raptains and nearly half a thousand Philadelphia policemen had massed themselves around the President and his party. Secret service men by the dozen were all over the place. Everybody had done everything that it was up to kim to do except one young man in the Annapolis team. This young man had been attending strictly to business, when suddenly the hall was shot into his hands, and his fellows opened up a hole in the army line hig enough for the cruiser Brooklyn to make her famous loot in. Through this hole the young man darted, and made what everybody allowed was a star play. It was too much for President Roosevelt. He was no longor the dignified guider of a great nation's fortunes. He was a robust, exuberant boy again, and, with a yell that was distinguishable above all the pandemonium there, he sprang from his seat, leaped the little fence in front of him and was on the side lines. The action caught the crowd, and was the most striking incident of the game.

THE MANITOBA LIQUOR CASE

(Toronto Weekly Sua.)

The Manitoba Liquor Act, which has just been upheld by the Privy Council, is generally misunderstood. It does not prohibit, but only regulates, the sale and use of liquor. It might with strict accuracy be called an Act to dispossors the Manitoba publicans, or at any rate to transpublicans, or at any rate to trans-fer the sale of liquor from the pub-licans to the wholesale and retail druggists. The preamble of the Act declares that "It is expedient to suppress the liquor traffic in Manitoba by prohibiting Provincial transac-tions in liquor." However expedient the suppression of the liquor traffic may be, it is not absolutely sup-pressed by the subsequent clauses of the Act. Only wholesale and re-tail druggists are allowed to sell liquor, and liquor shall only be sold figures, and figures and only be sold for medicinal, sacramental, and manufacturing purposes. The drug-gists may sell on the prescriptions of physicians and veterinary sur-geons, dentists and clergymen may geons, dentists and clergymen may keep it. Liquor may be imported and consumed in "dwellings." Distillers ilcensed by the Dominion government may carry on their business subject to the Act. This the Privy Council seems to have regarded as not contravening the British North America Act. Whether the Act will have the amount of liquor legality limit the amount of liquor legally consumed in Manitoba only experi-ence can prove. It will probably ag-gravate the evils of the unlicensed Objections to the Act raised by the Hudson's Bay Company were not passed on by the Privy Council. The Hudson's Bay Company was incorporated in the twentieth year of the reign of Churles the Second, with the famous Prince Rupert as the first Governor. The company was granted absolute right of government and trade throughout the North-west, and exercised these privileges until 1870, when it partially sold out to the Dominion government for #300,000. By the deed Objections to the Act raised by the ernment for #300,000. By the deed of surrender the company was to be at liberty to carry on its trade with-out hindrance in its corporate caout hindrance in its corporate ca-pacity. As the company traded in whiskey, it is likely that the objec-tion taken was that the Act hinder-ed its trade. In the absence of the indigment of the Privy Council, we presume it might be held that the company's right to trade without hindrance was conceded, subject to the right of the Provincial govern-ments to regulate. The company ments to regulate. The company will probably get around the Act by becoming wholesale druggists, or by adding druggists to their cierical

THE BUTCHERS' BILL.

During the interval between the close of the Franco-Prusslan war and the beginning of the British-Boer war the theory was frequently advanced that long wars would be impossible in future, because they would be too costly and destructive for any nation to endure more than a few weeks, and some people thought that the improvement in the thought that the improvement is the weapons of destruction would put a stop to wars of any kind. A return has been issued by the British War Office, showing that up to the end of October, the British killed in action in South Africa numbered 4,-904, that 1,681 died of wounds, 98 died in captivity, 10,686 died of disease, and there were 475 accidental doubts—a total of 17,844 in two years of warfare. In addition to this loss there were 532 missing and prisoners 439 invalids who died atter being sent home and 3,958 woulds who left the service as being unit, after being sent house—making a grand total of 22,773 died or distance.

butchers' bill is big enough in all reason, but it does not bear out the theory of which we have spoken. Notwithstanding the greater de-structiveness of modern weapons, octiveness of modern weapons, loss of life in the latest war is comparatively small. In the battle of Gettysburg, Pennsylvaula, July 18rd. 1863, the North lost 23,109 men, of whom nearly 7,000 were missing, and the South lost 36,000, of whom 19,783, wounded and unwounded remained as prisoners. At Chancellorsvilts, Virginia, May 2-3-4, '03 the North lost 17,000 and the South 13,000. At Blenheim, Aug. 2nd, 1704, the French and Bavarians lost 27,000 killed and 18,000 wounded. At Waterlos, June 18th, 1815, the British and allies lost 4,206 killed, 14,539 wounded and 4,231 missing. At Ram lies 4,000 of the allied army were slain. At Hoheelinden, Dec. 3rd 1800, the Austrians lost 10,000 in killed and wounded and 10,000 in killed and wounded and 10,000 and 1800, the Austrians lost 10,000 in killed and gwounded and 10,000 prisoners. At Alma the Russians lost 5,000 men, and the alites 3,300. The list could be extended almost indefinitely, but those records sufflor to prove that fighting with artillery, maxims and mausers is not as destructive as fighting with spears, javelins, swords and bayonets was. The rule noted at the time of the Crimean war—that it costs $5,000 to kill a man—still holds good. to kill a man-still holds good.

War is wasteful, even when not specially destructive.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Archic Campbell is a political war-rior who fears no foe. His record in Kent shows that much can be lone by a good man with a good ause, and West York liberals have both. Let them go in to win, and they will succeed.

Gentlemen with municipal aspira-tions, it is not too early to aunounce yourselves. There will soon be a few vacancies for housest, oraniny al-dermen. For such there is no money in it, and there is not a little work; but there is a chance to earn the esteem and gratitude of the elec-torate. Let us hear from you.

. Hamilton Times: Bergeron, the Big Tory Chief, of Quebec, is out in protest against sending more men to South Africa. Now will the Ottawa Citizen, or some of the other organs which have been accusing the gov to send another contingent, whack Bergeron a few where the whacks will count? We expect they will—

The good wishes of thousands of Canadians, especially railway men and the business public, will go with Mr. Geo. B. Reeves, who is retiring from the Grand Trunk to enjoy wellearned rest on his California estate. Their only regret will be that he is not to remain a Canadian resident and spend his remaining years

Rev. Mr. Foster, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Manhattan, has been attacking secret societies. He compares the Masons to the "lynching mobs of the South." The Masons are, he says, "not in-spired by the Holy Ghost, but by the devil himself." Rev. J. B. Stoddard, of Boston, also made an address, in which he said he traced all tendencies to anarchy and revolution to the Masonic order. Who would have thought it? We have seen so much of the mild-mannered fellows that we can hardly realize that each has a pistol and dagger in his boot legs and his tall pockets crammed with dynamite.

-An English exchange says that Lord Roseberry wants to try the ex-periment of having England governperiment of naving England govern-ed by business men. But where are the business men who will be willing-to give up their time to such a trivial matter? Why, even in our own little town, where the prosperity of every citizen may be said to depend upon the wise management of civic ar-fairs. It has so far been impossible fairs, it has so far been impossible lairs, it has so lay been impossible to induce our most successful business men to accept a position at the Council board. Lindsay would to-day be a city it the management of affairs had not for years been left in the hands of men whose ideas were small, but whose capacity for mismanagement was great.

Mayor Ingle-"What was the sum the County Council granted?"

Mr. Ellis-"Well, I understand no definite amount was really fixed. They unde a grant which is to pay the expenses of a canvasser. Since then they had carefully considered the mptter and thought a committee should be appointed to confer with us."

Ar. Channon said the County Council in his vicinity of the government, who speat to most hi that State hast season, and he recommended a visit to Cairo of Alimi in preference to Bay City, as the soil at the above-mentioned are so situated, that if necessary scoure the 5,000 acres, what will be the next step?"

Mr Ellis—"I do not think we would then have much difficulty in seering a factory to locate here."

Mr Robson—"I understand capitalists will not start factories aniless they are given a large bones."

Mr Duke—"I am sure sugar bests can be raised as successfully as mangolds or other roots. We should raise 18 to 20 tons to the acreand at $4 a ton's surely that would pay. There is lots of good land in Ops. Mariposa, Fenelon and Enliy to grow beets."

Mariposa, Fenelon and Enlity to grow beets."

Mr. Geo. Graham said he supposed the object in sending a deputation to Michigan was to get information about growing beets, what kind of land to grow them on, how much per acre it will cost the farmer to grow them and what he will realize per acre; to see how the factories are conducted, how they pay, and the number of persons employed, and also to find out what the towns over there gave in the way of bonuses. With sufficient knowledge of the business we will not be taken in by manufacturers.

Mr. Ellis—"We asked the County Council to pay the expenses of a man to canvass, but did not then think of sending a deputation to Michigan. The deputation must find out everything about sugar beets, and two or three persons will be sufficient. I am sure the County Gouncil will assist us."

Mr. Wm. Flavelle—"I think it the proper thrus to send a deputation."

Senator McHugh - Supposing vou get each farmer to guarantee five acres, you would need 1000 farmers. I do not see why that number could not be secured."
Mr. Graham - If there is a yield of 16 ner cent. sugar, what would be realized per ton? I understand 12 per cent. sugar will sell at $4 per ton."

Mr. Channon—'I am not prepared to say, but think about $5.50 per tou. I grew 28 tons to the acre and did not have proper time last year for seeding. I do not purpose going into growing the beets on a large scale at first, but if there is money in it I will go into it extensively.' Warden Jas. Uraham—'I am in favor of sending a deputation, and think it a proper and commendable will be paid by the county."

Mr. Bryans—'I am in favor of sending the deputation. The soil in Michigan is similar to that of Onserio, and I think that is the proper State to visit to get information. We have all the facilities as stated before: shipping beets by water is the cheapest way and we have a grand take and river system.'

Mr. Robertson—'I think the County Council will not object to paying the expenses, as the noney will be well spent.'
Senator McHugh—'Factories are wanting bonuses, exemption from taxes, land grants, etc. The deputations should get every information one that point as well. A list of queetions should be prepared for them to ask."

Mr. Flarelle—"We must have com-one that point as well. A list of questions should be prepared for them to ask."

Mr. Flavelle—"We must have competent men to canvass."

Mr. Tadd (Ranboro)—'I understand limestone can be secured about 10 1-2 miles from town."

Mr. Channon—"Yes, and the analysis has turned out perfectly satisfactory."

Mr. E. H. Hopkins—"The deputation should go to the section of the state where the labor conditions are similar to curs. Some parts of Michigan are inhabited by Poles, Swedes and other foreigners, who work cheap. There is a good margin in beets at $30 an acre. I think all beets grown in Canada should be manufactured here. I agree with Mr. McHugh that a list of questions should be prepared."

Finally, on motion of Mr. R. Bryans, seconded by Mr. Dames, of Mariposa, a deputation was appointed, comprising Messrs. Ellis, Channon and Fairbaiga, to go to Michigan. In case Mr. Fairbairn is unable to go Mr. Ibose for the deputation. The members will leave on Weilnesday, D. Scully, J. Robertson, and N. Hockin, was appointed to prepare list of questions for the deputation. The members will leave on Weilnesday, Dec. 11th.

OBITUARY

The Late Mrs. Wright, Kingston.

Kingston News: The home of Mr. T. Wright, No. 42 Albert-st., has been made sad by the death of his wife from heart failure, which occurred last night (Tuesday.) Mr. Wright was absent from the city when the summons came. Mrs. Wright's demise came with a terrible shock to summons came. Wre. Wright's demise came with a terrible shock to her family. Only on Monday evening she wrote to her husband them in Picton on business, stating that she was in the best of health and was awalting his home-coming for Thanksgiving. On Tucsday evening at 7.30 he received word from Kingston that Mrs. Wright was dying and if he wished to see her alive he must hasten home. Mr. Wright drove from Picton to a point opposite, but as no boat was running and the bay frozen he could not get across. After some difficulty he found a boat on the shore and crossed the bay at considerable risk, arriving at Descronto at 11.45 pm. He telephoned to the General Hospital and received the sad news that his wife was dead. The maiden name of the diseased was May Wakley. She came from Lindsay. Along with the hasband, one daughter aged thirteen and a son aged elever's survive to mourn their loss. The funeral, whilef will be of a private nature, will take place on Friday. The body will be taken to Lindsay for interment. Mr. Wright has the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

The Late Samuel Starley Peck.
We take the following obituary notice from the Petaluma (Cal.) Daily Courier, Nov. 16th, feeling that it will interest many of our older citiwill interest many of our other consumers.

Samuel Stanley Peck, one of the best known and highly extermed residents of this vienity, passed into eternal rest at four o'clock this morning at the family residence here. The end came so peacefully, so quistly, that those who watched knew not when the great translation came. The once brilliant man was, without a sigh, walted into eternity—his life's work over, and the politician and scholar was called to that partiament on high, toward which his failing footsteps have long since turned.

Samuel Stanley Peck was boor in Ameliasburgh township, Prace Edward Co., Province of Ontario, Canada, November 20th, 1820, and on Wednesday next would have been 72 years of age. He was cluented at the common schools and lived at Minden in the County of Halburton, Ont., for twenty years, and catried on farming spending part of the time there and part at his home in Canada. In the spring of 1855 he settled at Casil wood Hamila county.

Mr. Peck was Supendary Magisfrate of the County of Halburton, and Registrar of Deeds of the same county for seven years, also County for seven years, and served four years in the Provincial parliament of Ontario. After moving to South Bacota Mr. Peck was given and as a delegate to the founders of the Petaliuma Ponitry Keepers' Protective Association and its President for years, until ill health caused his resignation. For the some reason he ceased to affiliate with the Massons and Grangers. He became one of the first organizers of the Petalium Ponitry Keepers' Protective Association and its President for years, until ill health caused his resignation. Ald. Sinclair—"The more good roads and walks put down, the more repairing will be needed."

Mr. Lytle—"Mr. Sinclair, do you think it has cost as much yourly to maintain Kent-st. as it did formerly?"

Chalmers had cost, including water gulleys and kerbs, only 52c. per square foot

Ald. Jackson next read a list of streets which it would be desirable to improve. The distances made a total of less than three miles, and the work would cost about $10,000 oncording to the Provincial Commissioner's estimate at 35,506 per mile. Of course there were other streets to be added to the list.

Ald Sinclair—"If you ask for money to be spent only on streets where there is a sewer the by-law will never pass."

Mr. Flavells—"I wouldn't advise you to ask for more than $20,000 at first—when the people see that the morey has been well expended, and realize the great improvement cifected, they will be willing to grant more money to complete the good work."

Ald. Sinclair—"Who will do the work?"

Mr. Graham thought the Council should first arrive at a definite conclusion relative to the streets or portions of streets on which the money—if voted—would be expend-

Ald. Jackson—"If we are to have five responsible Commissioners I feel like leaving the choice to them."

Mr. Flavelle—"If take the same view of the matter, and thick it would be a mistake to the the Commissioners' hands."

Mr. Frahkum—"People will ask where the money, is to be spent."

Mr. Dytle thought it would be well to name the streets, the more they took the people into their confidence the better.

Ald. Shelair proposed that, instead of raising money on debentares, the assessment be raised sufficient to provide $3,000 or $4,000 a year additional for good roads, but the suggestion was not viewed with favor.

Auditor Eagleson said the annual charge for sinking fund and interest on a loan of $20,000, repayable in 20 years, would be $1,460, which would raise the uncontrollable expenditure to 25 1-4 mills.

Mr. Grahkum—"What machinery do you need?"

Ald. Jackson—"A steam roller costing $3,200 would be $1,460, which would reave $16,000 for the work."

Ald. Robson—"Let us be specific required—soy a total of st, own work."

Ald. Robson—"Let us be specific and name the streets."

Mr. Kennedy—"If you have sufficient confidence in five men to allow the proper streets."

It was then moved by Mr. R. Kennedy, seconded by Mr. B. M. Baker, that a by-law bo submitted to the ratepayers at the approaching January election to raise $20,000 for street improvements and necessary sary machinery therefor.—Carried.

The Clerk was instructed to notify Solicitor Hopkins to draft the by-law and present it at Monday night's Council meeting.

Council committees the fire hall tenders were opened and considered. The offers were as follows:

Jas. Growden, brickwork, scaffolding, mortar, etc., $860, pointing of stone work and material, $45.

In reply to a question Commissioner Chalmers said the foundation of the building, including joists, etc., had cost $485. The tenders exceeded his estimate by a considerable amount, and would raise the cost of the building to $5.375.

Aid. Sinciair wanted to know if the Council proposed to engage an architect to superintend the construction of the building, or if they proposed to allow the Town Commissioner to direct affairs—if the latten he intended to object. He was paying a share of the cost, and could tell them that one of the walls had beiged out about three inches and was not pafe to build upon. He would have the wall examined by a practical builder.

A FEW INTERESTING FACTS

Kawartha Lakes Trade.

As an indication of the development of the Balsam Lake end of the Kawartha Lakes, the report of Mr. William McIntosh, lockmaster at Rosedale, is most encouraging. The number of lockages were; Steamery 559, small boats 67, scows 29, and raits 237, making a total of 892, as against 526 in 1991. The total number of passengers this year was 2500. This is nearly three-quarters of an increase, a very gratifying result. It is quite on the cards for this year's figures to be doubled next season.

this year's figures to be doubted next season.

At Buckhorn the lockmaster is as mad as a wel hen with the increase of traffic. For years his cluef occupation was telling bear yarns to canocists who at rare intervals came along to be portaged over. Now he is kept so busy with the pesky locks that he has no time to do a bit of fishing, or shooting, or gardening, or even to help Tom Eastwood to ran the village.

At the Lukefield end, Mr. P. P. Young, of Young's Point lock, reports the biggest season's work on record and a large increase of passengers.

Lost a Valuable Horse

Lost a Valuable Horse.

Mr. Frank Curtin, of the brickyard, lost a cool $100 on Wednesday by the death of one of his pair of fine bay horses. The animals were encaged hauling brick to the new fire hall, and while on the way in with the first 1000 the horse stumbled and fell when opposite Riverside cemetery, and on examination it was found that the stifle bone of the left hind leg had been fractured. The injury was one beyond the skill of a veterinary, and the poor beast was put out of his misery as quickly as possible.

Pretoria, Nov. 29.—A commission, which Sir Richard Solomon, K., is chairman, has been appointed C., is chairman, has been appointed to investigate the working of the gold law and suggest amendments. Chief Farmer Wilson of Washington Bas a Complaint to Make.

Washington, Nov. 27 .- At a Cabiwashington, Nov. 27.—At a Cabinat meeting yesterday Secretary Wilson talked to the Cabinet for a short time about what he regarded as the failure of the Canadians to keep an agreement made with the United States as to the bringing of cattle to Canada and this country from Great Britain, Scotland and Ireland.

from Great Britain, Scotland and Ireland.
This agreement, made a number of years ago, provided that an American and a Canadian inspector of cattle should be kept in Great Britain to inspect cattle coming to Canada, destined either for Canada or the United Stices. This was to guard against getting disease into this country.

The information Secretary Wilson has, is that the Canadians have withdrawn their inspector and permit the inspection to be made by a citizen of Great Britain, who may be competent in his knowledge of cattle, but does not have the same interest that a Canadian would have in the examination of cattle.

There are still 70 recognized commandoes and bands in the field, the number of men in each ranging from 50 to 400. Twenty-six of these forces are in the Transvaal, 34 in the Orange River Colony, and 133 in Cape Colony.

Scouts all over the country inform the burghers of the movements of the British columns, and the Boers are generally able to move off before the British troops reach them. The separate commandoes in the Southeast Transvaal are near enough together to concentrate at 24 hours' notice and to equal in numbers the British columns.

The only course open to the British, says the correspondent, is to "hustle" the Boers, and gradually extend the cleared areas. The work is slow, but it is sure, and there is no justification for the impatience shown at home in regard to the progress of the campaign.

The correspondent urges the need of more men. He says that at present the "striking arm" of the British forces numbers 45,000.

FAVOR OF BORBOWING MONEY ON DEBENTURES

So That the Present Generation May That the Fresent denies and ham grown being the Benefit of the First-Class Streets—Ald. Jackson Says the Plan Would Result in a Yearly Saving—The Town is Suffering an Annual Loss Owing to its Growing Reputation for Mud.

Some 30 members of the Board of Trade and a minority of the Town Council came together last Tuesday in the Council chamber to discuss the good roads resolution recently introduced in Council by Aldermen

Mr. D. J. Flavelle, chairman of the Eoard briefly explained that the Council had solicited the co-operatlow of the Board is arriving at decision as to the advisability of framing a by-law to be submitted at the January election for the raising of money for the improve-ment of town roads and walks, and he invited expressions of opinion on ment. It was very important to have good roads, but the question of taxation should be kept in mind also.

Chairman Fluvelle said that when the good roads system was discursted in 1890 he was a very strong advocate of it. He agreed with Md. Jockson in believing that it would save money, notwithstanding. Aid Sinclair's contrary view. As for Mr. Lytie's fear, it was plain that the more we expend in permanent work on the streets the smaller would be the amount needed for temporary repairs. He thought a majority of the citizens did not properly appreciate the value to the community of good roads. Take the hill leading to his mill—he was confident that the improvement of that little strip was worth at least $100 a year to his lirm; his drivers were able to take much heavier loads than formerly and there was also a saving on the wear and tear of his vehicles. If we could put down 20 or 30 miles of $2.800 or $3,000 a year there was no question but that it would pay the town better, than to expend $5,000 or more a year forever in path work. There was no force in the perpetual ery about high taxation—he was a believer in high taxes provided we get value for our money He could see no good reason for deforing the scheme as suggested by Mr. Hopkins; a few years ago any man brave enough to predict the present demand for sewers and granolithic walks would have been pronounced cray, and he believed the time was at hand when citizens who had not a good readway would be undorsed by the ratepayers if the facts were laid clearly before them.

Mayor ingle—"Kent.st. is in sore need of repairs, but we want a steam roller to do the werk properly."

Chairman Flavelle—"That is true; anyone that has seen the steam roller to do the werk properly."

Chairman Flavelle—"That is true; anyone that has seen the steam roller to do the work on Peterboro streets would have no mee for a horse roller."

Kennedy said he was in favor of the proposal to borrew Ald. Jackson, the first speaker. He said that white he had not thought out any particular scheme the matter of better rouds had been on his mind for years, and he felt convinced that to borrow money was the only way to get good streets. If we go on expending $5,000 or over every year on streets and walks, half of which will be for small repairs, the outlook is blue. Something had been last year and this along the line of permanent roadways, and the two sections built had cost $2,800. At that rate of progress it would be years before any appreciable improvement could be effected. If the leading citizens present deemed it novisually citizens present contident that a saving would be effected. He had not fixed upon any sum as being necessary, but had mentioned $30,-600 by way of argument. That som borrowed for 20 years at 4 pc would call for a yearly payment for sinking fund and interest of $2,200, but it was questionable if we should not go farther; some years ago, when the sume question was before the ratepayers of Linusay, the Town of Windsor had submitted a by-law to raise $200,000. Even if we made the amount $40,000, the annual cost would enjoy be suffered by the would be only $2,500. It was a simple matter of saving. If the town adopted a general system of road and walk improvement the yeope on the outskirts, who now get little benefit would enjoy their share of the expenditure. Sidewalk patching alone this year had called for 1000 feet of plank per week. Ald, O'Rielly had proposed to submit a by-law' to raise money for the purchase of a steam roller, etc., but even if they had the machinery there was very little money to keep them going. It would be wise, perhaps, to plane the money in the hands of Commissioners, as proposed some years ago; it would be all right to leave the expenditure with the Council if that body were elected as are short trusted, was absent. He hoped and believed the law, would be chaiged in the near future, but we have to be governed by present conditions. He was satisfied that it would be in the own's appearance. If that plan were not adopted there could be no money set aside for good roads out of the ordinary revenue for some years, as the town walks would call for every available cent.

Mr Barr—'Have y

roads and they will be keen for the estreets."

Mr. Kylie said the scheme was a good one, and approved of the work being entrusted to Commissioners. The amount suggested should be doubled so that all the leading and residential streets could be improved within a few years. The town will never get good roads in any other way, but Ald. Jackson should have figured on a considerable expenditure yearly to keep the good nodes in repair.

Ald. Sinciair—"Don't you think it would take as much as we are now expending?"

not received countries to the countries of the money expended by this year's Council."

Mr. G. H. Hopkins said ho was in favor of improving our town now, rather than leave the task to our children or grandchildren. Whoever had broached the subject deserved credit for ability to look ahead; no business could succeas unless the managers planned for the future He approved of the expenditure being governed by Commissioners, but not because he distrusted the altermen; now and then a member may do a little log-rolling, but it this main they acted honestly and labored earnestly for the town's best interests. Those who started the work of street improvement should carry it forward to completion, and as the Council changed yearly Commissioners would be preferable. Like Ald. Sinclair, he felt that the people would ask a lot of questions and all porsible information on the subject should be prepared. He didn't think there was any possibility of the bylaw carrying in January, but it was not to early to begin work for next year. A scheme must be prepared. Mr. McWilliams—"t think it would.

other information may to be sought by the ratepayers. Everything must be as clear as according.

Mr. Hopkins suggested that, as the total amount required could not be spent in one year. If might be well to ask for $20,000 at first, and when that had been expended the people could vote whatever sum was needed to complete the system.

Ald, Sincluir—"It's all right, gentlemen, but it will only be a wasto of time."

Chuirman Flavelle—"You think the people would go on paying $5,000 a year, and got no solid return, rather than pay $2,800 or $3,000 and have first-class streets. I have too high an opinion of the good sense of the people to believe that."

It was then moved by Mr. R. Kennedy, seconded by Mr. F. C. Taylor, that a committen composed of Fresident Flavelle. Vice-President H. J. Lythe, R. Kylle, G. H. M. Baker, Thos. Brady and Jas. Granham be appointed to act in conjunction with the Town Connell. and to aselst in devising and framing a scheme for good roade.—Carried.

It was decided that the committee should report to Connell at the next meeting. The meeting then adjourned. McWilliams—"I think it would irisable to got all the sewers before we begin to make per-nt roads." town before we begin to make peranent roads."

Mr. Hopkins—'I am giad that matter was mantioned. I dre't think for could get three sensible men in own who would be willing to spend unney on any street until a sewrad been put down, but many streets

Ald. Jackson—'People are becomng educated; the rate at which sewrisk have been petitioned for mas surrisked everyone. The people served

A Forecast of the New Presi dent's Document to Congress

THE LATE PRESIDENT M'KIN'LEY

A ter the Reading of President Consevelt

First Message on Tuesday a Committee Will Be Appointed by Both ing Action Re. Death of the Late President.

Washington, Dec. 2.—One of the first measures of national interest which will be introduced in the Senate at the session which begins to-day will be a resolution looking to public action concerning the death of President McKinley. This will be presented on Tuesday by either Senator Foraker or Senator Hanna, probably the former, and after its introduction the Senate will adjourn immediately as a mark of respect to the memory of the dead President. The annual message of President Roosevelt will not be received until Tuesday, and on this account the session to-day will be recedingly brief. It is not expected that anything will be done beyond the announcement of the death of Senator Kyle, following which the Senate, in accord with custom, will adjourn for the day.

Death of Jickhiley.

On Tuesday the President's mes-Washington, Dec. 2 .- One of would take as much as spending?"

Mr. Barr..."No, no."

Mr. Kyile...."The present sections of good roads are not being attende! to nad ruts are forming."

Mr. H. J. Lytle said the important thing was to ascertain as nearly as possible how much it would cost to keep the streets not permanently improved in repair, and the other expenditure outside of the annual payment. It was very important to have good roads, but the question should be kept in mind

On Tuesday the President's sage will be read, and, after reading, the announcement of death of President McKinley follow at once, whereupon, the precedent established when sidents Lincoln and Garaeld sidents Lincoln and Garlierd died, resolutions providing for the appointment of a committee to act with a similar committee of the House of Representatives to take appropriate action relative to the matter, and then calling for immediate adjournment for the day will be adopted. Heretofore committees have been appointed to agrange the diate adjournment for the day will be adopted. Heretofore committees have been appointed to arrange the details of public exercises, and it is understood that plan will be pursued in this instance, and that later in the session some public one of distinction will be invited to deliver an eulogy in the Captol.

Recoverity First Message.

licocovelite First Message.

Here are some of the most interesting points in the forthcoming message of President Roosevelt:

Anarchy—A vigorous plea to Congress to pass laws that will meet this great and growing danger.

Trusts—The President is in favor of greater publicity. Overcapitālization, dishonest representations and disregard to the common law are condemned, and the President denounces many, of the methods used by Promoters of trusts. It is, a warning of stringent laws to come

Mayor Ingle—"Kent-st. is in sorneed of repairs, but we want a steam roller to do the work property."

Anyone that has seen the steam rollfor at work on Peterboro streets would have no use for a horse rollfor."

Mr. R. Kennedy said he was in favor of the proposal to borrew money for the streets. For years he had been somewhat dissatisfied with the Council because they seemcel to be afraid to ask for enough money to do what was needed.
There was no sense in the continuary about the poor man's taxes.
The people had grown prosperous in the last few years; not long ago good men could be had for $1 per fay, and many were glad to get a job splitting wood at 5dc. per day,
To-day things are vastly different.
The small taxpayer pays an average of $0 or $7, and the borrowing of a large sum would only increase his taxes $50. or so, while he would get a big return in work. Ha beleved in having good roads nownot after the voters of to-day indbeen laid away in the cemetery.
Mr. Hopkins thought the inclusion of sidewalks would complicate the scheme, on account of the walks alroady built, but if it was decided to spend some of the money in that way then the proportion to be paid by the town should be fixed before submitting the by-law.
Mr. C. H. M. Baken halled the proposal to borrow mone

Death Blow to Lib role

Colon, Dec. 2.—The recapture of Colon is admitted to be almost a death blow to the Liberal cause in this department. There is no doubt this department. There is no doubt that guerilla warfare will be resumed in the mountains, but stronger forces and better organization are considered essential requisites for the Liberals if they intend to resume the struggle seriously. Both Panama and Colon are quiet.

Gen. Haiten Appointed.

London, Nov. 29.—Gen. E. T. H. Jiutton, who commanded the first brigade of mounted infentry in South Africa, has been appointed Commander-in-Chief of the forces of the Australian Commonwealth.

Gen. Hutton was born in 1848, and he is an aide-de-camp to the King. He has served in the Zulu war, the Boer war and the Egyptian war. He commanded the military forces of New South Wales from 1893 to 1896, was president of the military conferences in Australia in 1896, was Assistant Adjutant-General for Ireland from 1898 to 1898, and was General in command of the Dominion militia from 1898 to 1900.

London, Nov. 29.—The Berlin correspondent of The Times says the full military honors paid to the body of Count Von Hatzleldt-Wildenburg, German Ambassador at the Court of St. James, when it, was conveyed from the London Embassy to the railway station, have made the best kind of impression in Germany. It is recognized that the Ambassador was held in high esteem by the British court and public, but it is also felt that British sympathy is largely intended for Emperor William and for Germany.

Blessed Irish Everywhere.

Ronte, Dec. 2.—The Pope, at a special audience granted to Dr. William Murphy, the rector of the Irish College, and a deputation of students, extolled the fidelity of Catholic Ireland and of Irishmen all over the world to the Holy Sec. The Pontiff closed the audience by bestowing the apostolic benediction on all Irishmen in the Old Country and in the New World.

General Buller was cheered tremendously at the Devonian dinner Saturday night, and his admirers assured him of their unstinted admiration

It is doubtful if London has ever seen a more hearty or more unequivocal response to the toast of the King.

London, Dec. 2.—A despatch from Pretoria says that the Boers, on the night of Nov. 26, made a general attempt to break the blockhouse cordon along the railway west of Middleburg, but were repulsed with, it is thought, considerable loss. An armored train turned back the main body of 200 of the enemy, and the garrisons of the blockhouses checked the attacking party at other points.

The Proud Position of the Banner Province.

The Development and Prosperity Attained Under Liberal Adminstration Made Plain - Ontario's Phenomensi Position with Regard to Debt-Great butchens Removed from the Municipalities—A Statement of Previncial Affairs that May be Read with Profit.

Below we give almost the full text of an able address delivered by Mon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, at a meeting held a couple of weeks ago in East Peterboro in the interest of Mr. Wm. Anderson who was nominated to contest the riding in the reform interest on the resignation of Mr. Blezard, who has represented the riding for the past quarter of a century.

Mr. Stratton, in opening, referred to the opposition cry that Mr. Ble-mard had been turned down by his party as one too ridiculous for serious attention, as were many of the charges made by tory speakers and newspapers; But this charge, which had been repeated and made use of at Havelock by Mr. Whitney and Mr. Ford, contained as much truth, and no more, than the charges made against the Ontario government on that occasion by those gentlemen. These, however, were not the mat-

These, however, were not the mat-ters that they were there that even-ing to discuss. They were of minor importance to the questions which are and will be really at issue in the coming contest—questions that de-served the careful and dispussionate consideration of the electors for on Public Response to These Questions the future government the future progress and interests of this great covince would depend. But it was mier Ross and his government were velopment which they had set them-selves to work out in the interests of the country—to give an administration and apply a policy that would still further advance this pro-vince, and emphasize more strongly the position she now occupies as the most advanced and best governed and best administered province or state in the world. (Applause) And he believed the government was stronger to-day in progressive pol-ley and in the estimation of the people. Mr. Whitney at Havelook, said the government should be turned out and would be—"they could not stem the tide". The government did not need to skew the tide they only not need to stem the tide, they only needed to sail with the tide of public opinion, which was so strongly in their favor. Since Hon. Mr. Ross ook office there had been some halfacclamation or by large or in cased majorities, something that d not look as if they were struggl-g against an adverse fide. One of most important matters to couerals, after thirty years of gov-ment, had left us a satisfactory arcial standing. Mr. Whitney ted at Havelook that 'ones the inces were placed in proper con-t on they (the Conservative party) pild be able to deal with the deveiplaent of the material resources of the educational policy as they hold be dealt with. The Financial Condition the province?" Mr. Whitney said

I Havelook that the government id "departed from the wholesome allo of the late Sandfield Macdonald to keep the expenditures within the revenue." The surplus that Sand field Macdonald left on retiring from power had been so often dealt with that is seemed a waste of time to orther refer to it. But, Mr. Strat-ou, said he was neven unwilling to iscuss this matter, because the more was done the more it rebounded True, it had been spent, but now? As a matter of fact, Sandfield Mac-uonald left no surplus, that is, if our deducted from it the obligations which were left his successors to which were left his successors to meet. They had practically pledged the whole of the surplus, $8.800,000, and more to the work of public improvement a the people's interest. That had been expended, and many millions more, in services of public utility, and neither Mr. Whitney nor any of his followers could point to a single expenditure in connection with this surplus, or other provincial funds, that had not been well made. One of the first acts of Sir Oliver Mowat where he came into power was to devote three and a hair millions to the settlement Continued on page 5

If danger is to descend upon him it will probably be at such a time, but there is really no way to avoid the disagreeable task.

Music greets his ear. Beyond a wall comes the seranade song of some dark-eyed senorita enjoying the cool air of the evoning in the midst of her friends, perhaps with a stalwart and gallant lover scated at her side. Over the word, A gipsy bolero, as the fandango is called at times, is getting under way, and although matters are tame enough at this early stage, Jack shudders as he remembers the wild orgy upon which be gazed while in the company of Don Carlos on the previous evening.

Passing on he enters among a more animated soene, and finally is filled with foy to actually discover an alquezil, to whom he puts a question and hends a piece of silver, whereupon the guardian of the peace tells him in Spanish that if he enters the first calle on the right, and follows it pertinactually, he will at length reach the point he is struggling for.

So once more Doctor Jack strides on, covering the ground much after the style of a prize pedestrian on a spurt. Slow going Spaniards look after him in wonder, and shrug their shoulders as they mutter something about the issue of their wonderful city.

Jack has already found it warm work, and removing the light overceat, carries it upon his left arm. Later on he has cause to rejoice that it not hanging from the other, or, worsas still, on his back.

sd to the courage of a lion and the shrewdness of a fox.

At the same time Jack is muttering little anathemas concerning the povorty stricken nature of the metropolis that cannot afford to light all her streets, while he gathers heick over see streets, while he gathers himself up after nearly breaking his valuable neck over some obstacle which in New York he would have believed must be an ash lox.

Gradually, however, he grows into so better frame of mind. His eyes are becoming more accustomed to the gioorn, and he can see—to a limited extent, it is true, but enough to avoid any further collisions, for which small favour he is correspondingly thankful.

All goes as merry as a marriage bell now, and when he reaches a light that exist he biachness of the calle. Fraction of the calle. Fraction of the calle.

This is encouraging—if it does not change he will be aimost on time.

This is encouraging—if it does not change he will be aimost on time.

He takes out his handkerchief, and wipes his face, for such rapid walking has heated his blood. Then he again breaks away, and moves rapidly along. Before twenty seconds have passed he makes a discovery that hardly pleases him. By chance he turns his head to learn what distance he has put between himself and the area of light from the shop window, when he sees several dark figures stealing after him.

is a dernier rozort, for it is an easy it thing to get mixed up in a scrape with the authorities in a Continental city, and the burden of sympathy is always against the foreigner, who is looked up on as a crow, to be universally plucked by inn-keeper and footpad alike, so long as his money is kept in the country.

There are two things Jack can de under this streess of circumstances, and, after all, it is but a choice of cvilse—he may start on a run down the street, with these fellows after him, or else continue his rapid walk, and meet their attack when it comes.

The first of these he is averase to doing under any and all circumstances, for he looks upon such rascals as vermin; hence, he concludes to go right along and meet danger as it files.

At any morasti the assault may come, and he places his revolver in his left hand, where it is hidden by the folds of the cost he carries, and yet ready for isstantancous use.

Instead of the calle growing lighter, he now reaches what appears to be the worst part of it. At this hour the city is not wrapped in silence by any means, but over this place, perhaps the abode of vice and sin, the gloom of a church-yard seems to rest, as though its inhabitants had temporarily forsaken it for more profitable fields of labour—the lighted squares, where coses glitter and money abounds.

Footateps sound behind him. Doctor Jack realizer that his enemies have crept closer, and are about ready to spring upon him. The prospect of a stiffetto in the back is not a very alluring one to this man of the world, who in times past has always made it an object to keep his face toward the enemy, be it lion, panther, jacksi, or mad buil in the areas.

Consequently he believes the time has come to turn, and, wheeling half around in the way he faced the furlous mob in the streets of Barcelona at the time his treacherous guide, Francisco Marti, betrayed him.

The movement must have been inspired by his good angel, for it saves his life. Just as he turns, something

CHAPTER VIII.

While he sits there waiting, Doctor Jack revolves a number of things in his mind. He goes back to the minute when he first set eyes on Avis Morton, and in a general way remembers the conversation that ensued. Somehow or other he has a queer feeling at the prospect of seeing this girl again—he had never supposed Jack Evans would ever experience the pangs of love, but it is ever so. Tremendous difficulties have been surmounted in his endeavour to keep the appointment on time, and the manner in which he has brushed these aside show the kind of a man he is. Jack does not dare analyze his feelings toward Miss Morton. This come upon him with the suddie, Sish of an avalanche. He calls himself a fool, but that does not mend matters a particle. "Just as I always predicted. I said that if I ever did fall in love it would be like tumbling over a precipice head first," he mutters, with something of a woe-begone face, as though for once his from will proves of little avail.

Accordingly that terrible right arm of his, so admired by the observing Don Carlos, shoots forward observing Don Carlos, shoots forward with uncering impetus. The conviction has aroused a great deal of sympathy for the Mayor, there being a strong suspicion that the incident would never have been heard of but for the fact that the Chief of Police had been censured by His Worship for neglect of duty. Six thousand names have been since to a petition to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council asking for the removal of the disqualification, and if the decision is favorable Mr. Moris will again run for Mayor. The lesson should not be lost on our local candidates for municipal honors

A Pointer for Lindsay

The Freeholder is agitating for a change in the water pumping system at Cornwall from water to electricity. An estimate has been made which places the cost of installing a new pump and the necessary electric machinery in tha present pump house building at about $7,500, and rate for power at $1,250 anually. At present the coal bill for the waterworks is about $3,000 per annum, and two men are required to attend to the plant. The change would effect a saving, according to The Freeholder's figures, of about $2,000 a year. The Freeholder is agitating for a

She wore a white veil and carried a white ivory prayer book. The maid of honor little Miss Dona Sharp, wore a pretty gown of white mull and valencleanes have and carried a boquet of pink carnations.......The bride was born and spent most of her happy school days in Lindsay, and the groom is a son of Mr. M. The Peterboro Examiner, in discussing the proposed furchase of the Waterworks system by the town approves of placing the plant in the hards of Commissioners. It says:
Of course this, and much clear, will depend upon the character of the management of the works should they come into possession of the town. Under purely municipal management, that is, by a committee of the Council, there is not much probability that the results will be battleful to round the product of the works will be under a board of commissioners, comparatively independent, and consisting of some of the Council, there is not much probability that the results will be be attisfactory, or anything as good as they would be under a board of commissioners, comparatively independent, and consisting of some of the council, there is not influence of the council the form of the council the form of the council that the results will be commissioners, comparatively independent of direct influences connected with a disk to gain local preedige with the electors, while a commission, being more permanent is character, and more independent of direct influence, would be in a position to consider quite exclusively the intorests of the town.

the Eugene Page Concert Company found that they could not send that company to Lindsay at the time the Committee were expecting them, but supplied Rev. J. C. Speer, of Toronto, to lecture un "Sengs and Singers." To address an audience who had assembled to listen to a string quartette was by mo means are easy task, but the close attention which the lecturer received and the frequent applause which greeted his address, was sufficient evidence that the disappointment which may have been feit at first had largely. If not wholly, eased to exist.

Rev. J. C. Speer is a "present pastor of Euclid-ave. He divided his lecture into the effect which songs have upon three zones in life—1st the home. Ind the mation, 3rd the clurch. The farreaching effect of songs upon all classes of people, was told in a manner that could not but impress his hearers with the Importance of music in all departments of life.

The Y.M.C.A. Concert Committee, through the Secretary, Mr. J. B. Walker, announced that subscribers would received the six entertainments for $1.00; that those who had hought a regular gallery or chief tekel at 25c. would be admitted to the gallery for Page Concert upon showing the ticket given them by the usher, would then receive a taket placing them hupon the same footing for the Fage Concert upon showing the ticket would be good for 25c. If returned to the box office.

The committee spared an pains to albay any feeling that the change in the program might fluve preduced and will be only too pleased to refund the price of aminission who may think they did not receive value for their money and will state their case case to the committee.

Arrangements for Transporting

the New Contingent. SPECIAL TRAINS TO BE PROVIDED

400 Additional Horses Will Be Sent Change of a Transport-List of Officers Expected to Be Bendy for Publication on Tuesday.

Ottawa, Dec. 9.—A special train, conveying the men enrolled in the Canadian Mounted Rifles for service in South Africa, will leave Victoria, B.C. on Dec. 10 and Vancouver on Dec. 11, and proceeding eastward, will pick up all those enlisted in the territories and Manitoba.

The men enrolled in Ontario will mobilize in Montreal on the 13th.

A special train conveying them will leave London in the afternoon and Toronto on the night of Thursday, the 12th. The Ottawa recruits will leave for Montreal on Friday morn-ing.

There will be no increase in the number of men to compose the contingent under Col. Evans. Six hundred is to be the full complement enrolled. It has been decided, however, to send nearly 400 additional horses. The transport Victorian will carry 472 herses, and 520 will be sent by the Manhattan, making 992 in all. The men will be divided equally between the two steamers. It is not expected that the list of officers will be available for publication before Tuesday, as the names were only cabled for approval to the War Office after the meeting of Council on Saturday afternoon.

Toronto, Dec. 9. — Col. Evans, C. B., who will command the third Canadian contingent in South Africa, was in this city over Sunday. He returned to Ottawa last night. The Colonel stated last night that the men would proceed to Halifax, under the commant of Major Merritt on the 12th, and the Northwest men would likely pass through Ottawa for the east about the 18th. Col. Evans will have charge of these men.

through Ottawa for the east about the 18th. Col. Evans will have charge of these men.

The troopship Victorian has been substituted for the Ranee. She is guite as big as the Manhattan, being capable of carrying 450 men and 500 horses. It is the present intention, however, to divide the force into two equal battalions, one going by the Manhattan in command of Col. Evans, the other by the Victorian in command of Major Merritt. The whole will combine at Cape Town The extra horse accommodation on the ships will be taken up with remounts for the conlingent.

ous legations. The argument he have presented in favor of the evocuation of the native city of Tien Tsin. by the troops under the provisional government is a very strong one.

Yuan Shin Kal made a more favorable impression here than any other Chinaman since the siege of the legations. Several foreign Ministers, including Mr. Conger, the American representative, are in favor of the evacuation of Tien Tsin. The final decision is in the hands of the military commanders, several of whom recently declared that it would not be safe to relinquish control of the city to the Chinese. It is believed now that a meeting of the Ministers and commanders will be held to consider the matter. It is recognized that Yuan Shih Kai is a capable man who can keep the peace, which he promises to do it the city is evacuated. The strange thing about Yuan Shih Kai is that, although he is one of the foremost mon in China, and a pro-foreigner, he is a protage of Yung Lu, the adviser of the Empress Bowager and the highest officer in China, who is not oriously an anti-foreigner.

The Hague, Dec. 9.—The confiscation of the Dutch Red Cross outfit outside of Pretoria, and the imprisonment of the staff on the Island of Ceylon, was again the subject of heated comment in the Chambor here Saturday, the members denouncing the action of the British as being contrary to the Geneva Convention. The Foreign Minister, Melvil van Lyndon, explained that the Geneva Convention was only applicable to the ambulances of belligerents, but even their staffs could be made prisoners if they violated neutrality. The even their staffs could be made pris-oners if they violated neutrality. The Government, he added, had fre-quently domanded that the Nether-landers be released on parole, but Great Br tain is not obliged to re-lease them until after the close of the war.

The war has proved two things:

Mr. Whitney knew that he talked very largely for effect.
The Timber Question and Policy.
The Opposition insistently and, as the facts existed, unreasonably, complained of the management of the trown domain by, the Laberal Government. The provinces, Mr. Strutton said, had received from Woods and Forests twenty-six or twentyseven millious of dollars, and the province had expended upon public buildings and the maintenance of anfortunates in our asylums a sunequal to, or rather a little larger, than the revenue from foresis. It was a continual cry that the timber resources of the country were not judiciously handled. Before consulcring that question, it might be pertiuent to inquire if the Conservative purty would do any better. Indeed, judging by the past, they would do much worse. When the Conservatives were trying, but prevented by Sir Oliver Mowhet, to give away to Quebe and Manitoba 100,000 square miles of territory belonging to Ontraito to get a little farke off becalled sold—to the faithful of the dealing with agricultural lands. Scientillo resourch had demonstrated the necossity of keeping a certain proportion of the land poremaently in timber in order, to prounde equable rainfall and to thus preserve climatic conditions favorable to agriculture. Great advances had been made of into years in the science of forestry as applicable to the sconomic conditions prevailing on this continent. But it took some time to popularize the idea. Those who had been accustomed to regard the forest as an enemy to be overcome and the timber supply as practicality without an end, were slow to realize the need of forest preservation. The fact that the region immediately to the north of the settled area was not only comparatively infertile, but was also the source of many streams and rivers posted to the settled area was not only comparatively infertile, but was also the source of many streams and rivers ported to the establity of maintaining large portions of it as Permanent Forest Reserves.

As a result of investigations of the Forestry Bureau, acting in co-operation with practical lumberace, forcest reserves had been established. It was altogether a new departure. The government had not proceeded rashly or hastily. They had advanced step by step, with due regard to all interests concerned, whether of the public, the settler, or the inaberman. They had begun in 1898 by settling aside Algonquan Park, comprising 1,100,000 acres subsequently set aside in the Counties of Addington and Frontenac; then an area of 46,000 acres near Port Arthur, and last year the pine bearing region around Lake Temagami, covering 1,400,600 acres near Port Arthur, and last year the pine bearing region around Lake Temagami, covering 1,500 and its under the authority given to the government by the Forest Reserves Act of 1898. and its subsequent extension had greatly lessened the danger of toes from fire. The confidence and cooperation of the lumbermen had been secured. They were induced to see that, with proper precautions against forest fires, their interests were best served, not by wholesale and indiscriminate cutting, but by taking out the larger timber and letting the younger trees attain maturity. The opposition had had no share in shaping the policy of the government on this question. They had done nothing but shrick hystorically "Woodman, spare that tree," when ever the government ledd a timber sale. There would be about as much sense in crying "Parmor, spare that wheat." when harvest time came. The Principle of Economic Forestry, was that every tree should be cut as soon as it had attained maturity, and that another should replace it. The opposition had shown no intelligent grapp of the situation. On April 4, 1894, they introduced a resolution to strike out the appropriation for salary and disbursements of the Clerk of Forestry, on the ground that the office should be discontinued. On April 10th, 1895, they again opposed the vote, but on a totally different ground. Mr. Howland moved that it should be struck out.—"the same being landequate for any useful purpose to that behalf." Mosers Whitney and Miscampbell, who the year before had voted for the abolition of the office as being unnecessary, stutified themselves by also supporting the latter motion, which admitted the utility of the office and declared the expenditure insufficient.

ONTARIO FIRST.

The claim, which in the light of the facts, he would present, was rothing less than impudent, had been frequently made by the opposition leaders that the policy of requiring all lumber to be manifactured in Canada, originated with them, and that the government in inserting a clause to this effect in timber licenses in accordance with the cores of the government had been inconsistent and, fluctuating. They had charged furthermore that the cores of the government had been inconsistent and, fluctuating. The government policy had been regulated by the requirements of the situation, which had waried from time to time, according to our retations with the United States—the country which furnished the chief foreign market for our humber. It was not a question of abstract principle, but pursly one of commercial expediency. The alm of the government had been to do what was best for the interests of Ontario under existing conditions regulating necess to the United States markets. Under the Reciprocity Treaty Canadan lumber was freely admitted to the American market, and everything was satisfactory. In 1866 that treaty was abrogated, and a duty of 20 per cent. ad valorem imposed, an lumber. Canada, in turn, placing an export duty of $1 per 1000 feet B.M. on saw logs. A severer blow was inflicted on the lumber trade in 1872 when the American government imposed a specific daty of $2 per 1000 feet on manufactured lumber, without regard to its quality. The result was to shut out the lower grades which could no longer be profitably exported. The home market for lumbering was increased, wasteful and destractive methods were and couraged and profits seriously reaved.

During a period of many years following, the question was left in the hands of the Dominion government as pertaining to trade and commerce. The lumber trade was only one of many interests affected by hostile American legislation. Efforts were made from time to time to obtain either a renewal of the Reciprocity Trenty or freer trade relations. There was no question then of requiring saw logs to be sawn in Canada as

There was no question then of requiring saw logs to be sawn in Canda as

There was no Exportation of Lugs to the United States. This practice did not develop until 1886, when the export of logs from the north shore of Lake Huron was brought to the notice of the government. Although the shipments were but small, the government took action. By an act passed in that year the export duty was increased to $2 per thousand, and the Governor-in-Council authorized to increase it to $3 if it was deemed expedient. This was done by Order-in-Council in 1886. In view, however, of a probable arrangement with the United States for a reduction of duties on sawo lumber, the export duty on logs was again reducted to $2 on July 5th 1889, followed by its final abolition during the following year. In the five years from 1886 to 1890, the Dominion government dealt with the questions at issue, owing to the general ceatre to obtain better trade raintions with the United States, and under the Dominion as an element in the negotiations.

The Manufacturing Condition

The Manufacturing Condition

Imposed.

At this stage, before any conclusion had been reached, the Ontario government held a finber sale in 1890. As the territory offered for rate included a large area from which shipments could easily be made to the United States, the Ontario government decaining such an harmony with the policy of the Domlinon, and altogether expedient under the then existing conditions, linearied a condition in the terms of sale requiring the logs to be sawn in Canada.

Shortly afterwards the long desired understanding with the United Etates was racched. In reply to a question in the House of Commons, Sir John Macdonald stated that in the event of the United States Congress reducing the import duty on sawn lumber tol $1 per 1000 feet, the Canadian government would remove the export duty on sawn logs. This information was conveyed to the American government. The United States import duty was reduced to $1 and the Domilion government reciprocated by removing the export duty.

An Impracticable Suggestion.

Impracticable Suggestion. An Impracticable Suggestion. So far there had been no agitation for any provincial action. Mr. Morevich and suggested that in ruture sales a condition of manufactural in the country should be inserted—but the agreement reached with the United States essentially changed the sthation. It had secured the prosperity of the lumbering interest. It had enlarged the market for lumber and augmented the provided for the following that the condition of tuture sales would have re-opened the whote question, and incurred the danger of tosing the advantages already secured. The United States would have regarded such action as contrary to the spirit of the understanding arrived at, and a breach of good faith. There would have been an immediate danger of the relimposition of the old duty, or a higher one, which would have paralyzed the lember trade, or brought on a finantial orbis.

These considerations, coupled with the fact that only a small portion of the timber region affected presented opportunities for the slipment of logs to the States amply justified the government in omitting the manufacturing clause in connection with the timber sale hold in 1802.

The reopie Approved.

The question was thoroughly discussed before the electors, and the popular verdict sustained the administration. Shortly, afterwards the popular verdict sustained the administration. Shortly, afterwards the possage of the Wilson Bill through the United States Congress removed the remaining Import duty on lumber, and the Ganadian manufacturer secured free access to the American market. Free lumber removed the incentive to the exportation of saw logs. The lumber trade of Oniario received a great stimulus. Both the coarse and this grades of lumber, were exported production was sheapened, waste lessened and the industry enjoyed, a high degree of prosperity. But with the advent of the Republican party to power, in 1807, came a complete chauge. The Dingley Bill, ambodying a highly protections tarlif, was enacted. The import duty on sayar lumber was placed at $2.00 per 1000 feet, and a clause was added providing that in case an export duty to logs was imposed by Canada, or any other country, an equal amount would be added to the United States import duty on bunber. This drastic act tended directly to encourage the transfer of lumbering manufacturing from Ontarlo to the United States, and the consequent shipment of saw-logs across the bolder. Mercover, the operation of the automate clause, raising the import duty to the extent of the export duty which might be imposed by the Dominion on logs made it impossible for the Dominion on logs imposed by the Dominion on logs made it impossible for the Dominion on logs made it impossible for the Dominion on logs made it impossible for the Dominion on logs impossible for the Dominion on logs made it impossible fo

Good Value for Our Timber.

Not only these, but the government had so managed the sales of our timber that they had secured the best possible value, and therefore, Mr. Stratton said, he wished to give an illustration which might serve as an object lesson respecting the more profitable management of Ontario's timber interests. The total bonuses received by the government of the Province of Quebec from the year, 1843 down to and including 1900 — a period of nearly sixty years—for the whole of the Upper Ottawa district (the very best white pine region in Canada) amounting to 21,520 square miles, was $418,804.98, 1

In contrast compare one sale in the Province of Ontario. In the Onitario Timber Borth sales of 1892, when only 618 square miles were sold, they brought $2,308,475, or an approximation of the prought $2,308,475, or an approximation of the province of the property states and the province of the Good Value for Our Timber.

To widen the contrast, another example might be given. One berth of eleven and three-quarter square miles was sold by the Ontario, government for $205,025, or $11,500 per square mile, a sum nearly a thousand times greater their Quebes got per square mile, or, in other words, at this sale the Ontario government got a sum for 11.3-4 miles nearly half as large as the Quebes government got for an area nearly 2009 greates, or 21,520 square miles of the finest white pine timber in the world.

As an integral part of their Timber policy the Government dealt with our splendid pulpwood recourses, and the same carefulness was exercised, the same carefulness was exercised, the same policy pursued, of preserving them, realizing their value and making them an element in contributing the theorem of the proposition of the Provincial reviewed, in the proposition of the great extent and promoting settlement. Al. Stratton political out that our pulpwood resources were of suggested extent and magnitude that the price now charged by the Government. All cents per cord, there was sufficient pulpwood, 288 million cords, to yield a provincial revenue of millions of dollars to help carry on the administration of provincial rifutes, and to postpone the visit of the Opposition Boyer of three than granted six pulp concessions. These concessions, which had been to billionly opposed and denomened by Mr. Witten and the Opposition gave notly the right to the Indicate the colly the right to the Indicate the settler, or present the government from locating settlers on the area granted for outpulpwood, they gave no right to the Indicate the settler, or present the government from locating settlers on the area granted for outpulpwood, they have been all the rights that setlers had not a part of the province. The working out of trees pulp concessions r ourred, as a condition of the grant, the expenditure of millions of dollars in erectling factories, and required the employment of hundreds of workmen. The supply of the machinery, water wheels, etc., for these concessions, the danger of the supply of the mechanic would have a market for the pulpwood on their lands, and a source of income till their lands were sufficiently cleared to be productive. If these considerations did not justify the Government in granging these concessions, the danger of the estruction by fire of the wood on pulpwood repressed to fire from litteen to which had been cut over with proper care, the process could be repeated and we thus would have a per enue. The policy of the Government was to go forward and to Utilize Our Natural Resources. to the utmost, before they might be swept out of existence by fire, on become lossened in value by a cessistion of the demand for thea in the markets of the world.

Incidential to this, and for promoting expansion and settlement, the Railway Policy of the Government was adopted, and was being applied. Reference was made to the land grants to the Algoma Central and Manitoulin & North Shors Railways. It was pointed out how effective these would be in opening up and developing New Ontaxuo, and helping Old Ontario by placing it in direct trailway communication with the great resources of Northera Ontario. Yet a few months later, when a land grant nore liberal, and amounting to a rester "steal" in Mr. Whitneys, view, than the first land grant, was proposed by the Government, that gentleman choke? down his wrath and approved of the second land grant. If he had acted in the first place on principle, he would have opposed the second grant, for the second on principle, he would have opposed the second grant, for the second on principle, he would have opposed the second grant, for the second on principle, he would have opposed the second grant, for the second on principle, he would be second donbiers influenced by the hope that he could embarrase the government by making t

Tolitical and Business Policies
Contrasted.

The Opposition policy—if it can be dignified by the name, has been vogue, creatic and lil-considered, cambo died in disconnected chaptrap utter ances, without regard, to the changing conditions, special exigencies and broader issues involved. The Opposition sought party advantage, the Government acted throughout with the object of protecting and promoting the interests of the province, as represented by its limber resources and limber industry.

In reviewing the course of the government as to our timber interests, Mr. Stratton pointed out that the Government had exercised the times care in regard to their promotion. Forest Reserves had been adopted to preyent or to reduce to a minimum the loss or danger of loss by forest fires. When the time was ripe the government took action in compelling the home manufacture of lamber from Crown Lands, and the time for action was so others as not to inflict more, injury on the lumbering industry than the injury and the lume for action was so chosen as not to inflict more, injury on the disconnection that the consequence of a consequence of a tritlude was ment and his change of attitude was ment took his first on ment, and his change of attitude was due, in an object on ment, and his change of attitude was ment and his change of attitude was due. His first opposition ment and his change of attitude was due, in a ment and his change of attitude was due. His first opposition was being the first on his first land grand unpount, but he found public opinion or ment work from North Bay or Maltactine work from North Bay or Maltactine, the first and practice. The Government was already and considered the was doubtless influenced by the hope that was high the first land grand unpount, but he found public opinion or ment work from North Bay or Maltactine, the first land grand unpount.

A New D overment was steadily directed to the development of this great heri-tage, for in building up, developing, settling and improving Now Ontar-lo, great resources would contribute to revenue, and in the process, the older portions of the province, would also be advanced and benefitte!

In Conclusion.

In Conclusion.

Mr. Stratton then dealt briefly with several points. Mr. Whitney made a great deal of electoral breege electrical proposed were considered his opponents were concerned. But he had never for one moment condenned the political cortiquion practiced by his own party, and by which he had profited as a leader. No condemention was made by him of the flaggant bribery practised in the Conservative interest in South Ontario, nor of the systematic destruction of ballots in the election of "96 and figures were presented to show that in four ridings alone in that contest, where the Conservative had the appointment of election offic-

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 10.—The most serious in many riots that have taken place here in connection with the street car strike occurred yesterday afternoon.

Special Officer Frank Schoffield, accompanied by Detective Cosgrove, attempted to arrest a man in a saloon, and no sooner was the warrant exposed than a crowd of miners attacked them with drills, clubs and bottles and put them to flight.

As they were retreating backwards down the sidewalk, protecting themselves with drawn revolvers, someone in the mob fired two shots. At this time the officers and a nonunion motorman who accompanied them, began to shoot into the crowd, and, after emptying all the chambers of their revolvers, beat a retreat.

Prosecution Claim to Have Direct Evidence Against the Prisoner.

London, Dec. 10.—Thomas Peterson Goudie, the former bookkeeper of the Bank of Liverpool; "Dick" Burge, the English puglilist, and F.J. Keily, the bookmaker, of Bradford, were arraigned at the Bow street Police Court yesterday morning in gennection with the Liverpool Bank frauds. Prosecuting counsel announced that Goudie admitted he had forged cheques, but disputed the aggregate amount. The statement of counsel was only a reiteration of facts already known. The most interesting point was the announcement made by counsel that he would be able to prove that after Kelly had "milked" Goudie to the extent of £72,000, Burge got wind of the situation, and, in conjunction with Lawrie Marks, the American bookmaker, who is said to have committed suicide by jumping overboard from a Channel steamer, and James Mances, a bookmaker well known on the American tracks, decided not to leave Goudie in the hands of Kelly. The trio thereupon despatched Mances to interview Goudie, with the result that they accumulated £91,000, of which Burge received one half, Mances one-third, and Marks one-sixth.

Ottawa, Dec. 10.—The War Office is said to be willing to take more than the stipulated 600 men provided for in the new corps being raised for South Africa, and numbers of young Canadiuns are willing to enlist. It seems hard to debar these young men from serving the empire, and it is likely they will be given a chance The transports Manhattan and Victoria, between them, have accommodation for one thousand men, and if the War Office says the word the force may be raised to pretty nearly that number; at any rate two more squadrons will be added, which means that eleven more commissions, including an additional Major, will be available. Lieut. Col. Evans returned yesterday morning from Toronto, where he spent Sunday. He will leave for Halifax towards the latter part of next week. Dec. 10.-The War Office

Many Anxions to Enilst.

Montreal, Dec. 10.—Recruiting for the new Canadian force, which is being sent from Canada to South Adrica, commenced yesterday at the Brigade Office, under the direction of Lieut.—Col. Roy, D.O.C., and Major Stewart, brigade major. Surgeon-Captain Cameron of the Montreal Bearer Company, was medical inspecting officer.

The applications were most numerous, upwards of between 80 and 90, presenting themselves for enlistment. More than half of these were destined to disappointment, however, as the Militian Department is only taking 35 men from the fifth and sixth military districts, which include St. John's and its military school. And the school wants to send along its proper quota. Not more than 30 applicants can, therefore, be taken from this city.

Recruiting at Toronto.

Toronto, Dec. 10.—Yesterday over 200 applicants appeared at the Armouvies for the purpose of undergoing the medical examination and inspection in riding and shooting, that if passed successfully would place them on the new mounted force for service in South Africa. Toronto is expected to supply 60 men, and in all probability the full quota will be raised from men who have seen active service in South Africa.

Dr. Nattress examined 28 men, and of this number 26 were successful in passing the examination. Out of this number 24 were veterans of the present South African campaign. The recruiting will be continued at the Armouries to-day and to-morrow, between the hours of 10 a.m. and 12 a.m., and 2 p.m. and 4 p.m.

Vancouver, Dec. 10.—Recruiting for the third Canadian contingent commenced here yesterday morning. Only 20 men are required and applications from men who had served with the Strathcona Horse and the Royal Canadian Regiment almost reached that number. In all, 75 men have passed the preliminary examination. These include Corp. Lohman and Pte. Pelkey, who were wounded at Panadeberg. Several Northwest Mounted Police, a former trooper in Cape Mounted Police, and a number of members of the local militia regiment, the 6th Duke of Connught's Own.

New York, Dec. 10.—A Pretoria despatch from London to The Times says that much remains to be done in partitioning the country with blockhouses before the Boers can be cleared from the Transvaal. The British public must, therefore, be reation. North of the Polyman Railway line, the Boers are momentarily free from the presence of the British columns. The mountain ranges afford endless hiding places for the enemy. Supplies are plentiful and wheat, which finds its way all over the country, is carefully concealed for future use. It is impossible to avoid this unlers the Boers are kept moving, and to effect this many more troops are required. The most noticeable development in the Orange River Colony is the concentration under Dewel, south of Heilbron, of a thousand men.

London, Dec. 10.—Lieut. L. A. E. Price Davies, D.S.O., who is serving with the King's Royal Rifle Corps in South Africa, is to be awarded the Victoria Cross for an act of conspicuous havery at Blood River Poort on September 17th. The Boers had overwhelmed the right of the British column, and about 400 of them were galloping round the flank and rear of our guns, calling on the drivers to surrender. Lieut. Davies, on the order to fire at the churging Boers being given, at once dashed among them and fired in a most gullant and desperate attempt to rescue the guns. He was immediately shot and knocked off his horse, but was not mortally wounded, although he had ridden apparently to certain death.

Stone and Madame Tsilka, her companion, are concealed in the vicinity of Rilo, about five miles south of Dubnitza, in Bulgarian territory. The news was brought by a Macedonian, who left there Dec. 1, and who furnished precise information regarding the hiding places and the names of the agents supplying food for the brigands and their captives. It is understood that the information is regarded as reliable enough to justify the American officials in Turkey despatching emissaries to treat with the bandits, and application has already been made to the Turkish Government for the free passage of the emissaries acrys the Turkish frontier, which is vigilantly guarded by troops stationed at every hundred yards.

Alock and I were great chums—he was the warmest hearted friend I ever had, and I shall never forget him; but it is needless for me to say anything about him to his sister, who must know him so much better than I ever could."

"Nevertheless, I drink in your words with rare pleasure, Doctor Jack. Any one whom Alock loved must he—my friend. We were orphans, and all in all to each other."

"Thank you. I will not speak now of our travels, knowing they will keep and that you are perticularly interested in the sad event that deprived me of a friend and you of a brother."

She nods her head, but does not look up—he knows her eyes are full of tears, and respects a fong sister's anguish.

"We were in Turkey at the time, and Aleck, who had never been in the Orient before, was immensely taken with the strange things he saw there. He managed to get into a few scrapes through his rashness, but they were small affairs, and the fudicious expenditure of a little money cleared him.

Avis has no intention of letting him off so easily.

"Since meeting her I have heard that the Senorita Gonzales has a wonderful voice, the most charming in Madrid it is said."

"Her voice is certainly charming."

Jack is bound to admit—under the present circumstances he does so unwillingly, not that he believes otherwise, but he dislikes praising Mercedes in the presence of this girl, though some men would do just the opposite, endeavouring to arouse a spark of jealousy by going into raptures over the other.

"She sang for you, then?" quickly.

"I must have been blind not to have seen that something was on the tapls, but at the time certain things worried me, of which I need make no mention, and I put Aleck in charge of a certain Effendi, who, for a round consideration, agreed to take care of him.

"I had maneged to straighten out my affairs, when one day Aleck let a thunderbolt fall on my feet. He was in love. The object of his passion was a wonderfully beautiful girl, the kimate of a harrom. Unknown to me and bribed by Aleck, the Turkish Effendi had taken the boy into the grounds and introduced him to the harem, the eunuchs in attendance being made blind with gold.

"That settled the business. He fell head over heels in love with a girl called Sady, and she returned his passion. Night after night he had been meeting her in the gardens, and life without her was a barren waste.

"He raved of her lovely qualities of mind and person—I was too amazed to speak.

CHAPTER IX.

CHAPTER IX.

There is a certain dramatic force to these words of Jack's, even though he does not raise his voice. Sometimes a whisper is more effective than a shout in thrilling an audience. Avis is astonished by what she hears—her mind goes once to ner incertain with 'we Pesha in London, and she remembers singular looks he gave her, which at the time impressed her as boldness on the part of this Oriental magnate, but which she now believes to have been inspired by the fact that he has recognized in her the sister of the infidel he hates so terribly.

How eagerly he had inquired about the prospect of her visiting Constantinople, which city he called Stamboul, as all natives do. Then again low carnestly he had dilated upon the wonderful beauties of the Fastern city, its magnificent mosques and tow-cring minarets, speaking in a way to inspire a longing in her breast to speedily look upon these vights, and promising to do all in his power to make their stay a pleasant one.

All this had seemed very kind of the harem on this night, and by the time the bold theft was discovered we would all be outside of Turkish territory.

"I was amazed at his boldness, and told him he was mad. To make a long story shoct, I found that he was bound to attempt this insane project, whether I helped him or not, and as it is not my rature to desert a friend, no matter what the wild goose chase he may be engaged on, I found myself in the plot. Now, a dim suspicion begins to cree through her mind that there may have been a deep, dark method in his ac-tions. Such a man seemed fit for treason, stratagem, and spoils, because he had no music in his soul, and would as soon listen to the croaking of a frog az the sweet notes of a nightin-

So she mentions her thoughts to Jack, who for some reason seems to see enough in the matter to investiwas charming-a Georgian girl, I believe.

"All went well until we drew near the boat, then out of the thicket sprang a score or more of savage looking Turks aimed with clubs. They attackgate deeper, and asks her numerous questions concerning what passed be-tween the Pasha and herself at their

A dreadful susplicion is hammering at the door for admittance, but he can hardly believe it possible that any man could descend to such depths of infamy; so for the present it is shut out, to arise again later on and mock him with the reality.

They talk for some time longer, principally upon the subject that interests them both. Avis Morton believes it is the hand of Providence that brought about this meeting. After the prodigies of valour which she witnessed Doctor Jack perform at the bull-fight, she does not see how anything could long remain a barrier for such a man, and if any one can help her find and save Alcek he is the person.

Their quiet little tete-a-tete is disturbed—loud voices sound without.

"It is Cousin Larry—what can be the matter?" exclaims Avis, rising hurriedly.

"It does me proud to see an American stand up like that. Now, what was it all about?" he asks, after stepping out and shaking hands with the victor in the main.

The dandy carefully brushes off a speck of dust he imagines he sees upon his lavender coloured trousers, twists the oads of the ghostly moustache which supports his dignified claim of being a man, and answers in his cool way:—

Bah Jove! I couldn't shake him off, and we had twouble, you see."

The trouble seems to sit lightly on the head of Mr. Larry. Jack, on the contrary, looking beyond, sees a certain significance in this affair of the night.

At this hour it would seem natural that the city should be growing more quiet, for every metropolis Jack has just the contrary seems to be the case.

It is much more noisy than at ten

Jack becomes interested. He everleans out of the window to see what is up. New lights have sprung into existence—even streets that were negleeted before now seem to throb with a pulsating life, and are in a measure illuminated, as though a great unwritten law compels every citizen to

The change is amazing—with every passing minute new lights spring up. Down below he sees a moving throng of people. All seem light-hearted, laughter and jest are bandled about, and it is very evident that no serious business brings these crowds abroad. Music is heard here, there, and everywhere—distant bands thrill the air, and quicken the pulses, groups on the boulevard sing snatches of songs, and more than one sweet-toned mandolin throbs to the fingers of a musicloving Spanish lassie in the courts near by. tain significance in this affair of the night.

He does not mean to tell Larry that his cousin is so near, for, selfish as the rest of mankind, he hopes to continue the delicious tete-a-tete in the little parlour.

Aloe ne is giaa when Larry walks over to greet an acquaintance, and Jack is about returning to his fair Duicina, when he happens to follow the dude with his eyes, and immediately receives something of a shock, for he sees Larry earnestly talking with one whom he recognizes as the Pasha.

Doctor Jack is amazed—he rubs his Doctor Jack is amazed—he rube his eyes as though under the belief that he must be dreaming. What does all this mean? Madrid has awakened from her lethargic state—she seems for the time being to outrival Paris in gayety. One thinks of a royal wedding, with the whole city rejoicing, but Jack knows this cannot be. What then?

The music grows in volume, and even under his eyes the crowds increase. He can see them better now, on account of th light. If Jack has been sleeply before, he was never more wide awake than now. Instead of abating, his interest grows with the excitement.

and join Jack.

Not once does he look toward the letter, but converses fluently with Larry, who seems to have taken a strange liking to him. Jack imagines that the crafty Fasha, believing he could make the New York dude useful, has cultivated his acquaintance, and as Larry's hair is so evenly balanced on either side, a very little flattery is apt to turn his head.

There may trouble come of this yet, but as the skles are still clear, Jack goes back to endoy a little more of Miss Morton's company. When finally he leaves her, the Pasha is no longer to be seen in the hotel.

One experience with the footpads is quite enough for Senor Jack, and he looks around for a vehicle to take him to the caravansary at which he is located, and which is situated far away from the Puerto del Sol.

A driver sees his action and anticipates his wish, for he brings his closed vehicle closs to the pavement, and calls out to know if the senor desires a carriage.

Perhaps Doctor Jack might have he situated about engaging this fellow had he seen him holding a whispered conversation with the Turkish Pasha a short time before; but being in Ignorance of this same thing, he jumps into the vehicle, gives the driver the name of his hotel, and slams the door.

of abating, his interest grows with the excitement.

Looking at his watch he finds that the hour lacks just nine minutes of twelve. Then the idea strikes him that these mercurial people are waiting for midnight, which time will usher in some great holiday.

He begins to grasp the reins, and reach a solution of the mystery. Looking closer than before he realizes two things. The first of these is the fact that there are scores of women upon the streets as well as men, and it is evident that the night walkers have now been reinforced by a stream of respectable senoras and senoritas from the dwellings.

CHAPTER X.

CHAPTER X.

Once a year Madrid, in common with all Latin cities, arouses from her long sleep, and for three days and nights preceding Lent, engages in the most extravagant orgies.

During this time the people run wild, and seem never to sleep—day and night the streets are jammed with crowds of pleasure seekers, music flist the air with intoxicating sounds, reveiry is in progress at every corner, and to look at the light-hearted people one would never dream that they lived over a mine, which is liable to explode at any moment.

Soldiers are as thick as skippers in an old cheese, their bright uniforms adding splendour to the scene, for Spain is a country where the restless populace, dreaming of liberty and license, have to be constantly reminded of the power resting with the royal family—she has been a republic before and will again, with the shining example of France so near at hand.

As Doctor Jack looks the bells of the Spanish capital ring out the hour of midnight. It is a signal long anticipated, since it ushers in the carnival season. More people flock out of the houses—the brilliant promenade below is thronged. In vain the American seeks a face—at the ringing of the bells every countenance is covered, for it is another unwritten law that, from midnight to sunrise on these three nights, no one shall appear upon the streets unmasked—the penalty may be a broken head.

street, and the vehicle makes such a moise rattling along that any sound he may cause is drowned.

Without a moment's hesitation he opens the window beside him, over the door, pushes his head and shoulders out, grasps the steet railing around the top of the conch, and be gins to draw his whole form out.

None but an athlete could accomplish this, what with the darkness and the moving coach, but Doctor Jack does the job, feels with his foot for the front step, used by the diver, finds it, gives one turn, and with a single motion seats himself beside that worthy, who, never dreaming of the gymnastics going on behind, is tremendously astounded to discover a human body planted beside his own, but who is even more surprised when he feels the cold muzzle of a revolver touch his face, and a voice bellow in his ear above the rattle of steel-shod wheels on the cobblesiones:—

"I am your passenger. Your game is up. Turn along the first calle leading to the Del Prado or I'll murder pear upon the streets unmasked—the penalty may be a broken head.

As Jack has never chanced to be in the south of Europe during the carnival time he is greatly interested in the sight, as will be every solourner in Madrid. Sleep seems out of the question with such a racket in progress, even if he did desire to obtain it.

Leaving his room he passes downstairs to see the entertainment at shorter range, not that it is his intention to join in just then, though many foreignets do so, and become mixed up in the brawls that often occur. With all the wickedness that marks the Spanish capital during the wax cambinal season at least one good "I am your passenger. Your game is up. Turn along the first calle leading to the Del Prado or I'll murder you. No words, but obey," says this terrible voice.

Along the edges of the sidewalk are many street stands, where is seen the peddler of national drinks or refrescos, with his botigo or Oriental jar containing the expressed juice of some fruit, mixed with sugar and water, and as harmless as it is agreeable. Others have a nobby little tin or brass tray, upon which are placed glasses for the different horohatas, as the good people of Madrid call these cooling non-spiritous drinks.

Along the walk are rows of orange trees, and upon these coloured lanterns have been placed at intervals, and are now lighted up, so that with the yellow gas jets the scene looks like one of enchantment.

Here and there small crowds congregate around some fakir engaged in

Here and there small crowds congregate around some fakir engaged in selling wonderful things, or to watch the astonishing evolutions and bear the weird music that accompany a sidewalk gitano or gipsy dance.

Everywhere reigns an air of mystery—fancy costumes, monks, chevaliers, Oriental warriors, courtly dames, flower girls, and almost every imaginable character we see in our greatest masque balls are to be met with.

imaginable character we see in our greatest masque halls are to be met with.

Mad revelry abounds—every one appears determined to be as happy and carcless as his or her neighbour, so that when the carnival season is over every soul will gladly welcome Lent, which seems to be the idea of all this merriment, the old adage holding good, "Let us eat, drink, and be merry, for to-morrow we-mourn."

So Madrid enters upon the fun. The merriment is as a general thing good-natured, and free from riot or rudeness. Whatever dark secrets may be working beneath the surface, on top all is apparently innocent enjoyment. From the balconies of houses fair senoritas, whose guardians are too strict to allow them uoon the streets, have enjoyment of their own in watching the procession below.

At times they toss a flower to this courtly knight who has found favour in their eyes, or drop rice down the back of a more than usually hideous gnome who delights in the shudder his arful appearance causes.

Jack is greatly amused by the kaleidoscopic changes around him. Something in his quiet demeanour attracts the very attention he would avoid, and more than one unknown charmer ventures to address him. These may be the most respectable of senores, for the mystery of mask and domino gives them assurance and license to a certain degree, but Jack pays little or no attention to their. pays little or no attention to their laughing words.

National Processions pass him by, and buddenly one comes that gives him a shock. He hears a cocotte standing near-him-take up the cry that sounds down the boulevare. What is it sue is calling:—"The hero of the bull-fight?"

Presently the available of the bull-fight?"

Presently the excitement increases, and a little party arrive, bearing on their shoulders a square platform in which rests a chair, and this is occupied by a masked man, who sits there with folded arms, gravely bowing, at times kissing his hand to the senoritas above, now almost wild with excitement.

Doctor Jack is at first indignant. and then he laughs as though amus-ed. This man has been gotten up to imitate himself, and with such suc-cess that the platform is fairly cover-d with fewers tessed upon the hear ed with flowers tossed upon the hero by the hands of Madrid's dark-eyed by the hands of Madrid's dark-eyed daughters.

Now they are close by—the American athlete could with one spring gain that platform, and hurl the mock ball-fighter to the ground; but the temptation comes and goes instantly.

Let him have his fun—unless I am mistaken he will pay for it before morning," he mutters, and there is truth in his words, for, aithough all the women go wild over the supposed hero of the greatest bull-fight Madrid ever saw, there are many dark scowls cast after the cavalcade by the male portions of the revelers could one but peep beneath their masks—these are the friends of the defeated Pedro Vasquez, who hate the man upon whose head rests the laurels that should have come to their favourite god.

Jack quenches his thirst with some lemonade from a stand near by, and starting a cigar continues his stroll. Other strange sights greet his eyes, and even his cold Northern blood is to a certain degree fired by the music and the gayety around him, so that he can rendly perceive how these warm Spanish people give way to the excitement of the carnival.

He smiles grimly when he hears a great racket far down the street, and makes up his mind that the bogus Doctor Jack has already come to grief, the bull-fighter's friends having probably peited him with oranges, and perhaps dragged him through the street mud.

The mad scene goes on, and fresh actors in it seem to be continually coming and going. Until the midnight bells announce again that the three days of joility are past, and Lent ushered in, Madrid will be in one continual ferment, day and night pranks will be played and strange scenes enacted, each citizen vieing with his neighbours in producing noise by day and illumination by night, or adding new features to the parade of a contract of the contr

infing can be said—few drungen men are seen. Light wines are the drinks indulged in by the people of Spain, rum seldom being used, and whiskey never. They may have copied the abstinct of the corner, surrounded by a curious crowd of masked persons. Several flaming sinthe drinkers of Paris to a certain degree, but this serves to stupefy their minds like optum, and not engender street brawls.

Down below Jack finds quite a throng gathered near the doors to watch the merry maskers on the pave without. Everyone seems to own a mask of some sort, and a man stands by selling these for a few pessias each, so the American invests, intending to saunter down the street and witness the sights.

Once outside he joins in with the throng, and keeps his eyes about him. It is indeed a remarkable sight to look upon the crowds the midnight bells of Madrid have called into review, and Jack photographs them upon his menory for future use.

Along the edges of the sidewalk are many street stands, where is seen the paddler of national drinks or refrescos, lives and the program of the boots. The same has gone far makes upon the dusty street of Delhi in India.

It is a little singular that he should run across the juggler again so far many street stands, where is seen the paddler of national drinks or refrescos, lives without the last time he saw Ben Many street stands, where is seen the paddler of national drinks or refrescos, lives without the last time he saw Ben Many street stands, where is seen the paddler of national drinks or refrescos, lives without the last time he saw Ben Many street stands, where is seen the paddler of national drinks or refrescos, lives he will wait until the perform though the last time he saw Ben Achmed was upon the dusty street of Delhi in India.

It is a little singular that he should run across the juggler again so far away from Hindostan, and Jack believes he will wait until the performance is over, when he may have a few words with the other.

Leaning against a neighbouring tree, he smokes his cigar, which luxury the haif mask allows, watching the drifting crowds, the weird actions of the juggler, and listening to the jargon of sounds.

From this state of reverle something finally arouses him. A familiar figure heaves in sight—surely there can be no mistaking that dudish dress even if a half mask does hide the face of Cousin Larry. The New York sport is out to see the sights, and perhaps take a hand in any frolic.

As he is passing by his name is uttered by Jack, to whom the little fellow is soon talking. The athlete thinks more of Larry since the exhibition in the hotel. Then again he is a cousin to Avis—that counts for something.

"What! you, Doctor Jack I thought I saw a fellow of your size riding by on a sedan chair, the women cheering, the men cursing, but made up my mind I was mistaken," says Larry, grasping the outstretched hand eagerly, for he takes quick likings, and, unbeknown to the others, witnessed the buil-fight of the afternoon, so that he looks up to the doctor as a hero.

Jack tells him about the imposter, and they both laugh. Then the little man grows serious again.

"Do you know, I was on my way to your hotel, Doctor Jack—I believe it is on this dused street, is it not ?" he asks.

"That is the building yonder, where the great lantern is hanging—but what brings you here?"

Doctor Jack's curlosity is again aroused—we have seen that he posses, set a fair amount of this womaniy trait. Why should he not feel a desire to know the cause of Larry's coming when the latter is her cousin? Just now the whole world revolves around Avis Morton—Jack has jumped into a new sphere during the last twelve hours—we shall gee in time whether he can play at lover as wel old slowbones up, which plan he stands ready to adopt if necessary. "Now that you've found the hotel, what do you want with it, Larry?" he

HON. MR. STRATTON'S ABLE ADDRESS. We devote a considerable portion of our space in this Issue to the publication of the main parts of an address by Hon. J. R. Strutton, da livered recently at a meeting of the tiectors of Past Peterboro. It will repay careful perusal by all electors who desire to give an intelligent express u of opinion in the next general elections, which no doubt wil take place before the world is many months older. Mr. Stratton gives a careful, masterly and comprehensive review of the Ontario political situation, and the principal issues of the day are clearly placed before the people. He shows how successful and satisfactory has been the careful and praignt and satisfactory has been the careful and praignt and satisfactory has been the careful and praignt and at the superfive. ful and prudent, and at the same time progressive, administration of pro-vincial affairs by the Mowat, Hardy and Rose governments, constituting a glorious era of peace, progress and prosperity, unsurpassed in the bistory of administrations within the British Empire. Mr. Stratton meets fairly and squarely the various charges of extratagance made by the opposition, and proves that the provincial expenditure has been careful and economical. No sensible person expects an mettuation that has made remirkable progress and that has been extensively developed to be concucted at the same outlar that was required a quarter of a century ago; but because the previncial expenditure is larger now than it was in 1870 the opposition shout extra angance and mismanagement. It opposes to-day what it advocated has year. It sneers at New Outario. It scoffs at Forestry plans. It is one thing to-day, It is another thing to-morrow. It opposes to-day what it advocated has year. It sucers at New Outario. It is not expressing that Mr. Marter is discatisfed with the unprogressive course of the opposition leaders and stands out as an independent. It is not wooder that the rank and file of the opposition looks to Mr. "Billy" McLean of the World-for something, new. It is only natural that Mr. E. B. Osler, one of the tory leafers in the commons, urges the provincing opposition to put a little more "gin. are" in their policy. It hasn't enough life. It has no go. It resembles the old cow that the late Hon. Alex. McKenzie used to tell about. The old cow was wintered with a good old cow was wintered with a good doal of difficulty, and in the spring she didn't die-"she kinder gin out." That is the matter, Mr. Stratton shows clearly, with the opposition its policy is not yet dead; but like the old cow it has "kinder gin out," and by next spring not even copious

GOOD ROADS HELP A TOWN.

So far the proposal to borrow the sum of $20,000 as a first instalment for the improvement of the leading strects of the town has aroused very little discussion. This is unfortunate, as the time remaining in which to point out the advantages of the schame is very short. The by-haw will be published this week, and the vote will be taken on Monday, Jan.

T. that he is filling up his big bag with dear little shoes for the Bables, some red, some white, some tan color and some black. There must be an awful lot of bables around. He seems to like Moccasins, Rubbers, Hockey and Skating Boots for the Boys. Somebody must have told him where to get them. For the Big Boys he goes for Travelling Bags, Suit Cases and Ceo. A. Slater shoes. The dear Cirls, he has a terrible time about them, guess there must be more girls than boys for the girls' bag is biggest by far. Pretty Red Slippers, Kid Shoes with beads and high heels, Overstookings with Rubbers and long Leggings and big Trunks that cost ten dollars and such like he says are none too good for the dear girls. Crandmas and Crandpas he says must be warm, so for them he takes warm soft shoes and Slippers with red lining. For Mother a pair of Empress Boots will be as fine as silk and for Dad he says a pair of heavy Calif Boots with Rubber Soles for Curling in can't be beat.

Herr Bebol, inspired by the tempostuous temper of the House, exclaimed: "This bill foments insurrection. The Chancellor aims to overrun Social order; we shall do our utmost to send this bill to Hades, and we only regret we can not send its authors and abettors there also."

Horr Meeller, the Minister of Commerce, said he regarded the new tartiff as an effective weapon in the hands of the Government to force more conclusion favorable commercial treaties. The Reichstag them adjourned.

London, Dec. 6.—The city entertained the Prince and Princess of Whilesy yesterday afternoon at a luncheon given in the Guildhail, and presented them with an address of congratulation on their successful tour of the British Empire.

The royal party drove frome York House to the Guildhall in an open, four-horsed landau, excerted by Life Guards. They met everywhere with the heartlest reception from the sight-secre lining the brightly-bedecked and troop-guarded route. The scene in the library of the corporation's historic guarters, where Their Royal Highnesses were received by the Lord Mayor, Shr Joseph C. Dimwale, and the corporation's historic guarters, where Their Royal Highnesses were received by the Lord Mayor, Shr Joseph C. Dimwale, and the corporation, was picturesque. Levee or diplomatic dress, uniforms or judicial robes, were worn by the majority of the guests, among whom were the agents-general of the colonies. Promitted agents-general of the colonies. Promitted among the other notables present were Lord Salisbury, Lord Rosebery, and Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain.

The Prince of Wales seized the opportualty to make a long, statesmanlike speech on the relations between the Motherland and the colonies. Speaking about the Dominion, he said:

that we may receive from other nations."

This remark of the Premier was greeted with prolonged cheering, after which he continued, saying:

"I cannot admit that they are judges of our conduct, or that we can modify our proceedings in deference to their opinion. What we look to are the opinions of our own kinsmen, who belong to our own empire. We have received from all portlons of that Empire an indication that we have lost nothing in the opinion they held of the justice of our claim."

The official number for Winnipeg is twenty. Dr. A. J. Devine is making all preparations to report at Ottawa Dec. 12, and considers himself very fortunate in having been chosen from so many. It is reported at the C.M.R. barracks that several officers who have applied for commissions in the new contingent will try and get a place in the ranks if their applications are not favorably considered at headquarters. Toronto Cycle and Motor Company's report shows what a failing off there has been in the buyete business. The year's deficit, after absorbing a $25,000 reserve, is $120,036.38. The stock will be withdrawn from the list on 'Change. The company has found the demand much below expectations, and the Australian business has been disappointing. Candidans have got over the ing. Consultans have got over the craze for new wheels every season. This province has been doing fairly well in the matter of improved drinking habits. The number of convictions for drunkenness in 1887 was 0,200; in 1900 it had fallen t 3.370. Of course it may be that this does not exactly indicate the rate of progress, but it is at least approximate test. Now shall we continue the good work, keeping pub-lic opinion and support with us, or undo so much that has been accomplished by an attempt to reach the goal at a jump?

There is talk of another great in dustry for Sault Ste. Marle. It is reported that Sir Christopher Fur-ness, M.P., the great English frou-master, has returned home after a entical inspection of Canada's re-courses in his line. A New York des-patch states that before sailing for England Wednesday he announced that he had made arrangements with Mr. Clergue, of the 'Soo," for the erection of a huge shipbuilding plant at that point, where steel vessels an barges for the great lake trade will be constructed. The estimate cost of the plant is placed at $10,000,000. Hon. Mr. Mulock's expectation that the reduction in letter postage from 8 cents to 2 cents would not result in a permanent loss of revenue has beer justified. The receipts of Department for the year ended June 30th, 1901, were $238,924 greater than the receipts for the year ended June 30th, 1896, showing that there has been a great herease of correspondence under the reduced rate. A return to the old one-cent rate for drop letters mottles would be a popular move, and it would certainly cause a great increase in that class of letters. For invoices, accounts and invitations, which are now delivered by messenger, would go through the post-office if the rate were 1 cent instead of 2 cents. The handsome gift by the Hon. W. Harty of $1,000 to the Queen's University for the Grant Hall proves that that gentleman believes in own doctrine that Principal Grant

The Funerals of Miss Bessie Blair and a Memorial to the Latter's Memory,

Ottawa, Dec. 10.-The citizens of Ottawa, Dec. 10.—The citizens of Ottawa will creek a monument to commemorate the gallantry of H. Albert Harper, who lost his life on Friday last in the heroic endeavor to rescue Miss Bessie Blair from drowning, after she and a companion had skated into open water on the Ottawa River. A meeting was held last evening in the City Hall, the Mayor presiding, at which a committee was appointed to collect funds for this purpose.

presiding, at which a committee was appointed to collect funds for this purpose.

Hon. William Mulock, Postmaster-General, in moving a resolution favoring the erection of a monument to Harper, said that the suggestion came from the Minister of Rallways, the father of the drowned girl. The funeral of Miss Blair, which took place yesterday afternoon, presented the unusual spectacle of nearly the entire Cabinet walking in solemn procession. Sir Richard Cartwright and Hon. David Mills occupied a carriage. Mr. Sifton, Minister of the Interior, was the only absentee, being at present in Manitoba. After the hearse walked the father, Hon. A. G. Blair, his two sons, Mr. A. George Blair and Master Donald Blair, and Hon. Mr. Blair's son-inlaw, Mr. R. F. Randolph, of Fredericton, N.B.

His Excellency the Governor-General and Lady Minto were present at the service in the Blair residence, conducted by Rev. Dr. Herridge of St. Andrew's Presbyterlan Church. The body was taken to Beechwood. The foral tributes were the most magnificent seen at a funeral in Ottawa for many years.

The funeral of H. Albert Harper took place later from Dr. Herridge's residence to the railway depot. Most of the Ministers attended it also. During the day Her Excellency the Countess of Minto called upon Miss Harper and spent an hour with the bereaved young lady in womanly offorts to console her for her brother's death.

Fifty Thousand Dollar Ronus

PETERBOROUGH BEET
SUGAR FACTORY.

The Proposition Endorsed by a Large Meeting-Some Interesting Information In. Darted by Promoter Moody—Visws of Prominent Citizens of Town and County.

On Thesday afternoon last, at the call of Peterboro County Council, a large and representative meeting of the leading citizens of the town and the various municipalities was held to hear the proposition to be made by Mr. Joha Moody, a representative of United States capitalists who have taken out an Ortario charter and propose to establish beef sugar factories at various points in the province. We take the following interesting extricts from the Examiner's report of the meeting:

Mr. Moody, after a few preliminary remarks, said that the results of the analysis of the sugar beet grown in the district inal been a great surprise to his company. It certainly showed that they had a very progressive lot, of farmers in the neighborhood, or exceptionally fine farms for growing beets. The establishment of a sugar beet factory does not depand entirely upon the matter of booms, the speaker said, as it is profitable enough in any event, but it is happortart that they hould have the farmers of the community directly interested in the venture. The principal feature is the accrage. Twere is no doubt that there is a vast amount of money in sugar beets, and in support of this here is a vast amount of money in sugar beets, and in support of this here is a vast amount of money in sugar beets, and in support of this dean many people who do not own an acre of land grow beets to advantance after paying for all the The business than anyone else; after him the business man. There would be about four hundred and elghty tho sint dol'ars distributed amongst the farmers of this district by the operation of a factory cuch as they proposed establishing in Prterbore. Spraking as to the capacity of the nint, the speaker said that it would require ten thousand tons of old, and ten thousand tons of coal, and ten thousand tons of coal, and ten thousand tons of coal, and the tons of the thousand tons of the history and the thousand the property of the thousand the paid out in the vicinity each year. As to the history and in the country. In the establishment of a factory it is important that the action should be as prompt as possible, as the machinery which most be purchased in Germany or the States, will come in free of duty until April 1st of next year.

Mr. Dawson Kennedy—"You are esking a bonus of $50,000 2"

"Yes."

"Yes."

"Will your company undertake to cultivate any quantity of beets, as the companies do in Michigan?"

"Yes, they will."

Continuing, Mr. Moody said, that the roots have to be delivered in October, November, December and Jamuor. The frost does not affect them unless they have already been frozen and thawed out. Then the speaker told of the manner in which Galt and Bertin obtained information before entering upon the establishment of a factory, sent delegations to Michigan and saw for themselves before giving a bonns. His company would pay $4 or ton at the factory for beets and they would furnish the seed in the first place, and instruct the farmers bow to cultivate the same. This $4 is the price fixed by the government for the first year, and after that the company paid in accordance to the amount of sugar containsd in the beets. At this rate the bests raised in this district would larve yielded in this district would invery yielded yover $5 a ton. The by-products were excellent for feeding purposes and should be taken away by the farmers. They can get these by-products free of cost. The company would require from 25 to 30 acres, and plenty of water; the water is not accessarily bolled for washing the bests. The company he represented is the same company as is engaged in the sugar beet industry in Michigan paid 20 per cent, on the common stock. He would not advise the erection of any factory less than no occ thousand ton plant; it would scarcely pay. The sugar to be turned out would be getting returns. It was necessary that the inachinery should be placed somewhere by 13d April, as there would be a guarnative the first 15 or 20 days after the factory would be in operantly and arter the factory would be in perantly and they would be not tonise in raising 20 to some necessary that the inachinery should be placed somewhere by 13d April, as there would be a duty pixed on machinery coming in after that date. He halos said that the company would require a guaranter of the same common of a plant, and are willing gan to gain information on the sublect, and Peterlson should not be lidle.

Mr Moody intimated that if he were the only gertleman concerned in the matter he might not be locking for a bonus. But his captallists say the town that offers the most money will get the call, and it is under these conditions that he was now working.

Mr. Vm. Anderson enid that as a mumber of the County Council he could not guarantee that they would give a bonus. He hought that the natural advantages offered in Peterboro were sufficiently strong to induce the company to locate in Pet-rboro. It might be a good idea t

let the municipalities that would be broefitted by the factory vote apon the by-law to raise the bound.

Mr. Moody sald that the first year they accepted the beets no matter what quality they were, but the second and subsequent years they accepted no beets that were not up to the specified quality. The seed is sold to the farmer at 15 cents per pound. They would require to plant 15 pounds to the acce.

Reeve Adams said that he was one of those who had come to the meeting to listen. He coincuded with the remarks made by Mr. Hall. A bonus of $5,000 distributed over the town and county for 80 years would not amount to very much. He also considered that the arguments advanced by those who opposed the deat of a bonus, were more favorable towards the granting of the some that a resolution of some kind should be put through, and he favored the sending of a delegation to Michigan to see the factories in that State.

Mr. John lititude did not favore the sending of meeting bonuses excepting it exceptional circumstances, and this, he bought, was one of these cases. There is no reason why the bonus could not be raised. However, he did not think that the municipalities lying at a distance from the two was should be taxed as heavily as the other townships in closer proximity to the factory.

Mr. George S. Matthews made a very logical speech, in which he said that if the town were to vote the whole $50,000 it would amount to only 7-10 of one mill of the dollar, spread over 20 years. If they voted one half the amount, presuning that the other half came from some place else it would amount to only 1-10 of one mill of the dollar, spread over 20 years. If they were manufacturers he Peterboro who are occasionally offered inducements to move to other towns. There is no reason who are offering inducements we will have to do the saying, "Come along, if you want to, and if you don't want to make a well as in Peterboro; and while he was as a matter of placiple. Opposed to the bonusing system, at ill when factories are looking for hones

TWO HIRED GIRLS.

(Charlis Churner, in Toronto Star.)
Not long after Eve started house-keeping and commenced wearing aprons instead of fig-leaves, there aprons instead of fig-leaves, there arose, so tradition says, a trouble about the lired girl, and there was Cain to pay in that home jush outside Paradise. And in Toronto and other cities I have heard a wall from ladies of quality that their girls take no interest in their work, and that they are not as satisfactory as good girls should be. So this week I hovestigated a case in the north-west part of Toronto where there was one girl and a lady of the house who received on Tharsday and said "aw" instead of "a." The girl did odd stunts at the weektub and cooked an evening dinner was served at noon. She slept ha small room as large as a dog-kennel, and as cold as a North Pole expedition, and was only allowed to bring her beaux as far as the kitchen door once a week.

And the girl is weary of this rubdards.

Mother Loses Life Trying to Save Ch 1-

Eate to save Wife.

Pittaburg, Pa, Dec. 7.—Two persons were burned to death and seven injured in a fire at Carnegie. Pa, yesterday morning.

The dead are: Mrs. Sarah Klee, aged 43, and Mary Klee, her daughter, aged nine.

The fire was in a grocery store, kept by Samuel Klee, and the rest of the house was occupied by the family. The fire was discovered about 4.40 o'clock, and Klee and his wife realized that there was but one way to save the children, and that was to throw them from the window, a distance of about wenty a time and it is thought that he vill survive.

After rescuing his baby, the father cocked round for his wife, whom he had missed from his side for some inc. Unable to locate her, he called to those whom he had saved for the purpose of ascertaining if she had loined them. She had not, and the husband became almost distracted with fear and panic. It seems however, that while the father was rescuing the voungest and most help-less child, she was making an attempt to save the life of Mary, and in doing so gave up her own life.

The house was entirely destroyed.

Attempt to Save the Young Lady's Life-The Sad Particulars.

Ottawa, Dec. 7.—A shocking drowning accident occurred in the Ottawa River yesterday afternoon, and last night there are searchers out for the bedieve it the weather than the searchers of the producer of the bodies of two members of a vice-regal skating party-Miss Bessie Blair, daughter of the Minister of Railways and Canals, and Albert H. Harper, Assistant Deputy Minister of Labor.

A lovely winter afternoon tempted a considerable number out to make up a skating party, organized at Government House. The ice appeared to be in splondid condition, smooth and solid; indeed, between New Edinburgh and Oatineau Point, horses and sleighs have been crossing for a couple of days. No danger was apprehended, therefore, by the skatins, who sped away down the river in little groups.

One of them consisted of the May and Bessie Blair and Showball, daughter of Shine Showball, who was their governoon of the month of the Miss Bessie Blair and Mr. Creelman were skating in advance of the others, when, suddenly, as the party heared Kettle Island, both were seen by Mr. Harper and Miss Bowball, who were a short distance behind, to disappear into the water.

Mr. Harper, with the determination of saving Miss Blair, mabed forward Miss Snowball, who were a short distance behind, to disappear into the water.

Mr. Harper, with the determination of saving Miss Blair, includ forward Miss Snowball skated back, screaming frantically to those following to hurry to the rescue. When, with Miss May Blair and Mr. Tread gold, she arrived at the fatal spot, only one was seen on the varface—Mr. Creelman — and he was drawn out of the water in an unconscious condition. No sign of Miss Bessie Blair or the gallant Mr. Harper, who gave his life to save her, was to be seen. The bodies had evidently been carried down by the swift current beneath the ice Creelman was alone in the icy water. He clung to the ice and shouted for help.

Meanwhile, Miss Snowball was skating to Gatineau Point to summon aid. She had time to arouse the men in the hotel, and they took whiskey and blankets and skated for the scene of the accident. Miss Snowball was skating in the direction of the thin, when Mr. A. N. C. Treadgold shouted to her to look out for danger.

Harper showed pure grit, and his death is lamented by all who knew him. He was a native of Barrie, and about 27 years old. He was Master of Arts in Toronto University, and had been in newspaper work in Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa, where he represented The Montreal Herald as Ottawa correspondent until his appointment as associate editor of The Labor Gazette. For the past month he has been acting Doputy Minister of Labor, in the absence of Mr. W. L. Mackenzie King, the Dezuty Minister.

Harper's parents are dead, but out sister lives in Barrie, another in North Bay, and he has a brother, a doctor, in New York, and another brother is a professor in Edinburgh University, Scotland.

Another party from Government House was also on the river, and Captain Bell, A.D.C., Mr. Gladwir MacDougall and the Misses Ritchie got into shallow water, but got out safely.

The Blair household is one of mourning. Her Excellency the Countess of Minto drove there as soon as the news of the fatality reached her, to offer her sympathy to the stricken sisters. The Minister of Railways and Mrs. Blair are at Clifton Springs, New York. The sad news of their daughter's death was wired to them late last evening, and they will return homesto-day.

Vancouver, B.C., Dec. 7.—Through the sliding of a mass of overhanging rock, by which the track was swept away in what is by far the wildest section of the mountain district, an extra westbound freight train of the C.P.B. at 5.15 yesterday morning plunged headlong into the grim canyon on the Fraser, taking with it to instant death the driver of the local control of the control of the canyon on the fraser, taking with it to instant death the driver of the local control of the train for the local control of the local control of the local control of the local control of the train had plunged three hundred feet into the darkness below, and was being battered to fragments by the grinding rocks and raging waters. The accident illustrates how even the heat precautions fail to entirely remove the hazard of railroading in such a region, for here the roadbed is incessantly patrolled in order that trains may be timely warned where rockelides or other mishaps threaten them. The patrolman had indeed twice crossed the scene of the disaster during Thursday night, the last occasion being after 4 o'clock, when nothing wha samiss. A regular train had passed unharmed within two hours of the canstrophe. For the extra there was no sign of warning. It was proceeding slowly and uninterruptedly, when a roar and a rumble were heard, then a shaking of the after portion of the train, and a violent shock. A sudden rockslide near a curve of the depcit canyon helow, while the still falling masses of rock and loosened earth had cut the train in two, thereby saving Conductor Harris and his brakeman in the tail end caboose, the brakeman having but reached it from a visit to the loconnotive.

Meanwhile Trendgold was getting his rope ready, and Matthins Blais, who lives on shore, came out and pulled Creelman out of the water.

Creelman loot consciousness at Blais' house, but recovered enough to be taken to his boarding house, where doctors attended him. He is suffering from exposure, but will recover. WEST HURON VICTORY

Hon, J. T. Garrow Elected by a Majority of About 300.

THE FIGHT A STIRRING ONE!

The Conservatives Spared No Effort to ed Them-Previous Election Majorities Eclipsed-Congratulatory Meeting at Goderich-The Members' Speech.

Goderich, Dec. 5.-A grand Liberal Goderich, Dec. 5.—A grand Liberal victory was scored in West Huron yesterday. Mr. Garrow's majority is about 300. Victoria Opera House was filled to overflowing with a most enthusiastic gathering to congratulate Hon. J. T. Garrow on his splendid victory. Mr. Garrow was called a victory. Mr. Garrow was called on by the chairman, Mr. Wm.
Proudfoot, and was received with loud and prolonged cheering. Mr. Proudfoot, and was received with loud and prolonged cheering. Mr. Garrow stated that this was a most remarkable victory, as the Conservatives nover before in Ontario made such an effort to win a riding. The riding had been overrun by all sorts and conditions of men, who left no means untried to defeat the Liberal party. The result shows that not only did our Liberal friends support us, but many fair-minded Conservatives, who realized that this was a wholly unnecessary election and had been forced on us by the Opposition. The Liberals for once were thoroughly aroused, and as never before came to the polls. To the young men of the audience Mr. Garrow said that they should read and educate themselves, not only when elections are on but all the time, and they could not fuil to ascertain that the Liberal policy will commend itself as the best for Ontario and Canada. The platform will stand the closest examination, the policy is one of purity, honesty and progress. The Liberal Government of Ontario may have its faults, but, all in all, is the best Government over seen on the continent of North America, and has as its head one of the best and ablest politicians Canada has ever produced, and it is for the best interest of Canada to keep him there. Mr. Garrow expressed sympathy for the defeated candidate, and regretted very much that he had been led into this unnecessary contest by the Tory machine from Toronto.

Speeches of congratulation given by Mr. Kerr, editor of The Brussels Post, Messrs. Goetz of Perth, D. McGillieuddy; P. Holt, Warden of Huron; A. Saunders, M. G. Cameron and B. D. Grant. Mr. W. Proudfoot, who presided most ably at the meeting, announced that Mr. Carrow's majority would ced 300, and expressed the hope that the Liberals of West Huron would continue to stand united, and at the general elections next June make as good a showing as they had to-day. Garrow stated that this was a most to-day.

The following prominent Conservatives took part in the campaign on behalf of their candidate: Messrs. Whitney, Foy, Carscallen, Matheson, Wardell, Henderson and Hoyle, members of the House; Mr. Downey, candidate for South Wellington, and Messrs. Levitt and Wright, Conservative organizers.

Ottawa, Dec. 5.—W. G. Parmelee, Deputy Minister of Trade and Commerce, and J. Lorne McDougall, Auditor-General, have gone to Sydnoy, N.S., in connection with the payment of bounty upon the fron and steel output of the Dominion Works there. It uppears that the Department has decided, in order to satisfy the Auditor-General as to the absolute correctness of all bounty claims, to institute a further check upon the smaller returns, and it is to devise such means that Messrs. Parmelee and McDougall are on their present mission. It is estimated that over three-quarters of a million dollars will be paid out during the present fiscal year in iron and steel bounties.

Ottawa, Dec. 7.-Col. Evans was unable to leave for Toronto last night, as he had anticipated, but exnight, as he had anticipated, but expects to do so this evening. Ho has heard nothing, he says, about the report that the force for South Africa is to be increased to 900 men. The story probably arose from the fact that the two transports to be sent out would have accommodation for that number. Col. Hon. F. W. Borden went to Montreal this afternoon, but before leaving stated that as far as he knew the force would not be increased beyond 600 men, but the probability was that more horses would be sent.

The Mounted Rifles.

Additional recruiting for the Mounted Rifles has been authorized at the following points: Edmonton, 10; Calgary, 10; Maple Creek, 15; Pincher Creek, 10, and Moosomin, 5, making a total of 50. There is still a number to appropriate before the full strength of the contingent is recruited. It is probable that the balance will be held until a number of men on their way out from the Yukon reach civilization. A number of telegraphic applications were received from Dawson, and the men are hurrying out over the ice.

Astoria, Oregon.

Astoria, Oregon, Dec. 5.—The Bar tug Tatoosh, which has just returned to port, reports that the British ship Nelson, Captain Ferriam, turned turtle last night, and went to the bottom with her entire crew.

The Nelson left Astoria Nov. 25. Monday night she was back at the river's mouth, and Tuesday was reported to have shifted her cargo. She had a bad list to starboard, and could go only one tack.

Tuesday afternoon the tug Tatoosh went out and picked up the Nelson, passing a hawser. The tug started off shore with the ship, owing to the gale.

It was the intention of Captain Briley of the Tatoosh to remain with the ship during the night. The gule that raged was too severe for the vessel to withstand, and she broke from the tug and then turned turtle, sinking at once.
In the darkness it was impossible for the tug to render assistance to the mambers of the crew who were not carried down, and all perished. The Nelson carried a crew of 28 men all told. She was an old wooden vessel.

Ten Lost in Bay of Fundy.

Hailfax, Dec. 5.—The tug Gypsum King arrived at St. John yesterday afternoon, and the captain reports that at 3 o'clock that morning the two barges he was towing broke away from the tug in the Bay of Fundy. There are grave fears that the barges, with their crews of five men each, have been lost, as there was a terrible gale blowing at the time. The lost barges are each of 1,100 tons net, and are built of wood. They carried about 1,000 tons of gypsum and belong to the J. B. King Transportation Company of New York. As soon as the wind moderates the tug will go out in search of the missing vessels.

VICTIM OF THE DUEL

Major VanTets of Queen Wilhelmina's Bodyguard Dead,

AFTERMATH OF THE MEETING

Sorved the Dainty Dutch Queen With Chivalrous Devotion and Scaled It With His Blood-Said That Her Sinjesty Stanched VanTots' Wounds With Her Own Pair Hands.

London, Dec. 7 .- A despatch to The Central News from Amsterdam says that Major VanTets died last Thursday evening. This is the aftermath of the duel between Prince Henry and the deceased.

Major "the German" VanTets

Henry and the deceased.

Major "the German" VanTets is one of ten noble youths who formed the bodyguard of the smiling young Queen when she was married in February, and who have since been at their Royal Mistress' beek and call on everyoccasion. They pride themselves on their servitude, and in this matter-of-fact twentieth century their chivalrous devotion to Queen Wilhelmina is a pretty thing to see. It is whispered that every man of the ten handsome young youths who surround Her Majesty's carriage when she drives abroad, skate with her when she skates, ride with her when she skates, ride with her when she skates, ride with her when she rides, and dance attendance on her generally has Leen at one time or another over head and curs in love with the dainty little lady in whom Holland's hopes are centred.

Official contradictions notwithstanding, nobody at The Hague doubts for a moment that the Queen and her consort have been at loggerheads practically since the wedding. Wilhelmina is not a woman to allow herself to be neglected with impunity.

It is said that she stanched Van Tets' wound with her own hands, and insisted on her husband's begging pardon of the Jonkherr as well as of herself before she would forgive him.

New York, Dec. 5.—A letter from Jubiti, East Africa, in The Paris Journal Des Debats, quoted by the Paris correspondent of The London and The New York Times, credits Great Britain on her adroitness in her dealings with Emperor Menelik. It says Great Britain has induced the Negus to leave dormant the frontier question while the South African war losts, and that Great Britain intends to settle this question finally in a minimer detrimental to the Abyssinians. The writer of the letter asserts that the various British missions to Abyssinia were designed to pave the way for the selzure of the vast territory separating the Egyptian Soudan from Uganda. Hallfax, Dec. 6.—A report reached Truro yesterday afternoon of a shocking accident at East Folly Mountain. The house of Robert Campbell, in an isolated position, was burned to the ground at an early hour Wednesday morning, and the remains of all the occupants were discovered in the ashes yesterday. Mr. Campbell had gone to the woods early in the morning, leaving his daughter Effie, aged 16; Myrtle, 7, and his son, Arthur, II, asleep in bed. J. SUTCLIFFE & SONS,

The Victoria, B.C., Colonist (tory) says;

"The Mail and Empire attacks the revised census for Ontario, and says they indicate that Mr. Turto has concluded not to cut down the population of that province as much as he intended. The Hamilton Spectator declares the fact that Hon. John Dryden, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, having invested capital in a cattle ranch in Dakotó will make 'capital campaign literature.' The Halliax Heralt referred approvingly to this twaddle, and the liberals swept. Nova Scotin at the municipal elections, winning sixteen counties out of eighteen in a strict party fight, and dividing the two others countly with the conservatives. We put these things together for the purposa of polating out how the policy of twaddle, is driving people away from the conservative party. When will newspapers learn that the public has a little sense? There is not a living man who would oute for the conservative party because Mr. Dryden, who is well-to-do, sees fit to place some of his monoy in a Dakoke venture. There in not a man outset of the lunatic asylums who believes that Mr. Tartegave the census enumerators directions to add up the figures for Ontario wrongly, and the goal afraid of what he had done and told them to put on a few thousand more There is not a man in the Dominion who believes what the St. John Sun said last week, namely, that Sir Wilfrid Laurler is opposed to sending a contingent to South Arica. Yet party organs publish such twaddle and think they are making votes by it. Souttimes people ask when the conservative party will return to power. We think we can tell them one thing on this polat, and it is that it will not be until the leading organs recognize that the people have just a little common sense, and begin to appeal to them.

Unpaid Smallpox Cintues.

A letter was read from H. O'Leary, K.C., recalling to the attention of Council that some seven months ago a large number of prominent citizens had submitted a petition asking that Mr. W. H. Simpson' be compensated for the financial loss surtained through his hotel being quarantined for two weeks. The Council inving paid no attention to the petition, Mr. Simpson would take legal action unless the Council settled the claim within one week.

Aid, O'Rielly said he was prepared to move that all unpaid smallpox claims be referred to a joint meeting of the Council and Board of Health, to be held Wednesslay evening. It was hardly fair that Mr. Simpson's claim should be left so long unconsidered, and that some claims should be paid while others were shelved.

column should be paid while others were shelved.

Ald. Jackson sald he would move—if he could secure a seconder—that Mr. Simpson's claim be referred to the Town Solicitor. The Council should not compromise themselves; if the Board of Health had made a mistake, that was their look-out. Cases had occurred and were continually occurring, where people were inolated for diphtheria and other diseases for the good of the public, and if there was to be compensation for one disease there should be for all. It would not do for Council to set a precedent.

Ald. Robson—"That is fair, I understood that Mr. Simpson's claim had been dealt with long ago. I will second the motion."

That was not true. Aid. Hore—"Certainly not."

Treasurer Knowlson explained that he had not had time to complete the financial statement, but it would be ready in a couple of days. He was an thorized to have some published as soon as completed.

The Berry Drain.

The Berry Drain.

Commissioner Chalmors reported that he had examined the drain opened out by Mr. P. Berry, north ward, and found it had been out about 100 feet longer than was necessary. The work done was worth about $4.

Mr. Berry—"I'm willing to leave it to two arbitrators."

Ald. O'Rielly—"Mr. Chalmers, how did you arrive at the $4?"

The Commissioner—"It would take a man and team about two hours to plow the ditch, and two men would throw the earth out in a day."

Mr. Berry—"Not the kind of men you employ." The Berry Drain.

Mr. Berry—"You needn't mind—I'll make the town pay mt the full amount, as well as damages for my lost crop."

It Covers Many Pages.

Town Commissioner Chalmers submitted an exhaustive report covering the year's work in all departments under his charge, including the cost. A list of the tools, implements, etc., owned by the town was attached. The report, which was fyled, will be published in The Evening Poet in the course of a few days for the information of the ratepayers.

Doheny Block Assessment.

On motion Mr. J. A. Lang was again heard with reference to his claim that a double assessment of $1000 had been imposed on the premises occupied by the Ontario Bank. In 1890 the premises were assessed for $5.400, and last year $7,000, which valuation had been maintained by the County Judge. He (Mr. Lang) contended that the $1000 placed on Mr. Hughan's premises was an error and contrary to the intention of the Court as Mr. Hughan rented from the bank.

Ald. Jackson took the ground that nothing could be done, the assessment had been confirmed and the Council should abide by the facts.

Arr. Lung—"When I appealed to the Judge I was not aware that Mr. Hughan's sprements as seesed. The $7,000 covers 75 feet, which takes in Hughan's store."

Assessor Flurey was heard and admitted that he had always believed that Hughan's was included in the bank assessment. At Aid. Jackson—"How was it that this year, after the Judge had fixed the assessment at $7.000 you reducted it to $6.500."

Mr. Flurey—"Well, we were convinced that it was too ligh."

The Mayor's Gratuity.

On motion Mayor Ingle hacated the chair, which was taken by Ald. Sinchair, which was taken by Ald. Sinchair, Akd. Jackson then moved, seconded by Ald. Hore, that the usual sum of $100 be granted to Mayor Ingle. Ald. Jackson said it was customary to make such a grant, and his only regret was that they could not afford to make it larger, as Mr. Ingle had worked hard in the interests of the town, and no Mayor had ever presided over the meetings of Council and committees with more fairness and faithfeiness.

Mayor Ingle made a neat reply, in the course of which he mentioned that he had been a resident of Lindsay for almost half a century, and could say that he had helped to build up the town—at least he had furnished the buildings.

The usual grants were then made to the reporters "for their very fairnnd impartial reports of Council and committee meetings." Ald. O'Rielly, being of a mathematical turn of mind, figured that the remuneration was at the rate of 91-2c. for each meeting attended.

The minutes were then read and adopted, after which Council adjourned for the last time in 1901.

LINDSAY, FRIDAY, DEC. 20th, '01

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The total grain crop of Manitoba this year is estimated at 85,179,858 bushels. Of this 50,502,083 is wheat. Canada is not a land of famine.

The Halifax Chronicle very neatly punctures the bubble of spurious loyalty which the tory organs have so laboriously blown. It moots in this way the cry that it is shameful that our government permits Great British to pay any part of the cost of the contingent now, organizing;

Speaking at Guolph Tuesday, Hon. Sydney Fisher said that "the compensatively small Province of Ontario produced the best farmers and the Americans wanted good stock to improve their cattle and horses they cams to Ontario, and when they wanted agricultural instructors for their young men they chose chiefly from the graduates of the Ontario Agricultural College.

In conversation with a reporter of the Toronto Star, Dr. John Potts enlarged on his recent statement that a dying legislature should not take it upon itself to pass a prohibitory measure. He said that he would-personally be in favor of a piebisotte or referendam being 'taken simultaneously with the general election. The general election would draw out a large number of voters. "I would not care," he said, "to see prohibition enacted on a bare majority, because I believe it would be an injury rather than a help to the cause of temperauce."

Mr. A. F. Pirl?, the bright newspaper man of Dundas, in a speech to the Gait Young Liberals the other evening, referred to prohibition, up-holding the right of the people to compel the government to enact and enforce it, if the majority thought it would benefit the country. He suggested that the electors should not with full knowledge of the consequences of their votes. "It would be necessary to compensate the men who would be divested of their property by such a measure, for they have trafficked under the people's anction. The a gan it would man a material decrease in the country's revenue, which would have to be made up in some other form of taxation. But it the people want prohibition they can have it."

In considering this matter calmly, patriotically and loyally we wish to point out, in the first place, to the Opposition "imperialists," who are now so "carnest" that if the present idministration is doing too little for the Empire, it is doing to has done, all that has ever been done. Never before was a doilar of Canada's money devoted to Imperial purposes. The leader of the Opposition is not on record as attering one word in favor of the Canadian contingent, moved the property of the Canadian contingent. Mr. Monk, is on record against it. The leader of the Opposition is not on record as favoring any direct or continuous contribution to imperial defences. His first lieutenant. Monk, is on record against it. The Tesent government has given the people of the United Kingdom a trade preference worth very much more than any direct contribution which it is in a position to make The Opposition are on record against that preference.

THE BEET SUGAR INDUSTRY

The sixe of the bonus demanded from Peterboro by the promoters of the proposed beet sugar factory is of formidable dimensions, and indicates, probably, about the amount that would be asked from Lindsay and the adjoining townships in case we opened negotiatious with the capitalists who are deating with that town. It may be well to give President Moody's ultimatum, as read at the Peterboro meeting on Tuesday last. It was as follows:

To Mayor and Council of Peterboro: Gentlemon,—We have been waitread at th. Petorboro meeting on Tuesday inst. It was as follows:

To Mayor and Council of Peterboro: Gentlemen,—We have been waiting for the government analysis of the sugar beets grown at the different stations in Outario before we would settle where we should build our refinery. The cost of a thousand ton sugar, beet plant with a capacity of this quantity every 24 hours in the eason would be about $750,000. This will require an across of 10,000 acres devoted to the growth of sugar beets, and good rallway facilities for removing the beets to the refinery from outside stations would be necessary. The number of men required is large both in the refinery and field. We are chartered under the Ontario Companies act and are ready for business where the largest and best inducement can be offered. If your municipality feel they can offer a bonns of $00,000 and exemption from taxes for 10 years we would not have any objection to changing our place of operation to your town. We may say objection to changing our place of operation to your town. We may say objection to changing our place of operation to your town. A company willing to invest the enormous sum of $750,000 in a plant will likely give very serious attention to the possibilities for future expansion and to the geographical position of the location could be applied to the first possible and it that founds. Bethe geographical position of the locating point, and if the London Remining Co. pass Lindsay by there may be others ready to freegatize our exceptional advantages. If there is money to be made in the manufacture of beet sugar in Ontacio we think we will be able to secure a factory for tess than $50,000. Christmas Day

Its Early Massacres by the Romans

It is a generally accepted bellef that on the date that we call Christmas day Christ was born. This is questioned by some chroniclers, but the doubt does little harm, says the Brooklyn Eagle. Every one is satisfied to take this date as the nativity of Christ, and it matters little whether it is historically correct or not; one day in the year, it is believed by all good Christians, should be set aside for the celebration of the birth of Jesus of Nazareth, and the 25th of December is as good a day as any on the calendar.

It is necessary to go back to the Roman era to find the first recorded reference to a festival on the date known to us as Christmas day, so that it need not be cause for surprise if through all the past ages the record of the exact day on which Christ was born should have become lost. History tells us that the first feast to be celebrated on the 25th of December was established by Commodus, emperor of Rome, who flourished about 185 years established by Commodus, emperor o Rome, who flourished about 185 year after the birth of Christ.

after the birth of Christ.

After that there are many references to the meetings of the new sect called the Christians, who gathered on this day to celebrate the birth of the God Man. It is not until a century after the time of Commodus that we find a particular reference to the persecution that the Christians underwent at the bands of the paging emperors having hands of the pagan emperors having culminated in a grand Christmas day culminated in a grand Christmas day massacre.

Diocletian was the Roman who decided to celebrate the date by killing off a few Christians. He did so with a vengeance. The most horrible deed perpetrated during the festival was on Christmas day, when the assembled Christians, gathered in their place of meeting, were set upon and slaughtered, while the Romans looked on in great glee at the sight of antipagan people being put to death for their religion's sake.

When Rome was no longer a pagan when Home was no longer a pagan state, the feast began to be celebrated in the Christian style, although some of the songs that were sung and some of the rites of the festival would great-ly shock the strictly orthodox church-goer of the present day. At that time there were no excursion trains to carry those who wished to take part in a public celebration from point to point, and the electric telegraph had not been thought of. Consequently those who celebrated the birth of Christ in early days did so in widely separated countries, sometimes at widely separated periods of time and according to no periods of time and according to no set programme. It was every community for itself, and no one to criticise the others for not being careful about the date.

As a matter of fact, the ancient celebration of Christ's nativity was left entirely to the discretion of the different bodies, and as every community had divergent interests the time was arranged to suit the expensels of the had divergent interests the time was arranged to suit the exigencies of the case. If Christmas day happened to come upon a time when there was too much work to be done to permit of a holiday, then it would be postponed until a more suitable season. Owing to this ladifference to precedents the exact date when the birth of Christ ought to be kept was hopelessly lost. On only one thing were all the ancients agreed—namely, that the festival in commemoration of the birth of Christ ought to be the most magnificent of the year. In some cases it was kept up for days and the meaning of the festival was forgotten long before the revelers returned to their bomes again.

It is interesting to observe that the custom of giving presents at Christmas time, which has survived to this day, was begun in the first days of the Christmas feast. So was the custom that is known as carol singing. The sames of today are based on the event songs of today are based on the event songs of today are based on the eventhat makes Christmas day a time of rejoicing, but at that time they were not overparticular as to the subject chosen by the singers. In fact it would be difficult to find in some of them an excuse for the singing of such ditties at a relivious festical. a religious festival

It is a striking feature of this Christ-It is a striking feature of this Christ-mas celebration that from its earliest recorded history there is no sentiment in connection with it but those of kind-liness and good feeling. However much the old style of celebrating Christmas might be objectionable to the twentieth century critic of orthodox tendencies who frowns at the frivolity of some of the customs, it was always of some of the customs, it was always of some of the customs, it was always at time for the better side of human nature to be exhibited and for people to take gifts to each other in a spirit of peace and good will. This kindly spirit has been maintained until all over the world today it is seen in the merry-making the hampiness conveyed by the making, the happiness conveyed by the glorious institution of Santa Claus, the glorious institution of Santa Claus, the steaming bot dinners presented to the poor, the frolic and the fuumaking in almost every home, and the gathering together for the yearly reunion of those whom circumstances separate for the greater part of the year. May the season never cease to be famous for its power to bring out the better attributes of men and women, as it did of old!

EDITORIAL NOTES.

O'erhaps it would be well to wire Kitchener to leave a few Boors for the Mounted Rifles to bag. It would be discomforting to the boys to ar-rive just as the close season for Boer hunting had been proclaimed.

The St. Louis Exposition management propose to make the principal feature of its show a duplication in steel and staff of the greatest of the Egyptian pyramids. It will be the exact size of the original, will cover forty acres, and contain the largest assembly hall in the world.

Hamilton Times: Aid. Spence, of Toronto, has received a promise from Premier Ross that the Ontario government will hear the Dominion Alliance deputation at an early date. That's all right, if Ross remembers, as he listens, that, all Ontario liberals are not Methodists, and that all Methodists are not prohibition-

The Canadian stockholders in the Sydney Steel Works, including Sena-tor Cox, R. B. Angus and James Ross, have increased their holdings so that they now control the enterprise. There is no suggestion of any misonderstanding with Mr. Whitney, of Boston, who will be replaced in the Presidency by Mr. Ross. It was Mr. Whitney's money that brought Sydney to the Iront, but it is pleasant to think that much of the pro-fit will accrue to Canadians.

wauting in Ontario that many strong prohibition advocates, face to face with the possibility of prohibitory legislation, shrink from the respon-sibility which such legislation will entall. They realize that, to be ef fective, the legislation must be sup-ported by an overwhelming pre-ponderance of active public opinion. The extent and activity of this opinion is the uncortain factor in the

Montreal Witness; Lord Kitchener eports that he has gathered in nearly half a thousand more Boors this week, yet it would seem that their numbers are not appreciably decreased. Were it not for the surrenders of British, the Boers, even though they continued to recruit mon, must soon run short of summanition it would be extracted. nition. It would be extremely inter-ceting should Lord Kitchener tell us what percentage of the rifles cap-tured were Lec-Metfords. We would then have a fair idea to what extent they rely on buried Mauser cart-ridges and to what extent they have to supply themselves from the band-ollers of the British. It is commonly assumed that the large majority of the Boers still in the field have cap-tured their rifles, and that they are consequently entirely dependent on captured ammunition. If such is the case in good purpose is served in

The finding of the Schley court of aquiry could hardly have been more inclusively scathing. The commission finds that the famous loop was made to the disadvantage of his position, to avoid getting into dangerous to the disadvantage of the posteriors to avoid getting into dangerous proximity to the enemy, and at the risk of crossing so closely in front of a vessel of his own line as to force it to reverse its engines. To avoid the control of the control o dangerous proximity is a phrase which does not imply strategy, but caution. It is mild compared with caution if the mild compared with cautin flight, but is not a courradiction of that phrase, which Admiral Sampson had let pass when proof-reading a book on the action. The court finds that Admiral Schlerick. linds that Admiral Schley's conduct was characterized by vacilfith regard to the lack of coal and coaling facilities, which constituted his principal excuse were both inac-curate and misleading. The squabble admiral should be given precedence in advancement, a matter which is unfortunately not settled by this finding. Should any motion be elevation of Admiral Sampson, it is last ditch by the Schley faction.

Second Mounted Rifles. BRITAIN TAKES ANOTHER DRAFT

A Bearer Company of 43 N.C.O. and Men and Five Officers Offered the Mother Country by Hon. Dr. Borden-A Corps of less Trained &couts to Be Sent-Four Men From Ottawa, Dec. 16.—A cablegram received on Saturday ovening from the War Office announced the acceptance of two additional squadrons of Canadian Mounted Riffes, which will bring the total strength of the third contingent up to about 900. The accommodation of the two transports is for 950 non-commissioned officers and men 52 officers and flow warrant officers, with the necessary complement of horses, so that with the six squadrons there will still be accommodation to spare.

Hon. Dr. Borden has accordingly cabled to the War Office an effect osend with the contingent a field hospital or bearer company, to consist of 43 non-commissioned officers and men and five officers. This is a branch of the service which, under the present Minister of Militia, has been brought to an admittedly high state of afficiency, and if the offer is accepted it will mean that a thoroughly competent and fully equipped hospital or bearer corps will accompany the Canadian Mounted Riffes to the field.

Another important adjunct to the force, and one which will enhance its efficiency, has been decided upon by the minister, namely, a corps of ten trained scouts. These will be drawn from the Northwest, where there are scouts in continuous service, who probably cannot be surpassed in any part of the world. ceived on Saturday evening from the scouts in continuous service, who probably cannot be surpassed in any part of the world.

A telegram has reached the Minister of Militia from Dawson, which in indicates a strong desire to serve their King and country on the part of at least four good men in the Yukon. The despatch read that three ex-Mounted Policemen, Coats, McLaughlin and Arnold, and G. B. Stewart, formerly of the New Zeal and Mounted Infantry, had left Dawson on Monday last on foot, intending to walk the 400 miles to White Horse and travel from there to Victoria, B.C., by rail and steamer, 1,000 miles, at their own expense, in the hope of being in time to enlist for service with the Canadian Mounted Riles. The minister was asked if the men might be informed by whre when they reached White Horse that places had been reserved for them on the contingent. Hon. Dr. Borden replied at once that places would be kept open for the four men, as long as possible, and requested that they be instructed to advise the Milital Department by wire was contained. One of the additional squadrons will be exclusively western, recruited between Vancouver and Winnipeg. The other will be raised in Ontario and the east at the several points at which, as in Toronto, recruits offered in excess of the required number at the first enlistment. The names of these latter recruiting stations and the quota from each, will be published shortly.

St. John's, Nidd., Dec. 16. — Mr. Marconi announced Saturday night the most wonderful discovery of modern times, in stating that he had received electric signals across the Atlantic Ocean from his station in Cornwall, England. He explains that before leaving England he had made his plans for accomplishing this result.

Last Monday he cabled the Poldhu station to begin sending signals at 3 p.m. daily, and to continue them until 6 p.m., those hours being respectively 11.30 a.m. to 2.30 p.m. St. John's time. During these hours Wednesday Mr. Murconi elevated a kite with an aerial wire by means of which signals are sent or received. He remained at the recorder attached to the receiving apparatus, and, to his profound satisfaction, signals were received by him at intervals, according to the program arranged previously with the operator at Foldhu. These signals consisted of repeating at intervals the letter "s," which, in Marconi's code, is made by three dots, or quick strokes. This signal was repeated so frequently, and according to the detailed plan arranged to provide safeguards against possibility of a mistake, that Mr. Marconi was satisfied that it. until 6 p.m., these hours being respectively 11.30 a.m. to 2.30 p.m.

Again on Thursday, during the same hours, the kite was elevated that Mr. Marconi cabled to his principals in England, and also informed the Governor of Newfoundland. Sir Cavendish Boyle, who apprised the British Cabinet of the success of the experiments.

Five men were in the engine room when the explosion took place. They were unable to get out of the door, and P. A. Knight, being near the window, burst it open. Three escaped through the broken window, and two perished in the flames.

SELLING IRON IN ENGLAND.

London, Dec. 16.—The Dominion Iron Company of Canada is now apparently well established in this country. Numerous orders already been placed with the Newfoundland Iron, some of which it is unable to execute. Its iron is rapidly competing with the Scotch and Middlesboro classes, being ranked equal to Scotch low grade, while it is cheaper and better than Middlesboro. The latest order comes from Messrs. Stewart, the great Glasgow pipe makers. The contract is for 200,000 tons and the price enables them to compete successfully with the German pipe makers.

Fenlans at Bottom of It,

New York, Dec. 16.—The presence of private detectives searching the piers when the trans-Atlantic liners reached here yesterday, disclosed the fact that they were anxious to apprehend several men suspected of being the authors of the explosion and fire which wrecked the Exchange buildings and Liverpool Town Hall. Several of the Etruria's passengers, who visited the scene of the explosion and fire, say that Superintendent Thomas of the fire brigade told them that the Exchange was destroyed by an infernal machine. He charged that Fenians were at the bottom of the conspiracy.

London, Dec. 16.—The delay in the publication of the returns from the concentration camps for October and November, issued Saturday, was apparently due to the Government's desire. to accompany the announcement of the pitiably high death rate with some kind of official explanation. The Blue Book shows 3,156 deaths of whites in October, of which number 2,633 were children; 2,807 deaths of whites in November, 2,271 being children. This makes the total number of deaths for the last six months 13,941, or a death rate approximating 253 per year per 1,000. Among the colored prisoners there were 1,308 deaths in two months.

He formed up his squad and marched them down to the spot where the tramps had detrained and hidden themselves. On the approach of the soldlers the tramps scattered, only to find themselves targets for some rifle practice which the hardy sons of Victoria county had hardly expected when they left their native lairs around the Kawartha Lakes and Cobocouk. It augured ill for their success at the rifle butts that not a tramp was hit by the flying bullets. However, two of the sons of rest were captured, and two more gathered in later as they were boarding departing freights, while the effectives also found several revolvers which they had thrown away in their flight from Major Sam's cohorts. ronto Star man some incidents of

Of beer our consumption has about doubled in a quarter of a century, but it is only a tithe of what it is in the United Kingdom, Germany and the United States, where bour is the staple drink, and it is considerably less than in France, where the great mass of the people lave wine as their stock beverage. Here are the deures: the figures:

United States is 93. 23.27.000 13.3

The consumption por head in the United States is only half that of Germany, which in turn is less than that of the United Kingdom. In each of the three southern states of Germany, however, Bavaria, Wurtemburg and Badea, the consumption per head is greater than in the United Kingdom. Of other countries not included here, Belgium leads with a consumption in 1890 of nearly 47 gallons per head, which, however, falls short of the Bavarian consumption of 54 gallons per head, which, however, falls short of the Bavarian consumption of 54 gallons per head. Nearly all these figures show evidence of a tendency to increase in recent years. In Great Britain the average consumption was, roughly, 27 gallons per head, remaining at or near this point up to 1895. Beside this consumption, Canada's figure is very small.

An Excellent Showing

Au Excelient Showing.

Weekly Sun, Toronto: The report of the Postmastor-General for the fiscal year anding June 30 is a nost creditable one. The deficit, it is true, still continues, but Mr. Mulock has succeeded in making it much smaller than it was when the postal rate on letters was fifty per cent higher than it is to-day. This is a remarkable achievement and one for which Mr. Mulock is entitled to the fullest credit. When the reduction in postage was announced we took the ground that those who use the malls should pay for the service rendered to them, and that it was unfair that the general public should be taxed in order that others maight have letters carried at less than cost. We hold the same ground to-day, but we have no hesitation in saying that a two cent rate with a small defail is infinitely proferable to a three cent been the establishment of the postal cote system, which has greatly facilitated the remittance of small sums of money.

The Presentations.

Towards the close of the evening's anusements, the President of the Literary Society, Mr. F. W. Routley, asked Mr. Broderick to take the seat of honor in the midst of the students. Miss Kellie V. It is with mixed feelings of joy and sadness that we meet here to-night; of joy becouse, as a school we are once more re-united -, this time to enjoy a pleasant evening, and receive mutual inspiration for our future work; and of sadness, withal in that we are well, aware that it is probably the last time we will meet together as a Model School Principal Broderick's Reply.

In reply Mr. Broderick said be would not state in the commonplace manner that the presentation was altogether unexpected, as ha had been placed in the same position several times before by the students and was beginning to know the symptoms in the site of the words so kindly spoken of him, but that the success of the Model School of 1903 was in a great part due to the kindness and consideration of the Model students towards him. He repeated, as he did at the beginning of the term, that teaching was a sacred work, with a responsibility that angels might besitaat to undertake, and fraught with many difficulties

Mr. Routley their replied that he was sure that sace Modellite had reselved, as he had, the very greatest sensit, not along from the instruction in teaching given, but the address which Mr. Browled Had so houghtfully silven than during the action of the hoofest successfully silven than during the cerm. A December Drive

Lindsay Poultry on Top.

Mr. D. C. Trew, our successful poul-try fancier, won fresh laurels at the Guelph Fat Stock and Poultry Show last week. He had entered a number last week. He had entered a number of his choice Houdans, but when he reached Guelpi and learned that there were about 3000 entries in all the classes, including prize birds from all over Ontario, the North-West, the Marttime provinces, and the United States, he almost despaired of even getting favorable mention. But his success was remarkable. He was awarded let and 3rd prizes for Houdan hens, let and 2nd for pair of cockerels, let and 3rd for pulsets, 2nd for cockerel, and a special prize for the best display of Houdans made by any breeder in the province. Mr. Trew's fowl outclassed several of the 7nn. American winners, and as a result he made a number of very profitable sales.

The Oldest Flag.

We often talk affectionately of the British flag as "the flag that's braved a thousand years the battle and the breeze." But we entirely forget that the Union Jack in its present form only dates from 1801. Other flags of great nations are also very opted in 1794; the Spanish flag, as at present displayed, in 1785; whilst the German and Italian banners are no older than the present adminis tration of those countries. Curious ly enough, the oldest flag belongs to the youngest nation. The Unit-ed States adopted their present flag as long ago as June 14th, 1777, and the only change in it since has been the addition of a new star for every new State added to the Union.

A LIBERAL FIELD DAY

A VERY POPULAR CANDIDATE.

Bon, W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance Delivers a Rousing Address Showing Canada's Prespectity-The Dominion Under Sir Wilfrid Laurier Had Five Years of Pence-Crowded Mass Bleeting.

Bowmanville, Dec. 11 .- The Liber als of West Durham had a veritable field day here yesterday. In the af-ternoon Mr. Robert Beith, ex-M. P., field day here yesterday. In the afternoom Mr. Robert Betth, ox-M. P., was nominated at an enthusiastic and united convention to bear the Liberal banner in the bye-election for the seat made vacant by the voiding of Mr. Thornton's election for bribery by agents. Last night at a crowded mass meeting in the Town Hall Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance; Mr. Wm. Ross, M.P. for South Ontario, and Mr. Betth delivered rousing speeches, setting forth the record of the Laurier Administration. Bowmanville's factories work until 9 o'clock at night in an effort to keep up with their orders, and after a fourteen hours' day most of us would prefer to rest, but last night many of the workmen from the Dominion Organ Factory and the Rubber Works came to the hall, and, crowding into the doorways and Council Chamber, stood during Mr. Fielding's address. Neither the meeting nor the convention could possibly have been more successful or more encouraging to Mr. Beith. At the convention a resolution of condeince with Mr. Blair was adopted, and a reference at last night's meeting to the dual tragedy of the Of sympathy and love, Amid the charished friends of earth, Ere they are called above. How many burdened hearts are here conductors with Bir. Bir was adopted, and a reference at last night's that showed how deeply the heroic death of young Harper and Miss Blair has impressed the people of Ontario. The kindly words you mean to say When they are dead and gone Speak now, and fill their souls with

Mr. Fielding was received with more than the usual applause, for he has been heard here before. He spoke of the ability of Mr. Beith, saying that there was not in the spoke of the ability of Mr. Beith, saying that there was not in the House a man who was more esteemed and respected by his friends, and more readily and attentively listened to when he had anything to say in the councils of his country. (Cheers.) Under the leadership of Air Wilfrid Laurier we had had five years of peace in this country. He contrasted the condition of the country to-day with that when the Manitoba school guestion caused dissension throughout Canada. Now under Sir Wilfrid Laurier's wise and statesmanlike rule that guestion was so completely lost sight of that they might ask him why he recalled it. We had had five years of prosperity unexampled in the history of Canada. In fluetration of this statement he quoted the figures of the increase in the aggregate trade of Canada. In the eighteen years of Conservative rule the aggregate foreign trade increase of only $66,000,000 in 1878 to $239,000,000 in 1896, an increase of only $60,000,000 in sighteen years. Under the Liberal Government and policy in five years under Conservative rule of $31,700,000, or an average annual increase under Conservative rule of $30,700,000 and under Liberal rule of $30,700,000 and under Liberal rule of $30,500,000. Taking the imports, the figures were $19,000,000 increase in eighteen years under Conservative rule of the years in eighteen years under Conservative rule and $70,000,000 in frease in eighteen years under Conservative rule of the years in eighteen years under Conservative rule and $70,000,000 in frease in eighteen years under Conservative rule and $70,000,000 in frease in eighteen years under Conservative rule and $70,000,000 in frease in eighteen years under Conservative rule and $70,000,000 in frease in eighteen years under Conservative rule and $70,000,000 in frease in eighteen years under Conservative rule of the figures were $19,000,000 in frease in eighteen years under Conservative rule of $9,000,000 in frease in eighteen years under Conservative rule of $9,000,000 in frease in eighteen years under Conserva in eighteen years under Conservative rule and $70,000,000 in five years under Liberal rule. In exports the rule and $70,000,000 in five years under Liberal rule. In exports the trade in eighteen years under Conservative rule was $41,000,000, and in five years under Liberal administration $67,000,000. Under Conservative rule the exports increased $2,300,000 a year and under Liberal rule $13,500,000. In manufactures the increase in exports in eighteen years of Conservative rule was $5,000,000, and in five years of Liberal rule $6,300,000. Whether they looked at the trade of Canada generally or at the particular interest of manufacturers, in either case they had five years of successful business operations, for which in some measure at least they would give the Government credit. Then they had had five years of great financial prosperity, having regard to the Government of the Dominion. In the five years of Liberal administration there had been an average surplus of $4,000,000,000 a year.

The Conservatives charged that the

The Conservatives charged that the Liberals lad added to the debt of the country, but they must compare these additions with the additions made by the Conservatives to the debt. The Liberals had added some $2,000,000 a year to the debt, but the Conservative Government had added an average of $6,000,000 a year during the whole eighteen years of their term of office. He defended the Government from the charges of extravagant expenditure. Some of the expenditure, which was not greater in proportion to population than that of the previous Governments, did not add a cent to the taxation of the country. This was the case with that of the previous Governments, did not add a cent to the taxation of the country. This was the case with $5,000,000 spont on the Yulton, and the additional capital invested in the Intercolonial. When the Opposition allowed 99 per cent. of the Government's estimates to pass unchallenged, it was too late for them to charge the Government with extravagance. So far from making any effort in the House to keep down the expenditure, the Conservatives had constantly urged greater outlays. One member had demanded the double-tracking of the Intercolonial, which would cause an additional outlay of one million dollars. Then Mr. Monk had complained because they had not spent a million more on the improvement of the St. Lawrence roure, ann no cia not anow much to send somebody out to look for the north pole. The two members for Toronto had urged the deepening of Toronto had urged the Government should purchase all of the rallways of the country. In the whole five years there had not been one earnest effort by the Conserva-tives to secure retrenchment. Then, under Liberal administration, there had been five years of magnificent devalopment of Inipertal sentiment, In this connection Mr. Fleiding enlarged upon the part that Canada had played in fighting the battles of the Empire, contrasting it with Sir Charles Tupper's declaration that in building the Intercolonial and the C.

As Hon. Thomas Greenway entered the hall three cheers were called for Manitoba's grand old man. Other prominent Liberals were welcomed with applause.

Tribute to Mr. Greenway At the afternoon meeting Mr. T. C. Norris. member for Lansdowne, made an excellent speech, and moved the following resolution: "This convention desires to express its profound sense of the great services given to Manitoba and the Liberal party by Hon. Thomas Oreenway during his twenty-two years of public life in the Provincial Legislature. The record of his Government was a record cord of his Government was a record of economy, careful legislation and just administration, and this conven-just administration, and this convention desires to express its confidence that the Liberal party, with Mr. Greenway at its head, will again give to the Province another period of wise and good government."

Chairman Bole then put the resolution, and amid most rousing and enthusiastic cheering, Mr. Greenway. Manitoba's grand old man, stepped on the platform just as the resolution was carried unanimously by a standing vote.

Mr. Greenway's Reply.

The cheering continued so that at first Mr. Greenway could not be heard. He said that he had thought The cheering continued so that at first Mr. Greenway could not be heard. He said that he had thought he was out of politics, and had enjoyed the freedom from the worry and excitement of political life during the past year. He thought his friends were fully seized of his intentions to retire, and he was surprised to find that they wanted him for leader. A man were not human who did not appreciate the enthusiasm and efforts of such a convention and the resolution asking him to be leader. He did not think he was the man they wanted; they must remember he was not so young as he was after 22 years of political life; he had not such ambitions as he formerly had; there was nothing in politics for him, and they must not expect so much from him as formerly. He then referred to the planks of the Liberal party, and said that it was a matter of great pride that the party had made an honest endeavor to carry out every plank. He felt that, when political prejudices were laid aside, the impartial historian of the future would say that the Greenway Government was the best that had ever existed in a Canadian Province. (Great applause.) If the people were satisfied with the present Administration he would not complain, but what had it done for the Province? Not one plank of the Conservative platform had been carried out. Yes, there was one, over which he imagined the present Ministers had formed a mutual admiration society, and this was the prohibition bill. Ooncluding, Mr. Greenway said he would do all he could to help the Liberal party to redeem itself in Manitoba. He could not do it alone, or to the same extent as of old. The admirable speeches of the younger men whe had just preceded him. Manitoba. He could not do it alone, or to the same extent as of old. The admirable speeches of the younger men who had just preceded him showed that they were enthusiastic workers. The Consorvative party had got hold, and it was not to be rooted cut very easily. The people must be educated. The additional taxes imposed the last two years were doing that. He referred to the present Provincial franchies act as simply ridiculous in a British country. Mr. Greenway sat down amidst a burst of applause which brought every one to his feet.

THE RESOLUTIONS PASSED.

The Convention Deployes the Introduct of the Spoils System by the Present Conservative Government-Grain dorsed-The Registration Act

Winnipeg, Dec. 13.—The Provincial iberal convention closed yesterday

"(1) That this convention regrets the introduction into the Province by the present Provincial Administration of the spoils system.
"(2) This convention reaffirms and endorses the principle of menhood suffrace—one man one vote—as laid down in the platform of the Association of Manitoba Liberals in 1886, and while we do not disagree with the policy of refusing to extend the franchise to foreigners, wholly unacquainted with our language and institutions, until after a period of probation, we protest against the action of the present Conservative Government of Manitoba in discriminating against particular nationalities.

"(8) Resolved, that the present grain blockade will cause a very serious loss to the farmers and business community of the Province. It is, therefore, in the best interests of the country at large that the Governments, both of this Province and of the Dominion should take such steps as will as far as possible relieve the present existing conditions, to the end that such amendment should be made to existing legislation as will provide for a better supply of rolling stock and a more equitable distribution thereof, so that every possible facility may be afforded to the farmers of this Province for the transportation of their grain.

"(4) This convention condemns the action of the present Local Government in romoving from municipalities the right to tax railway corporations. We also condemn the provisions of the taxation act which deprives municipalities of the 8 per cent. gross earnings, as provided by the railway add act of 1885.

"(5) Whereas, owing to the lack of Inspection Act.

"(5) Whereas, owing to the lack of information respecting the provisions of the inspection act, great losses are incurred by farmers in the marketing of their crops, it is resolved that copies of the said act and elevator act should be distributed.

keting of their crops, it is resolved that copies of the said act and elevator act should be distributed as widely as possible, and the clauses especially affecting the grading of grain at the point of delivery should be required to be posted up in every elevator licensed under the act.

"(6) That the system of registration of voters, provided by the Manitoba election act at the last session of the Legislature, is cumbersome, expensive and defective, and by compelling the personal attendance of electors in order to secure registration on the list of electors, many persons will be prevented from making application to be entered as voters, and will be deprived of the franchise that belongs to them as citizens of this Province.

"(7) Resolved, that the formation of a Provincial Liberal platform be referred to the Provincial Council, acting in conjunction with the leader of the party."

Admiral Dewey sustains him in most particulars.

The majority opinion finds in brief that Admiral Schley should have proceeded with the utmost despatch to Cienfuegos and maintained a close blockade, that he should have endeavored to have obtained information of the Spanish squadron there; that he should have proceeded to Santiago with despatch; that he should not have made the retrograde movement; that he should have obeyed the Department's orders; that he should have endeavored to capture the Spanish vessels in Santiobeyed the Department's orders; that he should have endeavored to capture the Spanish vessels in Santiago; that he did not do his utmost to destroy the Colon; that he caused the squadron to lose distance in the loop of the Brooklyn; that he thereby caused the Texas to back; that he did injustice to Hodgson; that his conduct in the campaign was characterized by vacillation, dilatoriness and lack of enterprise; that his official reports on the coal supply were misleading and inaccurate; that his conduct during the battle was self-possessed, and that he encouraged in his own person his subordinates, both officers and men.

Admiral Dewey in his report says that the passage to Clentuegos was made with all despatch; that in view of his coal supply the blockade of Cienfuegos was effective; that he allowed the Adula to enter Cienfuegos to get information; that his passage to Santiago was with as much despatch as possible, keeping the squadron together; that the blockade off Santiago, in absolute command, and entitled to the credit due for the glorious victory, which resulted in the total destruction of the Spanish ships.

He seems to like Moccasins, Rubbers, Hockey and Skating Boots for the Boys. Somebody must have told him where to get them. For the Big Boys he goes for Travelling Bags, Suit Cases and Coo. A. Slater shoes. The dear Ciris, he has a terrible time about them, guess there must be more girls than boys for the girls' bag is biggest by far. Pretty Red Slippers, kid Shoes with beads and high heels, Overstockings with Rubbers and long teggings and big Trunks that cost ten dollars and such like he says are none too good for the dear girls. Crandmas and Crandpas he says must be warm, so for them be takes warm soft shoes and Slippers with red lining. For Mother a pair of Empress Boots will be as fine as silk and for Dad he says a pair of heavy Calf Boots with Rubber Soles for Curling in can't be beat.

Force Brokes Up.

London, Dec. 13.—The War Office issued a statement last night dealing with the Boer treatment of Col. Benson's wounded at Brakenhagte, which is the result of special investigation of the matter instituted by Lord Kitchener.

The statement sets forth that 18 officers and men of Col. Benson's command were kindly and even carefully treated by the Boers.

These latter said the unarmed and wounded men fying around the guns wore killed at close range, and that the survivors of the engagement suffered torture, being robbed and stripped of their clothing, in spite of their wounds and broken limbs.

Lord Kitchener says that, evidently, the Boer leaders are no longer able to repress murder and outrage on the part of their subordinates.

Dealing with present aspects of the war, Mr. Brodrick said Boers had accepted parole and broken it, and that there would be no repetition of such leniency. Within recent weeks, Boer commanders had shown less regard for the laws of war than 'previously, added the speaker, and these bandits would before long reach a crisis when they could no longer be treated as beligerents.

The speaker said the Government was for no half measures in securing a settlement, and that any fresh negotiations must emanate from the Boers.

British Had Shown Sympathy.

Buda Posth, Dec. 13.—Replying in the Hungarian Diet yesterday to a demand that the shipment of horses from Hungary to South Africa be stopped for the ground that it constituted a violation of Hungarian neutrality, the Premier, Koloman de Szell, declared that the question whether, in international law, horses were regarded as war material, and that to supply them constituted a violation of neutrality, had never yet been decided, hence the Government had not stopped, and did not intend to stop, the traffic. While fully sympathizing with the Boers, said the Premier, the questioner ought to have realized the impropriety of abusing the British, who, in different times, had shown their sympathy for Hungary. Toronto, Dec. 11. — The second day's recruiting for the new Canadian mounted corps was marked by as much, or even more enthusiasm than on the opening day. Those who were told on Monday to be on hand again yesterday morning were there bright and early, but most of them found that this was only a polite way of refusing their application, as very few of these were called yesterday. The total number of those sworn in so far is 31, of these 23 have seen active service in South Africa.

Yosterday's proceedings were marked by many incidents pathetic and humorous. "Happy" McIroy, a South African veteran, was sworn in on Monday, and yesterday, his wife of only two months, called on Col. Otter, and with tears in her eyes asked him to reject her husband. As McIroy has been sworn in this will be a difficult thing to do, and the Colonel could not give her any definite assurance.

One young fellow, with no previous military experience, but who had a local reputation as a boxer, was most earnest in his desire to cnlist, and on being told that his constitution would not stand the rigors of a campaign in South Africa, he exclaimed with warmth that he would like to see the man in the building who could stand up in front of him for five minutes. Although he stood 6 feet 2 inches in height the Colonel did not deem it advisable to pass him.

Marconi Replies to Wizard of Menlo Park on His New Role.

TELEGRAPH CO. CLAIM MONOPOLY

Serves Marconi With Notice to Leave Newfoundland-Discoverer of Wire-less Telegraphy Pleased With This Little Attention-Maintains That His Results Are Absolutely Genuine-Cabled to King.

London, Dec. 17.—A cable patch has been received here St. John's, Mid., announcing Signor Marconi will sail for land Dec. 19. At the headquarters land Dec. 19. At the headquarters here of the inventor of wireless tole graphy, it was said yesterday by the officials in charge, that the periment at St. John's, so far they know, are all over. They do not expect to hear any further details until Signor Marconi arrives in London. It was pointed that storms on both sides of the Atlantic had seriously interfered with the work.

Absolutely Genuine.

Absolutely Genuine.

St. John's, Nild., Dec. 19.—Owing to fog and rain, Marconi was unable to swing his kites in mid-air yesterday. He went to Cape Spear to determine on the fitness of that premonitary for the wireless telegraphy station. The inventor will use a mast 200 feet high.

Marconi, while at Cape Spear, on being telephoned the newspaper reports that Thomas Edison discredited the announcement of signals having been received here last week from Cornwall, replied that the signals were received by himself, and added that they were absolutely genuine.

Further, Gov. Boyle, at Marconi's request, has cabled the fact to King Edward.

Notified to Quit.

Notified to Quit.

St. John's, Nild., Dec. 17.— Marconi has just returned here from Cape Spear, where he experienced poor luck. The weather was rendered extremely unpleasant by fog, wind and a rainstorm, and the inventor was nable to decide upon a site for his proposed station.

On returning here from Cape Spear Marconi was served with legal documents from the solicitors of the Anglo-American Telegraph Company, Angle-American Telegraph Company, notifying him that the said comnotifying him that the said company possesses an exclusive monopoly of the telegraph business within Newfoundland and its dependencies, and demanding that he cease his experiments and remove his apparatus forthwith, else the company would apply to the Supreme Court for an injunction restraining him from further trials.

Marconi has not yet decided as to what course of action he will fake in this matter. But he regards this action on the part of the Anglu-American Telegraph Co. as the best proof of the importance of his new discovery.

New York, Dec. 17.—The Cunarder Etruria, which has just arrived here, was in communication for more than five hours in mid-ocean with her sister ship the Umbria. The position of each ship was known to the other hours before their main decks showed above the horizon.

Many Windsor People Had to Go Without

Windsor, Dec. 17.—The natural gas in Windsor ceased to flow at 7 o'clock yesterday moraing, and many persons were compelled to go without breakfast.

Windsor hardware dealers were deing a land office business all morning. The call for stoves was incessant, and express wagons had to be impressed to make deliveries.

Dr. King, manager of the United Gas and Oil Company, said that there was no other reason to give for the low pressure than that the wells were becoming exhausted. He does not look for any increase in the flow so long as the cold snap continues.

WRITTEN A FEW DAYS BE-FORE HIS DEATH IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Was Looking Forward to a Permanent Appointment, but Wished for the Presence of the Dear Ones at Home. The following letter from the late Mex. Skinner, of the Scots' Rallway Guards, South Africa, to his father, Mr. Alex. Skinner, of the north ward, will possess a melancholy interest for many friends of the deceased in this town and county. The letter is this town and county. The letter is Pudmore, Nov. 6th, 1901.

My Dear Father,—Three weeks have slipped rapidly past since I wrote last, and in that time I have had a letter from Florence and one from yourself, dated 24th September, My note paper ran out between what I used myself and gave to courades who had none, so have lad to wait until a fresh supply came in.

There has not been much going on at this station since I wrote you last; just the same routine of camp life except one skirmish with the Boers in which we lose one of the men stationed here, a French-Canadian called Canther. All available men from this station, Da Beers' Holt, and Dryharts, besides 60 from near Kimberley, collected at Brussels, and after an all-night march struck the Boers at daylight. After capturing about 800 cattle we started on our roturn to Brassels, and it was then that poor Gunther was hit in the spine and mortally wounded. We had to carry him about half a mile, under a lively fire, to our ambulance, and for a few minutes it seemed like real war again. Altogether 22 were hit, three of whom were killed.

I have received another letter from Fretoria, which although it gives no definite promise, makes it sure that my application will be considered "at the proper time," and may mean a good appointment. In the march with the war is over to be entrusted with some position in which I can use what abilities I have, not only for my own benefit, but to help, however humbly, in the firm establishment of "poace and cood will on earth" in this unfortunate and war-distracted land.

The McAil Missionary Society

The annual meeting of the McAll Missionary Society was held Dec. 12th in the Baptisti church. A large authence showed their sympathy with the society by being present and by in observation at the close of the meeting. The society has been endeavoring to ruise $100 in Linda fiberal collection at the close of the meeting. The sectlety has been endeavoring to raise $100 in Lindsay during the past year, and were still son's $30 below the merk until last evening, when they hoped to raise the balance. Bev. Mr. Hugheson occupied the oludir and spoke cry appreciatively of the work of the ladies of Lindsay in this society. Rev. Mr. Maemilian gave, the annual address on "Rollglous Life in France." He gave a very interesting and able resume of the history of French Protestantism, and indicated some of the present phases of the Protestant situation in France. The first structure of the present phases of the present phases of the protestant situation in France, hards left on him soveral rollgious impressions—lack of seriousness, a grasp of the mindame virtues, as thrift, sobriety, etc. chivalry, but intermixed with love of glory, inflammability. The great graceyard of Paris is filled with tombelones with pions inscriptions; so much so that he felt that "whetever the Parisian was when he was alive, he was extremely religious when he was acad." A vote of thrusk war moved in terms of high pealse by Rev. Mr. Manning and seconded by Mr. J. R. McNeille, Miss Lenry and Mr. J. Parnell Morris song during the evening and were much appreciated.

COL. EVANS OFF FOR HALIFAX

by Commander of Second Mounted Riffes-Names of the Eleven Ad-ditional Officers Forwarded to the War Office - The Field Bos-

Ottawa, Dec. 17.-It appears that one whole squadron of the Canadian Mounted Rifles, and not merely ten men, will act as scouts under the command of Lieut. Casey Callaghan formerly of Toronto. The story that ten special scouts were to be chosen arose from the fact that ten pack-saddles have been ordered for the squadron of scouts. The pack-saddles placed on led horses will enable the men on scouting duty to take along three or four days' provisions per man. The western contingent passed through the city about midnight. Col. Evans leaves here at 4 o'clock this afternoon for Halifax. The commander of the Mounted Rifles has performed an enormous amount of work in connection with the organization of the force, and has been haunted by newspaper men anxious for the intest news, but has, notwithstanding, preserved his wonted geniality. The War Office has not yet approved of the names of the officers cabled over a week ago. Yesterday the names of these recommended for the cleven additional commissions were submitted to His Excellency. Col, Macdonald stated last night that the bulk of the stores intended for the regiment had been shipped to Halifax. The balance will be sent with the least possible delay. RIGHT OF TRANSFER. Ottawa Jury Gave Suitor $100 and Price

Ottawa, Dec. 17.—Judge McTavish and the jury in the County Court yesterday decided a suit involving the right of a passenger on a street railway to transfer at any point on the line. The case was that of Porter versus Ottawa Electric Railway Company. Plaintiff having secured on Rideau street a transfer to Bank, got off the Rideau street car at the corner of Rideau and Sussex, five blocks on the rear side of the transfer point, which is at Sparks and Bank. A minute later he boarded a Bank street car at the corner of Rideau and Sussex, and tendered his transfer slip. The conductor refused to accept it, as it was not a transfer point for that line, and, laying his hand on the passenger's shoulder, ordered him off the car. Porter paid another five, under protest, and took action against the company for assault and damages. The jury awarded him $100 for assault, and held he was entitled to damages in five cents. the price of his second Ottawa, Dec. 17 .- Judge McTavish awarded him $100 for assault, and held he was entitled to damages in five cents, the price of his second ticket. Warfare"-General Election Won by Miarepresentation-Proposals For Peace Should Come From the Boers. Chesterfield, Eng., Dec. 17 .- Lord Rosebery's long expected and much heralded speech, delivered here last night, was received with much enthu-siasm by an immense crowd. It can hardly be said to have thrown much light along the pathway of the Lib-

Resolved into its elements, the speech merely said: "Get together."
The speaker himself confessed that he did not pretend to say how this cohesion should be accomplished.
The tenor of the former Premier's speech was that the Ministry was wrong, but the Liberals should be very careful how they tried to set it right.

Concerning the Government's conduct of the war, Lord Rosebery was severe and scornful.
He was particularly sarcastic at the expense of the explanation of the Earl of Halsbury, the Lord Chancellor, that only a "sort of warfare" was now going on, and he strongly condemned the scandalous misrepresentations by which the Government had precipitated the last general election.

Lord Rosebery strongly blamed the had precipitated the last general election.

Lord Rosebery strongly blamed the Government for the tactlessness, which had produced unparalleled ill-will toward Great Britain in every European population, and which he attributed largely to the provocative oratory of Mr. Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary.

Whits he was emphatic on the necessity of vigorously prosecuting the was, and in expressing the fullest confidence in Lord Kitchener, Lord Rosebery said he thought the Government should be prepared to listen to peace overtures, and contended there was nothing degrading or abasing in recognizing the exiled Boer Government for the purpose of making peace.

Lord Rosebery said so sane Boer now hoped for anything but annexation, and for many reasons it was urgent that the war should be ended. The Boer should not be unnecessarily humiliated. To the Boers swearing allegiance, he would give the largest possible amnesty and the fullest civil rights.

Scornfully rejecting the idea that such an Empire as Britain could not provide an alternative Government to the existing ministry, he said if that were true the nation was more fitted to control a cabbage den than an empire.

In conclusion, amid loud cheers. Lord Rosebery declared his services were at the disposal of the country in anything he could do to further the policy he had just expounded.

Lord Rosebery spoke for almost two hours, and was received throughout with the greatest enthusiasm.

London, Dec. 17.—The Movement on foot to secure the recall of Lord Kitchener has been noiseless but persistent, and has lately been sufficiently well known to cause much irritation to his friends and admirers, who include a majority of the English people. MURDER OR SUICIDE?

W. G. Urlin Found Dead in a Hon Coop at Dutton Early on Sanday-Brother-in-Law's Revolver by Blm.

Dutton, Dec. 17.—At about eight o'clock Sunday morning William G. Uriln was found dead in a hen coop in the rear of his residence. The circumstances were such that Dr. Ling, coroner, deemed it necessary to hold an inquest, which was opened yesterday morning.

Deceased was 48 years old, and was at one time a member of the firm of Uriln Bros., who carried on a general store in this place. He was out of employment for a few-come despondent. Nothing was seen of him by his own family after Saturday evening, until his body was found in the hen coop.

A peculiar circumstance is that two bullets were found back of the right ear. Some physiciams say that a man could not shoot self twice. Other remarkable facts are that the skin was not burned, indicating that the shots were not shot at close range, and no shots were heard, although the family were up all night.

A revolver belonging to Albert Hertel, his brother-in-law, was found close by where the body was lying when found. Three chambers were empty; and two were loaded when found the revolver was found. The deceased leaves a wife and four chil-empty; and two were loaded the revolver was found. The decased leaves a wife and four children. A. D. Urlin, who keeps Queen's Hotel, is a brother.

The inquest was opened last evening before Coroner Ling of Dutton, County Crown Attorney Donahue was present to represent the Crown, C. St. Clair Leitch of Dutton, the family, and W. L. McLaws of Thomas. Frivate parties. After hearing the evidence of Albert Hertel, who found the body, the quest was adjourned till next Monday.

STABBED 80 PERSONS.

Kiel, Dec. 17.—The curious and unaccountable attacks on pedestrians in the streets of Kiel at night have now assumed an acute phase.

For some time past an unknown individual has stabbed unoffending women, under cover of darkness, until it became dangerous for any female to be about after nightfall. Over 80 were injured, more or Jess seriously. Within the last few days the attacks on women have ceased, and were injured, more or less seriously. Within the last few days the attacks on women have ceased, and men have been the victims.

An extraordinary thing about the mystery is that some restrelously sharp instrument must be used, because the men — even the strong and healthy men—do not seem to know that they are wounded until several minutes after the attack. They notice the loss of blood, and then find that they have been stabbed in three or four places.

A sailor who had been thus attacked caught his assailant and soundly thrashed him, only to find, after he had let him go, that he had been thrice stabbed.

The police have been reinforced, and several Berlin detectives have arrived here but the miscreant has not yet been discovered.

Altogether it is computed that over 80 persons have been stabbed.

Truly a Narrow Escape.

Brockville, Dec. 17.—Mrs. Henry Warren and her two daughters narrowly escaped being run over by a train on the Brockville and Westport Railway last night. Church Notes

The Iker. Salem G. Bland, Ottawa, in a recent sermon took as his text. "What Israel ought to do," and, applying it to the Methodist church, discussed what that organization ought to do, to take its proper place as a church of Christ. Methodism was, he said, originally organized, not as a church but as a society, it had grown into a church. The difference between a church and a society was that a society was that a society was a man-made institution, which could make its own rules, while a church had no right to make rules except such as were indisputably, lad down in the bible. Judged in this way there was no true church among the organized churches because all had rules which shut out from their membership persons whom they admitted to be christians, thus assuming to set up a higher standard than Christ himself. Among the Congregations perfect in this respect, but the Roman Catholics and Anglicans required too many beliefs, the Presbyterians were too strict in their doctrines, and the Baptists in their entrance acremonles. The Methodist church had erred to keeping its rules, which were fitting for a seciety, but not for a church, and by which, even children brought up in the church are often excluded from it. This was worse in the last generation, when five children of Methodists were lost for every convert won from outside. The children are now too many to be thrown away

Why the Plant is Costly.

Of fate we have leard a good deal about beet-sugar facturies and the one thing more than any other which bas struck the most of us has been the immense cost of the plant. From half a million to $800,000 that it costs to build and equip a factory seems a vari sum to spend for the carrying out of a simple process. No one who has seen one of these factories will wonder at their costlines. They are immense structures of brick, with steel framework and cement floors, scarcally any wood being used in their construction. The costly wats and evaporating pans, diffusion cells, carries, driers, etc., are all on a rigantic scale.

How, Sugar is Made.

There are three main divisions in a segar factory; the best sheels, the factory proper, and the lime kiin, in some cases there is a fourth—a cooper shop, where the sugar barrels are made. Usually each of those divisions is in a separate building, with several driveways, on either side of which unleading can be done, besides one or two tracks for cars.

A bect shed is a long, low building, with several driveways, on either side of which unleading can be done, besides one or two tracks for cars. When empty, 50 or more team-loads can be unleaded at once. Capacity, 10,000 tons and upwards. The bects are floated from the sheds to the factory by water running in narrow sluiceways. They are then washed in warm water by unachinery, elevated to the top floor, natomatically weighed and dumped into the shreeder.

The shreds are about the size of a large straw. They are conveyed to the diffusion battery, a long row of steel cylinders, where 35 per ceaf, of the beat julce is washed, out by the forcing of warm water through the shredded beets. The liquid is then shixed with lime, and carbonic acid gas passed through it. By this means the impurities present are rendered insoluble and are extracted by filtering. After being treated with sulpiur fumes to further purify and bleach it, the liquid is boiled down. This is done in vacuum pans, the heat being applied by steam pipes passing through. Upon leaving the last vacuum pan, the mass, partially crystallized, is passed to the crystallizers, where the process is completed as far as possible. The sugar and molusses are suparated in the centificals. These resemble immunase cream separators, except that the walls of the bowl are of fine wire feared such or the monasses flies, leaving the sagar inside. The sugar is then dried and barreled. In 18 hours from the time the boets enter the factory the sugar drops.

Auxiliary Materials Required.

The lime kiln needs no description. When asked why they did not buy lime already burned, the meswer was that they not only wanted impofresh, but it must be burned in a special way. At Bay City the Ilmestone used is brought from a distance by train, as only limestone of a certain purity will answer.

A 1,006-ton beet-sugar factory requires each day over five million galtons of water, and in a season of 450 days, 22,000 tons of cond, 2,500 tons of coke, and 9,000 tons of limestone. The working season, called the campaign, begins about the middle of October, and except for two or three stops to clean up, or a break, continues night and day, Saturday and Sunday, for 100 to 180 days. The daily output is about 800 berrals of refined sugar. No other kind is sent out. In working over molasses, brown sugar results, which is again refined to the desired grade.

Value of By-Products.

Value of By-Products.

The waste products litherto invebeen pulp and molasses. The pulp has been alloyed to accumulate and rot; the molasses run into the river. This waste will not long continue, however. One factory-owner said that in a few years' time they expected to make enough out of their waste to run the factory. When asked why the farmers did not hand away the pulp for stock food, he said: "Because they're no good. That's why." A milkman near Bay City, who keeps 13 cows, uses it requierly. He gives to each ce'w about three bushels oer day, and finds that it sayes his hay, increases his milk yield end has no bad results. The molasses a certain remaduder of which it has been found impossible to crystallize, is now being bought up by a firm which is building a large factory for the manufacture of alcohol from this by fermentation and distillation.

or alcohol from this by fermentation and distillation.

The Industry in Michigan.

Four years ago the first beetsugar factory in Michigan was built; now there are 13 in operation, four more contracted for, and several projected. The first factory had a capacity of 350 to 450 tons of bests per day, now there are none less than 600 and most of 800 tons capacity, There was considerable trouble and several months delay before the capital for the first factory—which was built in Bay City—was secured. Amounts of $1,000 and even less were accepted. When the second factory—also in Bay City—was projected, capital $800,000, an million dollars was offered in one evening.

One of the largest and most enthusiastic hockey meetings ever seen in Lindsay was field last night in the Simpson house, parlors. President Paton and Sec.-Trans. A. L. Campbell were, present, and hockey was discussed with much interest for over two hours.

Dr. Walters, chairman of the committee appointed to select a manager, stated that several parties had been interviewed but all declined. Arter considerable discussion Dr. Walters was finally persuaded to take the office. The election of officers then took piece and resulted as follows: Patrons and Patronesses, Dr. and Mrs. White, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Harstone, Mr. and Mrs. S. Fox and Mr. and Airs. Newton Smale; Hon. President, Mr. J. D. Flavelic; President, Mr. A. M. Paton; Vice, Press, Mr. A. Kleinholt him; 1st Vice, Press, Mr. J. Carew; 2nd Vice, Press, Mr. J. Carew;

Match Committee, Dr. Watters, Mr. Claude Preston and Mr. Walter Cain.

Mr. Perrin, on behalf of the Collegiate Institute team suid their team were unable to raise $20 as their share for use of the rink, but could pay $15. It was decided to let the boys have the use of the rink for practices in the afternoon for the latter amount. They were also given the privilege of managing their team and electing their own officers, with the understanding that if called on to assist the town team they cheerfully do it. The Juveniles' offer of $10 for use of the rink for two afternoons of cach week was accepted. The membership fee of the Senior team was placed at $1, and the Match Coumlitee is to see that every player pays his fee before he commences to practice.

Messrs. Parkin, Shannon and Burke were appointed a committee to arrange for boxes for the safety of the team's uniforms. Nothing definite was done about uniforms, but it is likely the sweaters will be of a light blue color. Mr. W. Engilsh was requested to represent the Chib at the meeting of the Treat Valley League in Peterboro.

The Late Tom Kains.

Concerning Beer Honor With His Life -A White Flag Sniper at Moedwill Shot After Court-Martial- How the Borr Ranks Are

Bloemfontein, Dec. 13. - Major Pack-Deresford, with 140 men of the South African Constabulary, in the night marched to Nooitgedacht, northeast of Bultfontein, and at dawn sighted a moving convoy under lester. After a hard gallop of seven miles the Constabulary overtook the enemy at Martinsrust, on the Vet River, and captured seven Boers, 170 horses, and a number of cattle and carts. Treachery Is Suspected.

Queenstown, Dec. 14.—Oapt. Blandy, while patrolling the country with a party of the Molteno District troops, saw some Boers who, he thought, held up their hands in token of surrender. He accordingly rode in their direction, but when he was within 20 yards of the Boers the enemy fired, and he was killed.

White Flag Sniper Shot.

Pretoria, Dec. 13.—At Mocdwill, a German, who, with a white handker-chief tied to the muzzle of his rifle, stood behind a Cape cart and alternately fixed on our mon and raised the flag of surrender, was captured, court-martialled and shot. Before being executed he asked leave to write to-his sister, and in the letter he told her he was a prisoner and about to be shot. The reason for this, he said, he did not know, "unless it was in retaliation for the manner in which the Beers had tracted the British prisoners they had taken lately."

Few Beers Surrendering. White Flag Sniper Shot.

London, Dec. 14.—The correspondent of The Times at Pretoria says the number of Boers who are now surrendering is extremely small. The enemy has received a severe "hustling", this week from Gen. Bruce Hamilton's columns. Commandant General Botha is probably between Ermelo and Amersfoort, Southwest Transvaal. So long as the personal influence of Gen. Botha is exercised, says the correspondent, large surrenders of Boers may not be expected.

The first two may be neglected, as rebels and foreigners are no longer joining the enemy. As to the third, a trooper who was recently captured and released was told by his captors that many of them were men who had at one time or other been prisoners, and that numbers were still escaping. Sault Ste. The plans call for the largest plant on the great lakes, of a sufficient size to allow the building for four lake carriers of the largest type at the same time. The plant is to be located west of and in close proximity to the Ciergue Steel Works, the first portion of which is now nearing sampletion.

such an event eleven officers and 280 troopers would in all likelihood be following are likely to be appointed.

Lieutenant Graham of the 43rd, Ottawa; Major Bliss of the Militia Department; Captain Ramsay of Brandon, Lieutenant Sholto Douglas of

Last Year.

Ottawa, Dec. 14.—British market reports received at the Department of Trade and Commerce, covering the five months from July 1 to Nov. 30, show that imports of Canadian butter and cheese keep up their volume, as compared with imports from other countries. It is estimated that arrivals of butter from Australia will, at the end of the year, be 3,106 tons less than last year, while those from New Zealand will be 141 tons in excess. During the five months the total importation of butter was 23,236,192 pounds, of which 20,588,008 pounds came from Canada, an increase of 6,270,320 pounds over last year.

Brockville, Dec. 12.—At the County Court, before Judge Macdonald yesterday, the case of Frechette and Calcut v. the Town of Brockville and Constable Sweet, was heard. This was an action for false arrest, Plaintiffs were G.T.R. firemen, and on Aug. 29, last year, left their engines to come down town here for a lunch. Their clothes and persons were solled with coal dust, and they were pointed out to the constable as suspicious characters. About that time there had been a series of incendiary fires, and the police were instructed to guestion suspicious looking strangers. Constable Sweet asked Frechette and Calcut their business in town. The men resented the question, and some heated discussion followed. The constable finally handcuffed one of them and took both to the police station. They were released after their identity was established. The case was given to a jury, who returned a verdict of $50 for each plaintiff.

Dr. Burrows, on bring introduced, stated that in ten years life tax is beat increased from; $61 to $71, and that he felt, going at this rate, he would either have to enter the Council and reduce the tax, or leave town. He asked his heavers if they realized what this increase really meant; if not they should picture to themselves a boy a year old taxed one online the first year and adolfar more added every year after for 25 years, at the end of that time he would be paying $25 per year, and have paid over $450.

Larry this on to 50 years and then realize what the privilege of living in Linday would cost the mature man who found a home here. He thought one of the great sins of commission in the past had been our readiness to issue accentures and being too liberal in our exemptions, a certain sum was necessary every year to run the town, if one man did not pay his stary others had to make good the deficiency. Resides, it is a bad advertisement for the town to be burdened by debt. A man might give, a farm or a house to his child, but if the property were mortgaged for all the was worth it would not be a very acceptable present. The reduction in the number of Councillors was a mistake; had better men been chosen—which he find hoped would be the case—there could be no objection, but this year's Council evidenced the first that the result manicipal logislation had been readen and faulty.

Dr. Burrows next comprised evidendaring with Part Hope and Pater.

The Doctor then compared the water rates of this town with Ottawa. Fort Hope, Peterbore and Toronto Junction, showing that in the edy of Ottawa the rate for a house assessed for $2,000 was $2,500; Foronto Junction, one tap in a house of skyloome $2,700, and lawn purples at $1 Joune $2,700, and lawn purples at $1 Joune $2,700, and lawn purples at $1 sates. Shown the frontage, and billed by the tomissioners for $5,50, a practly steep price for the fall b, that does not included.

Dr. Burrows said it had been stated that the Secretary of the Water Commissioners was very capable, careful and correct; he would had him the year from that functioner, and they might holge as to the correctors of these claims. Now, are not these precions documents and worthy of the people to whom you entrust your husbees? There is the jew mark on overy the send a every step, If leaded to Commeth, would move to have Toronto council considering to make money in waterworks ingulery—we have cases in point in Bickfort, Toronto, and the Town Salicitor of Straffort. Capt Crandell, the old watch dog of the treasury in days gone by, followed Dr. Burrows. He expressed distatisfaction with the Councillars cord on many counts, and showed that he still retains a grif on town that he still retains a gap on sown offairs in the fattle. He found fault with last year's Council for appeainting Polico Commigloners, and with the latter body for dismissing Chief Bell. It would take more than 20 boxes of Pirks pills to thicken the blood of some of the Council-tors. Money had been fairly squandered on good roads—he did not protess to be a good road maker, but was willing to wager that with the amount of money expended on Kingst. He could build a first-class road from the Rathbun Co. office to J. R. O'Nell's store. There was only one good man in the Council —Dougal Sinclair. The town had lamprovements were to be made by Chaimers for $500, but he had Clork Kaowison's wore to be made by Chaimers for $500, but he had Clork Kaowison's wore to be made by Chaimers for $500, but he had clork Kaowisheld to offer as a candidate for Council, but would not promise that his name would not be on the ballot. Mr. J. H. Lennon commended the idea of ward meetings. He did not believe in blanning the Council indiscriminately—it was the system that was wrong. The Waterworks were nanged by Coamissioners, the majority of whom were elected for a term of years, and thus galeed special training. It was not the same with the Council—new men with the Council—new men went in every year, and as a result costly mistakes were made, and trook him eight months to learn how to draw up a resolution property. The others told him all they knew whether good or bad. Two good men many go into the Council help was green at the business, and it took him eight months to be a candidate—he would not take the position of the work and to important town affairs? The Council had made a mistake with regard to the first had list—he had not him as the position of the work and to important town affairs? The Council had made a mistake with regard to the firsh had lid him to the heart was the regard to the firsh had lid help in the south side of Kent-st. or the west end of the market park would he a hetter site, in his estimation.

The Board of Health had called for $500 additional this year owing to the smallpox onthreak it had been claimed that the Council must have had more money to spend owing to the number of new buildings creeked, but such was not the case; bwing to a change in the method of assessing made by a former Council the assessment is now made a year alread, and the owner of a building creeked after the assessors' visit would not pay taxes thereon for nearly three years. It was a foolish change, and if returned to next year's Council his first act would be to move for a return to the old system of assessment.

WINTER FAIR, GUELPH

PAN AND CHICAGO WINNERS.

Judging the Stock-Arrival of Lord Minto Speak at the Public Meeting, as Will Also Ron, Sydney Fisher-The Experimental Union.

Guelph, Dec. 11.-Judged every standpoint, this has been a me-morable day in the history of the Royal City. The twentleth annual recurrence of the Provincial Fat Stock Show, so far as exhibits and attend-Show, so far as exhibits and auctuarance are concerned, have proved an unqualified success. Yesterday the city was all animation and bustle, but no apprehension is feared as to the ability of the citizens to provide ample accomodation for all who may enter her gates. By reason of the liberal grants to the society by the Provincial Government, the city of Guelph and the County of Wellington, supplemented by private subscriptions, a fine building has been erected, commodious, well keated and well lighted. As a clearcut, well-defined evidence of what Canada can produce in the way of thoroughbred stock the provincial show is a success.

Yesterday representative stockmen from all parts of the province were present. In Shorthorns, J. and R. McQueen, E. Jeffs & Son, H. Smith, J. Fvied & Sons and J. and W. B. Watts: in Herefords, F. W. Stone, W. Hall, Samuel Younk and James Hall, and in Galloways, A. M. and R. Shaw, W. J. Reid, D. McRae, are leading exhibitors. In grade cattle, J. Lloyd Jones, James Leask, E. Brien & Sons and John Dickinson make a creditable exhibit.

In sheep the display is exceptionally large and meritorious, Cotswolds and Shopshires predominating. In Cotswolds, Park & Son and E. Brien & Son and leading exhibitors. In Lincolns, J. T. Gibson and W. B. Watt, A. and W. Whitelaw, Orr & Lillico and H. Parks have some fine specimens. Shropshires are represented by J. Lloyd Jones, John Campbell, R. Gibson and W. E. Wright. The exhibit of South-downs is especially large, many of them being winners at the Pan and Chicago shows.

In hogs, it would be difficult to find a more creditable display, and a most commendable feature is the evident determination to produce a class of hogs that will meet with the greatest favor in the British markets, and for which the leading pork packing companies of the province have denoted generous prizes. The upper flat of the society's building is devoted exclusively to the exhibition of poultry, and here may be seen probably the finest and most extensive display ever gathered to production of such animals. Both lectures were attended by fair-sized audiences.

In the City Hall yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the Ontario Agricultural and Experimental Union, Prof. H. L. Hatt, O.A.C., gave an interesting report on cooperative experiments with small fruits, and contended that the system of distributing small fruits from the O.A.C. to farmers throughout the country was attended with gratifying success.

Dr. W. H. Wiley, chief chemist, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, gave a somewhat lengthy address on the culture of sugar beets and the manufacture of beet sugar. The doctor is a firm believer in the sugar beet as a mortgage-raiser, and succeeded in investing a somewhat dry and technical subject with a great deal of interest. One of the most interesting and profitable lessons of the day was that given during the judging of cattle yesterday aftermoon. In a building well adapted for the purpose, flanked on both sides with rows of seats, before a deeply-interested gathering, Robert Miller of Stouf-wille and Thomas Crawford, M.P.P., Toronto, proceeded to judge the cattle, awarding the prizes, and in every instance giving well-grounded reasons for the awarding of the same.

Arrival of Lord Misto.

Considerable doubt and uncertainty existed in the minds of the officials of the society and city as to the date of the arrival of His Excellency the Governor-General. A rumor prevailed that he would arrive in a special car over the C.P.R. but, after waiting at the station for some time, a stampede was made to the G.T.R., at which His Excellency arrived shortly after 7, p.m. Arrival of Lord Minto

After leaving the City Hall he islited the Winter Fair building, where the Farmers' Institute was in session, afterwards visiting the cattle, sheep, hogs and poultry departments, where he witnessed for the first time the process of cramming the poultry for the British market. His Excellency left for Ottawa on the 6 p.m. train.

From a practical standpoint yesterday was a most interesting and profitable day at the Fat Stock Show. At 8 a.m. the process of killing the bacon hogs was begun, and continued until some 100 were slaughtered. This was done to determine the relative merits of the several breeds. This morning at 8 o'clock the same process will be continued with sheep.
The afternoon sessions of the Farmers' Institutes yesterday were particularly instructive by reason of the presence of a number of the Dominion and Provincial Cabinets, and the deep interest generally taken in the proceedings. Scated in the sawdust-covered ring were His Excellency Lord Minto, Hon. Sydney Fisher Hon. G. W. Ross, John Smith, M. P.P., Col. Mutrie, His Worship' the Mayor, and the chairman, the Hon. John Dryden. An address on the desirable and undesirable points of a beef bullock, by Prof. G. E. Day of the O.A.C., was very instructive, illustrated by a magnificent animal brought into the ring.
A public meeting was held in the City Hall last night, the spacious building being crowded to the doors. The chair was occupied by the Hon. John Dryden. On the platform were the Hon. Sydney Fisher Hon. G. W. Ross, Mayor Kennedy, President Mills, Capt. Robson, M.P.P., and many others. President Mills delivered a splendid address, bearing on college work. Mr. and Miss Kelly of Guelph rendered a number of songs. Hon. Sydney Fisher eulogized the work of the Farmers' Institute, and urged upon the Provincial Government the necessity of granting some substantial aid in the erection of more suitable and commodious buildings. Capt. Robson gave a patriotic song, and was compelled to respond to an encore.

Premier Ross was in excellent form and delivered an eloquent address, dealing with the agricultural interests of the province. He emphasized the value of concentrated effort along special lines, and drew attention to the unlimited amount of land still available for settlement in ontario.

of Live Stock—Successful Banquet in the Evening—
Guolph, Dec. 13.—The all-absorbing topic of conversation in the city is the Fat Stock Show. It is not marvelous that the members of the Farmers' Institute, the poultry men and the exhibitors of stock are jubilant—the winter provincial fair is a gratifying success. The city is througed with stock men coming from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Yesterday was a day of practical information for the farmer; the morning session of the Institute dealing with the poultry problem exclusively. The subject was exhaustively discussed by F. C. Hare, Frof. Gilbert of Ottawa and others.

A walk through the shorthorns reveals some magnificent specimens. James Leask of Greenbanks, Ont. ought to be a happy man. He succeeded for the second time in winning that much coveted trophy, the Bell Organ and Piano Company prize, a magnificent silver cup, valued at $230, thereby becoming the owner.

Mr. Leask also won the Holiday Cup, value $75; for the best animal, any age or breed. The pair winning the Bell Organ Cup, weighing together 3,740 lbs., were sold to Mr. Slattery of Ottawa, at 10 cents per 1b. live weight. His Excellency the Governor-General inspected these animals, and a portion of one of these splendid animals will grace his table at Christmus.

The display in cattle is simply magnificent, and the same may truib be said of every other department An interesting exhibit was that of 8 Hybrid buffuloes, the property of Mossom Boyd & Co. of Hobbraygeon By reason of their immense size the will be fact they were taken to the killing room and there slaughtered.

The process of killing the fat cattle, sheep and hogs, entered for the purpose, was completed yesterday afternoon, and last night the refrigerator rooms contained the carcasses of 79 hogs, 83 sheep, 9 cattle and 8 buffaloes. No finer collection of dressed meat has ever been shown in this city. Te Carry Measure Through.

Rerlin, Pec. 13.—In the Reichstag yesterday the Imperial Secretary of State for the Interior, Count Von Posadowsky-Weiner, made a reply to the critics of the tariff and reiterated the Government's determination to carry the measure through.

After the tariff bill had been referred to a committee of 28 members, the Reichstag adjourned until January.

Replying yesterday by cable to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's suggestion that a colonial conference be held in London in June, Premier Barton of Australia intimated that no invitation had yet been received by him to attend the coronation, but that if Australia were represented there his Government would take pleasure in co-operating in the proposed conference. Premier Seddon vromised the cheerful co-operation of New Zealand.

It is an indirect com-pilment to the press, indienting as it does a firm confidence that the matters dealt with will be fully and parly covered in the next issue, but there is at least one serious draw-buck—a meagre attendance makes it extremely difficult to gauge public ntion of sugar best factories. It was a meeting in which the farmers of the county might reasonably e expected to show the keenest interest, yet the number present, in-cluding citizens of the town, was under 100, and many of these were almost an hour late and missed hear-ing the reading of a large part of the report. However, the audience comprised many of the representaderable enthusiasm was manifest-

Mr. E. H. Hopkins, chairman of the special Sugar Beet Committee, occupied the chair, and Mr. F. C. Tay. lor was appointed Secretary protein. The following report was then read by Delegates Ellis and Channon, each reading a portion. The discussion in connection therewith will appear in Monday's issue.

Gentlemen,—The undersigned members of the delegation appointed by you to go to Michigan to Investigate the sugar best industry in that State, begt to report as follows;

Mr. Charles Fairbairn, whom you appointed to assist us in our investigations, was mable to accompany us, so that we performed our task to the best of our abilities without his aid.

By a committee appointed by you at the same time as we were, we were furnished with a list of questions to guide us in our work. They were as follows:

1. Whyt kind of soil is best adont.

Jowing, etc.?

9. How did you come to grow sugar bects?

10. How was the industry start-

11. What was the effect (1) on he country, and (2) on the town ?
12. Whit is your method of disosing of the pulp?
13. Whit becomes of the labor uring the winter when not requird for singer boot culture?
We were also instructed by your mmittee to cole for a man from the Agricultural College, who should we saw Principal Mills of the Ontario Agricultural College, who referred us to a leading sugar manufacturer in Michigan, and sent Mr. Harcourt, the chemical expert of the college with us to Michigan, and for four days gave us valuable help. We knecked Bay City, Michigan, shortly after noon on Friday, and spent a week getting information on the sugar beet industry. In that task we were given every assistance by the gentlemen whom we approached, and found both farmers and manufacturers most courteens and manufacturers most courteens and anxious to give us all the information they could.

The gentlemen to whom we were referred by Principal Mills was Capt. Boutell, of Bay City, who was interesting the sugar beet industry in the State, who is financially interested in several factories, holds stock in the Wallaceburg factory in Ontario, and is known as the Sugar King of Michigan. He gave us very valuable assistance. Capt. Boutell told as that he had formerly been in the lumber business, and made considerable money, but that when the Ontario government stopped the export of logs he sold out his business and huncel his attention to establishing the 'sugar beet industry.

The country really needed it, for the grain crop had impoverished the land, and financial disaster threatenet many of the farners. Yet it was a difficult matter to persuade them to grow the beets. He made a canvage them to grow the beets. He made a canvage that a cost $400, and secured coly eight plots. By perseverance he at last got enough acroage promised to justify building a factory at Bay City. The beets to keep that factory going the first year were gathered from twelve counties, and brought from as far as 103 miles away. That was in 1808. Now there are four factores in that city, and they get the required beets it haif the former territry. Capt. Bootell's description of the difficulty of getting the industry started agrees with the brief but pointed answer given us by one farmer who when asked what first led him to grow beets, replied, "Hard coaxing and hard these."

We visited Bay City, Saglanw and the town of Calro, besides going a good deal among the farmers at their homes. The are industrious, intelligent men, and work their land well. We talked with them a good deal as they delivered their beets at the fectories. Most factories use 600 tons of heets grow, best on a clay loan with a good city subsoil; but that they do well on a sandy loan. On real sandy hand, or black muck, they do not thrive.

There are many very large plots grown, but the great bulk of the beets used in Michigan are grown on patches of from three to ten acres, and handled by the farmers themselves. The best need bed is obtained by ploying down clover stubble nine of ten inches deep in the algre planks at pact, any time between the lastly of April and the loth of June. Where large plots are grown the time of sowig is varied in different parts of the field, so that the cultivation of the antre plot will not be nacessary at the same time. About 15 pounds of sept is now to the acre.

by the and of October. It is no-clasery to arrange all work with the bests in mind, for they must be regarded as a legitimate part of the farming operations, and worth all they Cost.

Pulling and topping, $8 per homes, building more substantial buildings of all kinds; and all this wonderful change has been brought about by the sugar beet."

The towns and villages have all shored in this prosperity, but the towns in which the factories are structed have, of course, benefitted most. A leading doctor in Cairo told us that seven new blocks had been built there in three years, that houses which only that long ago rented for $6 a morth, now bring. $10. and that the increased prosperity of the place since the sugar beet industry had been established. Thea it is known that a 600-ton factory has 1600 patrons, cultivating 6000 acres of beets, from which they gather about $4.000 tons of costs, for which they rescribed they receive $5.50 per ton, and that such a factory pays $2.000 a week in waggs, it is not hard to understand that but larmers and townsprophs are deriving excellent results from the sugar beet industry.

While, gentlemen, the above report does not answer categorically the questions furnished us by your committee, we trust that it embodies information on all the points involved in those questions.

That represents a cost of $25 an acre. Some of the Itams—the cultivating four times, for example—seems to us rather less than they should be, and from what we learned we think the cost of production is generally not less than $35, nor more than $40, an acre in Michigan. The man who raised the five acres for each got 67 tons 200 lbs ofbests off it, and sold them for $4.62 per poses will be bitterly resented. ation has been planted. We believe Aid. "Tell me the story—I will give you does not take him long, but he degarbes the thrilling scene in the wonderful gardens adjoining the harem of the wealthy pasha with such eloquence that Larry is quite earried off his feet, and before the other can put the question to him again he has selzed Doctor Jack's hand earnestly.

"I am with you heart and soul, my one of you. We will thus form a littie triumvirate of our own to oppose the enemy, and you will find this brain of mine as fertile in resources as that of the old time plotter, the

be surprised at anything Larry might decided genius for diplomacy. He trusts him fully, and such action is apt to bring out everything there is

Jack makes no error by undercestimating the power of the enemy. He knows they will be watchful, and continually on the alert to circumvent any plans that may be formed.

All is to be kept a secret—no one must know that they intend leaving Madrid in the midst of the glorious carnival, for people would at once believe them insane, since the Spanish mind cannot conceive of a more glorious spectacle, longed for through many monty, and enjoyed with all the fervour of their hot-blooded race.

all the fervour of their hot-blooded race.

They talk in low tones, for it is not absolutely certain that hostile cars than not be bent to hear their plans—these Spanish fondas in the cities, as well as the taverns, or posadas, in the yillages, being rambling dwellings, with the queerest rooms imaginable, and ever so many nooks and hidingplaces, quite bewildering to one used to straight halls as seen in English and American hotels.

It is easy to get rost m sucn a laby-rinth, and does not require a great stretch of the imagination to people various dark corners with ready exvesdroppers, especially when the party concerned he's cause to believe himself watched.

himself watched.

Jack is the last person in the world Jack is the last person in the work to allow any nervousness to lay hold on him, but he understands the situation and what he must expect—his enemies are unscrupulous and powerful, and this alone is enough to cause

Step by step he goes over the plan

Stap by step he goes over the plan with the other, to make sure there is no mistake, for such a thing would perhaps be fatal to the success of the rote they have arranged.

Larry is to go to the Fonda Peninsular, and manage to let every one know that he is to take his aunt and cousin out early in the morning in a vehicle to see how Madrid looks after the first night's debauoh—thus alarming no one when the carriage is ordered leter on.

The trunks can be gotten down at the last moment, all preparations having been made by the ladies, to whom he will deliver a communication from Jack as soon as he reaches the hotel on the puerts.

Thus it is neatly arranged, and if

Jack as soon as he reaches the hotel on the puerta.

Thus it is neatly arranged, and if they have even ordinary luck, by nine clock on the morrow inc whole party will be aboard the fast Paris express, epoeding over the realis in the direction of the gay French capital.

It is not their intention to remain there any length of time—duty demands that they at once seek the batis-field again, to stand up with the plotting pasha, and see if diplomacy cannot beat him in the game now on. They are small in number, but as force cuts a poor figure in the deal, they mean to outgeneral the enemy. What the future holds for them only Heaven knows, but their hopes are strong, and when Jack bids Larry good-light, meaning to get a few hours just, in six hours we are away. Don't "in six hours we are away. Don't

he Says:
"In six hours we are away. Don't forget to be on time, my friend," and Larry answers:
"'Pon 'onah' now, Doctor Jack, we shall soon be on the road. Then hursah for Paris!"

When Doctor Jack finds himself alone once more he closes the door of his room, and sits down to think. A cigar helps him in this respect, and he grasps the reins of the situation in his hand, cigar helps him in this respect, and he grasps the reine of the situation in his hand.

Minutes slip away thus, and he has gone over the whole situation. The strong of the situation in the hear future seems to stir the most thought of what thes beyond in the near future seems to stir the most sluggish blood in his veins into action, for he can no longer remain scated, but springing to his feet begins to pack the small portmanteau with the few things he carries with him—your old travelier knows too much to encumber himself with a variety of luxuries when on the jump, however much he might enjoy these same things if settled down.

When this job has been completed Jack consults his watch, and finds that the hour lacks but a few minutes of our. Through the open windows here still comes the sound of merry aughter from the street—the noise fers on Jack's mind, for he is in rather melanchely state, as though certain serior.

He tries to sleep, throwing himself upon the bed, but it is of no avail, and presently he is once more on his feet pacing the room.

This, in a measure calms him, and presently he is once more on his rest pacing the room.

This, in a measure calme him, and whon his attention is directed toward the street by an unusually bolsterous crowd passing, Doctor Jack walks to the window and leans out.

How cool and pleasant the night air, and what a delicious odour of flowers comes to him. He can hardly endure the closeness of the room, in window the lickering gas has burned so long.

Looking down he soes that while many of the lights may have burned out these are principally the Chinese colured lantons hung on the trees by the reddents. The avenue is still brilliantly illuminated by myriade of ling flames, and the pavement by no means descried, though by far the greatest crowds have surged in the direction of the great central plaza, where the populace of Madrid delight to jostle one another upon gala occasions like this.

Attracted by the light and sounds coming from this quarter, the American furns his gaze thither—the can hear the roar of volces, the rising and swelling music of bands, and see the glow of fireworks as the many-coloured balls cut the black heavens, or bursting rockets send a shower of golden rain down frem on high.

Madrid is having a grand old time, and wee unto the luckless travellers quartered in the hotels on or near the Puerta del Sol, the Fondas Peninsuiar, de Paris, de los Principes, de Rusla, or de los Embagadores—sleep will be an utter impossibility for them on these three full nights of the carnival.

Doctor Jack has stood thus, his elbows resting on the window-sill, which is high up from the floor of the room, perhaps ten minutes, when he becomes aware of a singular thing—someone is knocking at his door. In itself this is not so strange, but the hour makes it so.

He turns around, and as he does this the ran is repeated—not a bold sound,

He turns around, and as he does this the rap is repeated—not a bold sound, such as a man would make, but a timid one. Jack for the moment is amazed—he wonders if some new trick of the carnival is about to be sprung on him.

Then he recovers his self-possession, and wells to the door. The knocks

Then he recovers his ser-possession, and walks to the door. The knocks have ceased, but he immediately opens the door, to find, as he already expected, that his caller is a woman. She is masked, and wears a black domino that in a measure conceals her form. Jack has seen dozens disguised in this manner upon the street. It fiashes ever him that perhaps this senora is stopping at the hotel, and has made a mistake of the room, but she evinces no surprise or consternation at sight of him, so this can hardly be. Then the idea fiashes into his mind that it is a prank-loving senora, who has possibly some giggling companions hidden in the hallway watching to see her little passege at arms with the brave American who slew the black toro, and whom the gentler half of Madrid's poulation has gone almost crazy over ever since.

These things fift through Jack's mind with the rapidity of lightning, and although but a few seconds have passed since he apened the door, he has already decided that he must beware of the black eyes that gleam from behind the other's mask.

His early morning caller has during this time stood there observing him—she evidently waits for him to speak, so he musters his Spanish, and says, laughingly:

"The senore would play some trick upon the American for the amusement of her friends. If she will consent to remove her mask, and call those who look on, I will have the landlord set an early breakfast or a late supper down below, where we can become better acquainted, and talk of the great carnival"—for Doctor Jack knows sleep is out of the question for him, and is ready to welcome this little episode of the grand masquerade in order to pass away some of the leaden hours that must elapse before the time comes when he can start for the fast Paris express. All manner of liberties are taken during the continuance of the carnival, most of them innocent in themselvas, most of them innocent in themselvas, spanish women are generally shut up the better part of the year, and allowed little freedom, so that when th

To say Jack is startled would hardly cover the ground—in all his life he does not remember feeling such a shock as when his eyes fall upon that face. It is Mercedes—her beauty seems to light up the dingy room as she stands there in the dorway. Doctor Jack fairly gaspe, and for the moment loses his voice; but he is too old a campaigner to remain in this state long, and presently recovers.

"Mercedes—Senorita—how can you state long, and presently recovers.

"Mercedes—Senorita—low can you pardon my seeming rudeness? I never dreamed of this—ah, great pleasure—but I believed I was about to be made the victim of a joke by some fun-loving senoras living at the fonda. You will—you must pardon me."

All this he says in such an earnest manner, looking so sorry for the blunder, that it does not lie in a woman's heart to bear malice. Mercedes smiles—he is forgiven. She makes a movement as though she would enter—Jack immediately picks up a heavy chair with one hand, as though if were a chip, and begs her to be seated, while at the same time he is madly speculating as to the cause of her presence hero at this strange hour.

True, the carnival is on, and it gives a sort of license to its votaries, but Mercedes is hardly the one to take advantage of this. He believes from the start that he must seek further if he would learn the truth.

Looking backward he can see all that has happened to him in connection with this woman who wears the crown of beauty. Like the shifting scenes of a moving panora.... the events pass before his mint: every like the shifting scenes of a moving panora.... the cyclist and the supposed Catalan rewished the supposed Catalan rewished the supposed Catalan rewished the supposed Catalan rewished the seek of the cell worn by the nun from the clotter of the Benedictine church of San Pedra,—she leans over him, her particle,—she leans over him, her particle, because of all comes the buil-fight—his leap into the arena—the look of min gled pride and consternation he see upon her face, and then the scene at her resme, where she sings for him all the tender Spanish love songs she knows.

the tender Spanish love songs one knows. Is it any wonder Doctor Jack's heart bents faster than its wont, as he realizes that this magnificent crea-ture has come to him bent upon some secret errand?

For a moment he even forgots that this creature—one of the lovellest works of Heaven—has been engaged in a plot against his life, because she is devoted, body and soul, to the cause of the Carlists—but it rushes like a wave over him again, and he becomes cautious.

of the Carlists—but it rushes like a wave over him again, and he beconce cautious.

What game can she be playing pow? He almost fears Mercedes, her heauty is so great. Somekow she makes him think of a tigress, so magnificent in her bearing, and yet so subtle. Mentally he compares her with Avis, and the latter does not suffer thereby, for frankness is stamped upon her brave face, if the beauty of Mercedes is the greater.

"Kindly close the door, Doctor Jack. It would not do for anyone to see me here. I risk much in making this visit," she says, in her low, velvet-like voice, that thrills the American, though he cannot tell why.

He obeys her behest, and even turns the key in the lock as an additional safeguard against intrusion. Whatever her mission may be, it is his duty to protect her.

Standing near her, with his hands resting on the back of a chair, he looks straight into her colouring face, where the blushes creep under the satin-like, olive-complexion, as though he would read her secret there. She gives a short little laugh—it is certainly a strange thing for a young woman of the highest circle of Madrid to seek a private audience with a gentleman at such an hour, but there must be some strong reason for her action.

"Senor Jack, you think me unmaid—"

Senor Jack, you think me unmaid-

"Senor Jack, you think me unmaldenly for coming to you here—now. I confess it is a strange thing to do, but I have a powerful reason. Your life is in danger."

She says this in a thrilling tone, just as if she expects Jack to start back in amazement; but he does nothing of the sort. This is an old story to him now—even when he heard it first from Larry he had shown little signs of wonder, and hence is rot apt to go into a state of agitation at this late hour.

"You do not believe it?" she cries.
"Pardon me, but I know it to be a

"Ah! who has told you?" quickly.
"I have a faculty for finding out these things, senorita. I know that I am a marked man by the Carlists, simply because I happened to be a friend of the Duke de Arroyo, who has turned out to be a royal spy."
Jack says all this without excitement—she looks upon him in wonder.
"You know that your life has been forfeited—that you may be among the missing at any day, and yet you do not feel afraid?" "Senorita, you have seen me mas-

"Why should you?"
She does not answer in words, but the tell-tale colour files into her she is an admirable actress, the finest. Jack has ever seen off the stage. cheeks, If Mercedes is playing a part "You must leave Spain, Senor Jack."

"I intend to," he replies.

"Immediately. A few hours may be fatal to you. Even now the word has gone out that means your death"—her manner has become excited, the great black eyer glow with volcanie fire, and fascinate Jack, who recalizes now what a great possibility for good or evil lies in his wonderful girl.

"All this I already know, senorita, but nevertheless I thank you just the same. I cannot understand your motive in taking this risk to warn me, who can only be considered a friend at the most." Jack would be moved to

He quick woman's intuition guesses the truth instantly—she sees he distrusts her, and a resolve flashes into her fauft risks she has taken to warn him, and, yes, even the reason why him has been done, unmaidenly as it may be for a woman to disclose the secrets of her inner heart to the man she loves—these impulsive Spanish women are not so coy and backward as their American cousins—the troplent clima engenders more first in the blood. And their passions, if less enduring on the whole, are like the hot blast of the avence owhile they last.

"Senor Jack, you understand, that I have not come here at the order of any league—this time my actions are controlled by Mercedes Gonzales alone. I assume a grave risk in seeking to warn you."

"And again I thank you, senorits. The risk is lessended by the fact these intentions of the safety of the motion that the girl is acting and the chooses to speak; but in Spain we are of a different mold, and at times a senorita may do the woot ing without being unsexed. You think me beld—perhaps despise me, her volce breaks, and she goes into a fit of weeping.

It is a woman's last card—when all else fails to bring man's obdurate heart to terms she has resource to this, and many a victory, almost lost, has been won under the influence of an April shower.

Foor old Jack becomes dreadfully uneasy—he fears iest he is about to the matter has been brought about because of his own hardened heart, it grows exceedingly dangerous. He will be a should be a strength of the motion that the girl is a time at until he chooses to yet link at times a senorita may do the woot ing without being unsexed. "You do not understand me, Senor Jack. When I speak of assuming a risk I do not mean that to which you refer. That is nothing to me. But if the league to which I belong—those who are devoted to the cause of Don Carlos as our future sovereign—should know that I came here to warn you, my life would pay the penalty."

She shudders while she speaks, and all at once the truth dawns upon stupid Jack. He knows all.

This is not the superb acting of a woman who plots, but the plain confession of a woman who loves. He does not know what to do-was never caught in such a position before in all his life, and hesitates.

A minute of silence ensues. She hangs her head in maldenly shame, yet does not retreat a step in the course she has marked out. He observes her thoughtfully, even in perplexity.

serves her thoughtfully, even in perplexity.

Perhaps at another time he might have entered into the game with arder, for that lovely face is enough to attir the heart of even a stern anchorite, but now things have changed—he has met Avis Morton, and the memory of her seems to hover over him like a good angel.

It would be playing with fire to deceive this girl into the belief that he cared for her, and he makes up his mind not to do it, even though much might be gained from such a move.

"Senorita, believe me, you have the gratitude of my heart for this action. I understand it all."

"All?" she gasps, trembling like a frightened bird.

"Yes. Your gentle nature could not bear the thought of such a needless sacrifice—in your heart you realized that it was absurd to belique mecapable of being concerned in these Spanish intrigues. You would even break your owa oath to the Carlist league in order to warn me. It was noble of you. While I live you shall have my most cincere gratitude."

At the word, with all it implies in English, she starts into life and being; her face assumes a determined look, and from those superb eyes shafts of softness strike Doctor Jack.

"Gratitude!" how she tears the word to pieces in the bitter way she pronounces it. "Ah, Senor Jack, that is what the dog feels toward the hand that tosses him a bone. It may do for your cold English or American ways. Here in Spain we know not such a phrase. With us it is either leve ar hete."

She pauses again to observe his tell-tale face, on which a flush has mount-

She nauses again to observe his telltale face, on which a flush has mounted, for Jack is dused uneasy—it is the first time in his life he has ever been made love to, and, considering the ex-traordinary beauty of the woman, and made love to, and, considering the extraordinary beauty of the woman, and his determination not to encourage her, his situation is a peculiar one. He wonders how Mercedes will take it, for as yet he has not been able to decide what her true nature is. In his experience he has generally found that a beautiful face and a warm, womanly heart, seldom travel hand in hand—usually beauties are cold, exacting, imperious, and selfish.

"I do not know what you may think of me, Doctor Jack, for telling you this, but I can in no other way assure you of the truth of my warning. You believe I am here in the interest of the league—that through some deceit I desire to accomplish your ruin. By the Virgin, I swear to you it is love that brings me here to save you from an awful fate."

She goes on hurriedly without looking up at him, and it is well she does not, for Jack's face expresses both surprise and displeasure:—

I was acting the part given me by the league—I hoped in making your acquaintance to learn the truth, whether league—I hoped in making your acquaintance to learn the truth, whether you were one of our enemics or the man you claimed to be. From the first day I saw you I seemed to feel that you held my fate—I could not help it. Then came the accident in the street—those were not bandits you fought, but Carlists—your guide, Francisco Marti, is a leader in our class, and it was he brought about the melee, hoping to have you killed. Your bravery, senor, saved your life. The hand of fate directed that you should fall in the doorway of a house that belonged to a Carlist. I was sent in the guise of a nun to listen to any ravings you might utter, in order to learn the truth.

"They would have been glad had I allowed you to die, but this I would not do, and when I looked upon you lying there, lifeless at it seemed, I anderstood my heart—senor, pardon pie, but I loved—I believed you belonged to me.

"Then came the scene in the Plaza del Toros, and when, for a Smile from me you faced that terrible bull, I was thrilled with the hope that you perhaps returned my love. Senor, in your country it is unmaidenly for a girl to show her heart to the man she loves—she must suffer in silence the pangs of passion, and never learn her fate until he chooses to speak; but in Spain we are of a different mold, and at times a senorita may do the wooling without being unsexed. heart, it grows exceedingly dangerous.

H wishes the floor would open beneath and swallow him wp, but unfortunately such an event is not likely to occur—it never does when most desired. Mercedes sobs bitterly, and Jack bites the ends of his moustach savagely. Good heavens! to think of this affection being wasted upon a fellow of his size, when there are dozens of amorous swalns in Madrid sighing for one sweet giance from the eyes now brimming over with tears—it is a shame!

Something must be done, and that quickly. Jack strides over to the window—if he could only find a loophole of escape—but it is hopeless, and he must stay to face the must.

pleadings of lovers—the truth has come to her with redoubled (orce, and now in her bitterness of spirit her scorned admirers are amply avenged. Jack speaks—he tries to do so caim-ly, for he really and deoply regrets that this scene has occurred, and will never remember it with any feeling of pleasure.

"Your suffering pains me, senorita. I am unworthy of your regard—a mere wandering old stone, gathering no moss. Presently I shall vanish from your sight, and when you see me no more you will soon forget me."

He says this much in a quiet way, and means to add more, but just then something occurs such as he has never suspected—never dreamed of, and which brings his displeasure to a climitat.

Mercedes suddenly springs erect, and clasps her arms around his neck madly—she forgets her maidenly modesty in the wild rush of love for this man who is to her a hero—a god.

Jack is indignant now—perhaps he is a trifle more emphalic than necessary when he unclasps her hands, for her face grows deadly pale—she feels that she has staked her all in the game, and lest.

"Senorita Mercedes, this gives me more pain than I can tell you. I am not a marrying man, but a wanderer, desirous only of seeing as much of the world as I may."

"Ah! Senor Jack, if you loved me I would be only too glad to go with you as your wife to the ends of the world."

"Say no more, I beg, senorita. My respect you shall ever have. I cannot forget that you cared for me. Some day, when the happy wife of a man who will be worthy of you, I may take your hand, and by your looks you will thank me for doing what now causes me pain. Let us be friends. Mercedes, the best of friends. I have no sister—why will you ne, be one to me?"

friends. Mercedes, the best of friends. If have no sister—why Will you not, be one to me?"

"A sister, to give you counsel—to be lived one minute and forgotten the next. No, no; if you will not, cannot, give me love for love, then we must part forever."

Secretly Jack is delighted with the success he is meeting in this game. No one knows better than he how true, when applied to Spanish women, is the old saying that "hell hath no fury like a woman scorned," and githough determined to do his whole duty, he has fully expected to see Mercedes denounce him, and call down all manner of curses on his head—so he is pleased at the way she takes it.

If he can but lead her mind into another channel all may be well.

"You came to warn me, senorita, but I am all ready to go," pointing to the portmanteau strapped and locked near by.

"You meen to leave Medied." each

'You mean to leave Madrid?" eag-

"You mean to leave Madrid?" eagerly.

"In the morning. So, you see, I shall soon be beyond all danger of your league, and I trust you will not worry about me. We go to Parla."
Unlucky slip of the tongue—Jack could have bitten the member by way of penance.
"You do not go alone?" she cries, quickly.
"No-you see—there is a party—"

quickly.

"No—you see—there is a party—"
he makes the matter worse with his hesitation.

"Yes, and that American girl—Avis
Morton you called her—is one of them.
Ah! Senor Jack, I read your secret—you love that cold girl!"

The Pork industry with reference to the sale of soft bacon, do not appear to have been heeded to the sale of soft bacon, do not appear to have been heeded to the sale of the cheese trade referred to recently carelessness bids fair to put in danger at industry which is of the most vital importance to this country. It is an industry which is of the most vital importance to this country. It is an industry which is of the most vital importance to this country. It is an industry which is of the most vital importance to this country. It is an industry which has developed enormously during the past few years and the reputation of our bacon has risen high in outside markets. Only ten years ago the value of tanadian bacon exports lotalled $600, 600, and in 1900 the value had increased to $13,000,000, and consequently the great bulk of trade in bacon products is confined exclusively to the province of Ontario. This means an average distribution of $250,000 a week among our farmers, compared with $10,000 a week ten years ago. As more than once said the market in Great Briving alone for pork bacon is illimitable. It has been pointed out recently by Mr. J. W. Flavelle, of Toronto, in a paper read before the Guelph Winter Fair, that the fact that Ontario is able to have see great an output is largely due to this educational work carried on by the Federal and Provincial governments. The Farmers Institutes have also done a great work in teaching the pork producers and packers, and parhape foremost of all may be placed the Ontario Agricultural College. It is to be hoped that the advantages which have followed the instruction are not going to be forgotten. Already in the killing of Willishre hogs in Canada, which victually means Ontario, averges 25,000 a week: Demark and Sweden, 18,000 to 28,000: Iroand, 6,000 to 12,000, and Ergiand, 6,000. Canada has outstripped the United States in the British market both in quantity and quality. This premiumes. Our packers must be vigitant and render sack complaints impossible.

The Meat of the Hybride Fatched a Low Price.

Weekly Sun, Toronto; One of the most interesting features in the show of cattle at the Guelph' Fat Stock Fair was furnished in the three hybride—a cross of a buildalo buil and Polled Angus cow—shown Boyd, of Bobcaygeon. These were ferocious-looking brutes, and it is said that two of them, white being 1-d by the nose behind a heavily laden wagon, turned the wagon into the ditch despite all the horses which were hauling it could no. In leading the unimals singly to it's is gifter peu about a dozen men wers required to do, the hauling. One lot took the leaf-rigges is front; and another lot hild buck by other ropes in the rear. Arrived in the slaughter pen, the victim was rushed to a post and a quiety wind on the ropes held him there, and then the happy despatch was given with a rifle. The killing out was a surprise to the buchers, the carcasses dressing much betten than they exceed, but the sides did not sell high in the auction—51-2 to 61-ic.

FROZEN IN THE WOODS.

Cumberman Loses His Reason as a Result of Exposure.

On Threshay evening of last week one George Smith, who was employed in the lumber, woods at Moon River, Muskoka, with Playfair & Co., got lost. He left his gang to get a dinner poil and attempted to cross a corner and meet his fellew workmen nearer home. He tout his way and the theorem was compelled to spend the night in the woods. He walked about and if from sheer exhaustion he was forced to continue further and was cored to sit down and freeze. He had socks and rubbers on and the socks being wet, his feet and legs up to the kness were frozen. His comrades searched for him, but did not find him until the following morning when he heard them chopping and made his way to where they were. He had partially thawed his legs out with snow. He was taken to Dr Howkind's hospital Hunts-ville on Wednesday and it is expected that hie tones and parts of his feet will have to be amputated. Tuesday night was bitterly cold.—Reflector.

The Huntsville Forester says with regard to the above: The man, Smith, who was brought here last week suffering from frozen feet, was taken to the General Hospital. Dr. Howland at once put him under treatment, but a few, days ago he began to show signs of dorangement of mind. He had to be removed to another part of the hospital and is now violently insans. The unfortunate man was committed to Brace-bridge gool, where he will be sent-bridge gool, where he will be sentbridge gaol, where he will be sent from there to some asylum.

Hon. Mr. Roblin wants to extend the boundaries of Maritoba so as to increase the area of the province from 64,000 to about 200,000 square miles, and to make the shore of Hudson Bay the northeasterly limit, thus giving it a scaport. It will do to talk about.

Some of the new things talked of this Christmas season would have made our forbears feel creepy. What with signalling across the ocean, taking over wires, sanding pictures by wire, looking through people's bodies by the aid of the Roentgen rays, reproducing human speech by machines, and talking about seeing light distances by wire, we are preong distances by wire, we are prepared for almost any remarkable ad-nonnecement. Who shall set allmit to what may be expected by 1950?

Stratford Beacon; The ratepayers should not permit the bugaboo of new water mains to deter them from making permanent roadways. If the city should ever reach 50,000 population every water main in the basiness section will have to be replaced by a larger one. That used not bother us, though. The fifty thous-and people of that day will see to that little matter. In the meantime we want good roads.

Montreal Herald; A Galt, (Ont.,) lewspaper expresses the fear that an electric trolley line between Galt and Hamilton will injure Calt's trade by making it easy for the people of that town to do their shopping in Hamilton. Then why not one town against its neighbo and eventually one ward against an adjacent ward, until we have communitles walled up commercially like the eastles of warring barons of old? Edt. notes,

NEW CAPE FLYING COLUMNS.

Down Process.

Cape Town, Dec. 21.—The scheme of greater colonial activity is clearing Cape Colony of the enemy and catching the robels has been brought into operation. Colonel Lukin of the Cape Mounted Rifes has been appointed commandant-general and Col. Crowe assistant, and a large military establishment has been arranged for the colonial Government and at the expense of the colonial taxpayer. A start has been made with a force of 6,000 men, and the hunting down process will be relenticesly pursued. None of the columns are to have sheeled transport of any kind. Everything a trooper requires he will have to carry on the back of his horse or on his spare horse, for it is intended that when columns are on the hunting trail each man shall have two horses. By this means, and by giving each column a fair amount of individual initiative and discretion, it is expected that a few months hence will witness the clearing of the enemy from the coast districts and from the native territories.

From the Quebec Standpoint.

Montreal, Dec. 21.—People who live in the province of Quebec are asking themselves why so well-informed a man as Mr. William Robins would have taken up so much time in persuading his Fronch-speaking friends not to call themselves French-Canadians. As a matter of fact they never do, and certainly never will call themselves French-Canadians. Mr. Robins has unintentionally, no doubt, got hold of the wrong end of the story, and the French-speaking people of Canada simple, and not one in a thousand times do they refer to their own race as French-Canadians. It is the English people who call them French-Canadians, and the only fault they have to find is that the French-Canadians claim that they are the ''Canadians'' and others English.

In the meantime the building was besieged from the outside by a mob of several thousand people, who smoshed windows and tried to force the doors, which had been barricaded. A Later news from Birmingham states that Mr. Lloyd George, who has been taken into the care of the force, escaped from the Town Hall in the disguise of a Sergeant Prolice. This was about half-past 9, and when the news became known the crowds outside the hall, who had by some means obtained a scaffold and pole, broke open one of the doors. Thereupon the police, of whom about 400 or 500 were on the spot, drew their truncheons and charged the mob, scattering them in all directions. The scene was one of wild confusion. People were knocked down and trampled upon, and eight had to be taken to a hospital, with more or less serious injuries, while one man was believed to have been killed.

But he has always succeeded in escaping through some gap in the uncertain British line. At one moment he has been reported as having 1,000 men with him, and a day or two later, when the British had concentrated, his force had been broken up into small bands and had disappeared among tge mountains, where pursuit was useless.

THE COUNCIL FOR 1902.

Very little interest has so far been manifested-in a public way-in the personnel of the new Council, and many citizens have interpreted the apparent color as being indicative, of satisfaction with the record of the outgoing representatives and of a feeling on the part of the ratepayers in general that at least a mojority of the old Council were deserving of re-election by acclamation. We believe our citizens would be acting wisely in toking that visw of the municipal situation. It would be a proper and deserved compliment, because Mayor Ingle and a majority of his colleagues have throughout the jear been untiring in the per-formance of their municipal duties, have attended 110 regular meetings of Council and the various com-mittee, have devoted hours daily to outside duties in the town's interest, and have managed the town's business in a fairly creditable manner and with as few mistakes, probab-ly, as were made by any of their ly, as were mode by any of their predecessors. By entrusting the town's affairs to them for another term our citizons would make cer-tain of being served by trained men, and could look forward to a year of

During the last few days there have been whisperings and hints to the effect that the Council's decision as to the fire Hail site was likelyto responsible for the adoption of the ecommendation made by last year's Council and Board of Trade, instead of accoding to the selfish request of Ald. Sinclair and his friends that the hall be erected on the market park. The opposing party is being organized, In an editorial on the Fire Hall in this week's issue of the Watchman-Warder, after urging that the Fire Hall site be made the chief issue in the coming contest be-cause of the cutting up of the market square, and probable loss of cause of the cutting up of the market square, and probable loss of farming trade, goes on to say; Because of these things, and because it is not yet too late to corroot them, we again press the question of the Fire. Hall site upon the attention of this town, and urgo that it be made the leading issue at the obections in January. More than $500 has already been spent; that is unfortunate and scathal our proposes; but $500 is nothing when compared with the interests that are at stake. The chance to avert a disset. The chance to avert a disset is now approaching. It must be embraced now or lost forever. Other things can be taken up again, but where the Fire Hall is built next spring it will stay for a century. A mistake in its location cannot be unione. Let every other consideration stand aside; let a strong and complete theet be now-insted on that issue and at this last moment let the town be saved from an impeding evil.

No mention is made of the fact that when the new Hall is erected and the old one removed there will available for mirror propose than actually be many more feet of space available for market purposes than at present. Revenge, not logic is being sought by those opposed to the Fire Hall site, and they would willingly squander $1,000 of the town's money to gain their point. They will likely have the active support of cer-tain citizens who do not regard the police and water Commissioners with ony favor. A Council elected to change the Fire Hall site will abol-

An Impressive Funeral.

The funeral of the late Alderman lichard Touchburn to Riverside cemetery on Sunday afternoon was largely attended and impressive in character. Long before the appointed hour many of our leading citizene gathered at the house of mourning to take a glance at the features of the dead or to sympathize with the bereaved furnity. The funeral cortage was a long one, as in addition to the numerous vehicles in line many citizens walked in procession as a last token of the 'respect entertained by all for one who had been a good citizen and who had been a good citizen and who had seen a good citizen and who had been a good citizen and who had been a good citizen and who had seen a good citizen and who had seen a good citizen and who had seen and seen a good citizen and who had seen and seen and seen and seen and seen a good citizen and who had seen and se profit would thus be derived from the stabilishment of the indus-dustry.

Delegate Channon, in the course of his remarks, pointed out that a factory in Peterboro would not affect the interests of one in Lindany. In support of that view he said that steps were being taken to establish a factory in Dresden, a small town distant only 10 or 12 from Walfaceburg, where a factory has been in operation for some time. Saturday lost the announcement was made in the press that the Dresden factory was assured a contract having been awarded for a $500.000 plant. Our farmer need not fear that a factory at Peterboro would lessen their profits.

A meeting of the joint committee appointed last Friday will be held to-day to arrange for a canvass for acreage among the farmers of the district, prior to entering into negotiations with capitalists. This was the plan followed at Dresden, where contracts to grow 5000 acres the first year was secured. Our farmers should receive the annawers with open arms—on their success will depend the success or failure of the best sugar factory proposition.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Hon. J. I. Tarte, in a signed letter to La Patrie, makes a strong plea for the immediate improvement of the French River, Ottawa River and

St. Lawrence River route to the sea, in order that Manitoba wheat, now going to market via Buffalo, shall be handled in Canadian cars and bonts. He gave tables of distances, shows the saving in mileage of the Montreal over the New York route,

$120,000 a year in interest will divert many millions of bushels of grain to Canadian ocean ports.

In the evening the subject was taken from Romans, 6th chapter, 1 and 2 verses. On Monday evening the fowl supper and entertainment was held and was attended by over 500 people from for and nearby points, among whom were many prominent members of other congregations. The supper was served in the new and handsome basement of the clurch. Four large tables were used to spread the good and tempting catables on, and from 5.30 to 8.30 the people came and went until all were served in ele-

the United States offers the best markets for certain Canadian pro-ducts, and that to facilitate trade between the two countries would be for the benefit of both, the Gazette taunts him with having turned his back upon his opinions of 1891. Sin Wilfrid can fairly claim to have done his part towards bringing about a better understanding with the Unit-ed States, and if the effort has so far falled the fault is not his. And what, after all is the distinction be what after the position of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and that of Sir John Mac-dorald in 1891? Did not Sir John dissolve parliament on the plea that by communications passing between him and Mr. Biaine a way lad been opened for the negotiation of a re-ciprocity treaty? It is true the trick was afterwards exposed and trick was afterwards exposed and appropriately resented by the American ministers, and Sir John's double dealing completely made evident to all. But the fact remains that he did dissolve parliament for the avowed purpose of securing a reciprocity treaty, and his party supported him in the design. Their conduct differed they and since from dent to all. But the fact remains having been kalsonined in a blue that he did dissolve parliament for the arowed purpose of securing a reciprocity treaty, and his party supported him in the design. Their conduct differed then and since from that of the liberals only in the addition of an element of chicanes.

The report and subjequent discussion makes plain the fact that the establishment of the beet sugar industry has been a godsend to Michigan farmers, who have been paying off liabilities with the profits derived from best growing, and whose lands have doubled in value as a result of the high state of fortility brought about by careful cultivation of the sugar boot. They were not keen at first, but after having made one experiment with the new crop they invariably became enthusiastic and anxious to increase their acre, with that object lesson set before thom the farmers of Victoria County should not hesitant to guarantee the acreage required as a first by the province are keenly alive to the importance of the opportunity and are unking strenuous efforts to the importance of the opportunity and are unking strenuous efforts to mers desire ka avail themselves of a new and profitable source of revenue fixey must rise to the expension—and at once.

In the event of a beet sugar Inctory being ustabilished in Lindsay the farmore of the district would have one great advantage not shired in by Michigan patrons. It appears to be well established that beet pulpunkes an excellent folder and can be stored like ensling. Michigan farmore do not engage in stock raising to any extent, and the pulp, which is given away at the factory, is wasted. Our farmors would not permit that—probably every pound would be taken away, and a double profit would thus be derived from the restablishment of the industries.

Delegate Channon was asked to describe at greater length some of the more important features that had attracted his attention, and on opening said there were 1001 things worthy of comment—the report could not possibly embody everything that was pertinent to the subject. Public interest in the sugar beet industry had been aroused in all parts of the province, and he had been curious to learn if the sume feeling prevailed in Michigan. At Lapeer farmers and others had taken $100,000 worth of stock in a factory, payment of the shares being spread over a period of five years. It was the universal opinion of all having to do with beet sugar manufacture that it was one of the most profitable industries in the United States to-day. The world's production of sugar last year was shound 2,850,000 tons of came, and 5,950,000 tons of beet sagar. Within a very few years the U.S. had increased its sugar output sevendol, yet it would require 400 Inctories to produce the quantity consumed in the country. Last year over $100,000,000 worth had been imported. Ald. Robson—"Dr. Wylke estimates the world's production at two million tons six million tons being made from beets."

Ald. Robson—"Dr. Wylle extimates the world's production at tan inition to as six million tons being made from beets."

Mr. Channon, continuing, said Prof. Hercourt, chemist at the Guelph College, and been a member of the delegation, and had rendered invaluable assistence. The business men of Saginaw, were delighted with the increase of saies that had followed the setablishment of a factory, the employees and farmers buying very freely. He (Mr. C.) had made it his care to interview a number of growers of five and ten acre plots. One young man named Fenton had engaged in the business as a speculation, reeting land and implements in addition to paying for labor. The first year's operation of the 25 acro plot resulted in a yield of over 14 tons to the acre; the selling price was $5.40 per ton, the entire cost of cultivation, rent, etc., about $40 per acre, leaving a nat profit of about the factory had referred him (Mr. C.) to one of the bestgrowers, who said he had been in thebusiness for two seasons—the first year had agrown two acres, the second year 50 cures, the average yield being price $5.20 per ton. The same man has now contracted for 300 acres on the bests containing 15 and 16 per cent. Sugar, and over, commanifed a very high price.

In reply to a question by Dr Vrooman, M.P., the speaker said that most of the same amony the contracted of the sugar basic of the five growers thought the crop was a factor of the provers thought the crop was hard on the land, and the plot should be changed or well fertilized every two or three years and increase of the same time the extra cultivation required was of benefit to the land, and any other crop grow well for till the same time the extra cultivation required was of benefit to the land, and any other crop grow well and had not think the sugar baset double very severe on the land, and the plot should be changed on well fertilized every two or three years.

owned the third and estimates the cotal cost of cultivation per acce at $40, profits the same. Fenton, the young man first referred to, paid $10 an acce rest, yet his outlay was kept down to $40.

Michigan had one great advantage over this country-owing to the lumbring business having been chycket by the Ontario Law forbidding the export of logs capitalists were forced to seek other investments, and many old lumbrines plunged right into the sugar industry and invested largely. The price of farming land around Sagnaw ran from $50 to $100 per acce, and was of good quality—a sort of sandy city loam on the surface, with a clay subsoil. Around Cairo the land was worth from $40 to $00, some running higher. So far as he could high, the soil in this vicioity is of a stronger quality than the soil of Xienigan, and better adapted for would be greater.

The best sugar industry is a new thing in this country, and no man can forcese the extent of its future development. There were difficulties and obstacles to vercome, one of which was the duty. Michigantal so poesessed advantages in a cheaper coal suppty arth in the cost of habor, as the families of the large number of more engaged in other industries were available for work in the best plots, going out and returning by train as in the case of hop-pickers. One important feature of the industry was that the acreage deveted to beets did not displace any of the other crops now grown, and the majority of the plots being small the members of the family can attend to the cultivation. If the best are kept well covered with soil they will be rich ha sugar right up to the roots.

In reply to Mr. Duke, the speaker sail that farmers recommended very highly the feeding of pulp ta stock. The pulp seems to be as index when loaded as if freshity shredded, and will keep in a silo for three or four years, like ensilage. However, Michigan farmers do not engage very extensively in stock raising, and although the factories give away the pulp and load it free of charge, the demand for its of a

In reply to Mr. W. Flavelle, Mr. Léanon said the factorles were in operation about three months, starting in the latter part of October and running into February occasionally. The majority of the experienced working a recount, the experienced working a still environger of all the factorles cultivate large plots on their own account, the balance of the hands come from the farms round about Each factory employed about 350 men when running fall time.

Capt. Boutell, alluded to in the report, was known as the Michigan Sugar King, and had been the first to engage in the manufacture of beet sugar from the State. He had been a lumberman, and when the export of logs from the Georgian Bay, was stopped he found himself with a capital of $100.000 [sing filler has ing learned something about heet sugar from a friend in California he proceeded to that State, acquired the necessary knowledge, an equired the phill work. He expended $400 in taking a number of farmors to the nearest factory, and on his return to Michigan set to work to interest the farmors. He found it uphill work. He expended $400 in taking a number of farmors to the nearest factory, and on their return to see the farmors. He found it uphill work. After mentioning that beets delivered at a factory to-day became the pure sugar of counterce on the morrow. Mr. Channon briefly described the method of handily the beets on arrival at the factory, which is a tremendous building,—he only hoped the day would come when he would see a similar one in Lindsay. (Hear bear.) In connection with the Ray City factory there is a large chemical pinat, costing $830,000 and employing 350 men, where the waste product are treated. Eventually the malp will be baled for shipment. In reply to a question Mr. Channon said he didn't think a factory in Paterbore would interfere with one in Lindsay, any more than it the former town never existed—there was plenty of room for two, and evan move factories in the district. There is a factory in Wallaceburg, yet steps were being taken to establish another in Decadea, ten or twelys miles to this south-east. The patrons of the former factory, were not very ceribusinstic because they had been getting only about $3.50 per ton, while Mich'ran farmers were paid $5.50. The low price was not to the other or twelve, out to the divity and cost of texts.

regard to bonuses, it was first the custom in Michigast to ask and from the municipalities, but the practise was speedily abodished, the profits rendering bonuses unnecessary. If a Lindsay factory could secure beets at a flat rate of $4$ for beets containing II per cont. of sugar, and a graded increase in price for the higher perceptages, our farmers would find sugar beets the most profitable crop ever grown.

In reply to Chairman Hopkins Mc. Channon said that Mr. Boutell had stock in the Wallaceburg factory. He would advise all farmers, if they got within reach of the factory, to engage in beet rulsing—they had nothing to lose, and everything to gain He would recommend that a strong effort be made to secure a factory, and would undertake to grow a good sized plot himself. In reply to Mr. J. D. Flavelin Mr. Channon remarked that in Bay City and elsewhere both farmers and business men had taken stock in the factories. They promoters of the Wollaceburg factory had been given 40 acres of land and exemption of general taxes for tro years.

Beets should be delivered at the factory as clean as possible—It did not pay to carry rubbleh, and topelett on the farm could always be put to good use as a fertilizer. The Michigan beet was about the same as that grown here; the samples grown by himself last summer were as good as any he had seen in Michigan, and better than most lots. that grown here; the samples grown by himsel last summer were as good as any be had seen in Michigan, and better than most lots. Some Michigan (armers said that their yield had been as lown as nine or tentons per acre, but that meant poor cutilization. Mr. Boutell had told him that when farmers once engaged in beef growing they couldn't be ktcked out of the business. He had heard of one man quitting because of a dispute over a contract, but on every hand other farmers were increasing the size of their plots. In our own midel there are farmers who won't send mik to cheese factories and creameries or grow boe peas, because they large never done so, and won't learn how. Some people won't end their children to school for fear they might learn something. Mr. Ellis, the other delegate, was next invited to address the meeting in opening he made a complimentary reference to Mr. Channon's energy and zeal in the cause of beet sugar, and then proceeded to explain the few points left untouched. In all cases the land was prepared with the few points left untouched. In all cases the land was prepared with the few points left untouched. In all cases the land was prepared with rest care, and the average cost per icre, everything included, might safely be put at $23. The average weight of good beets was about 2 lbs. Women taborers in the fields were prief st per day, and were preferred to men at $1.50.

Chaleman Hopkins pointed out that the hour was getting late, and farmers were leaving. A strong committee should be appointed to sonwass for stock and get le louch with capitalists.

Mr. W. Flavelle said the important matter was the acronge; first secure the guarantize of 5000 acres, and the financial problem would be easier to solve.

secure the guarantee of 5000 acres, and the financial problem would be easier to solve.

Aff. F. C. Taylor salu hy was in doubt as to whether the farmers were sufficiently informed to make up their minds as to the profit in growing beets; if they were, then a canass might be rade, and if the required acrenge could be secured the committee would have something tangible to present to capitalists. He believed the industry would like a grand thing for the district.

Chairman Hopklus thought both matters might be pushed forward at the same time by a joint committee. Per abore people are not bothering themselves about the acreage.

If Flevelle hold to his point as to the ser age being the first essential. He had stened to the delegates with great picasure; they had no avea to grind, and farmers would repose confidence in their very interesting report. It would be almost impossible to interest capital without furnishing proof that a factory would be supported.

Mr. Elis pointed out that Mr. Bothell bad cantioured the delegate with Ing proof that a factory would be supported.

Mr. Eliks pointed out that Mr. Bouted had cautioned the delegation that a guarantee as to acreage would e the first essential demanded by capitalists, not would be better than the offer of a big bonus, which would not tempt good business men to invest $500,000 or $600,000 in an uneutable locality.

Mr. Chemion —"The farmer cannot possibly lose anything by guaranteeding to grow a small plot for the first year."

Mr. J. D. Flavsille said he had recently been in conversation with one of the sugar factory promoters, who said they would be content with contracts for the first year only—they were prepared to take all risks after that, so confident were they

ers. and he believed they would see that I, would be to their interest to do so.

Mr George Lytle pointed out that it had been demonstrated that first-class beste could be grown in Lindsuy district, and that best growing was enriching Michigan Larmers.

Our farmers are progressive, and ore not afraist to take stock in a promising industry — they already controlled a number of cheese factories and entered an amble of cheese factories and creameries, and he believed they had invested some $50,000 in a binder twine factory now being erected in Peterboro.

After some further conversation of no particular interest the following joint committee was appointed: Country—Mr. S. J. Fox. M. P. P., Mesers Johnson Ellis, E. H. Hopkins, W.m. (hannon, J. Deyell, Geo. Payne, Jos. Mark, Edylin Mark, I. Fee. N. Smale, C. Fairbairn, Jas. Robertson, D. Scolly, R. Wilkinson, T. Calvert, Town—Senator McHugh, Dr. Vroonan, M. P., Warden Graham, R. Bryars, F. C. Taylor, R. J. McLaughlin, M. Robson, Also, the reeves of the townships of Ops. Maripess, Verlam Fene'on, Emily, El on and Manvers.

It was decided that the committee should meet in the Consoil Chamber, Lindsay, on Friday next, Dec. 27th, at 1.30 p. m.

"That this convention expresses satisfaction with the answers of Mr. Campbell and regrets that the attitude of Mr. Wallace is so unsatisfactory to temperance legislation."

Lussi evening our citizens were shocked by the news—conveyed in the form of a telegrant to Chief Nevison—that Mr Wm. To-day's Toronto papers contained the following despatch:
Severa Bridge, Dec. 10.— William Miller of Lindsay was found dead in a lumber yard here yesterday, Miller had been employed at linged Rapids on the Orillia Electric Light plant, and was returning from Lindsay, where he had spent a few days at home. Mr Miller left Lindsay on the 6 o'clock train, and expected to be met at Sworn station by a man who had arranged to drive him to Ragged Rapule The train was due at Severn at midnight, but was one hour late, and it is supposed that the unfortunate man, missing the conveyance, undertook to walk to the hotel, a couple of miles distant, lost his way, and was overcome by taligue and cold. Deceased was 57 years of age, industrious, and a good citizen. Much sympathy is being expressed for the bereaved family. Mr. W. Miller, of Mr. M. J. Carter's staff, son of deceased, left this morning for Severn to attend the inquest and bring the body to Lindsay for burlat.

Ottawa, Dec. 23.—His Excellency the Governor-Oeneral received a cablegram yesterday from the colonial Office, announcing the death of Major J. H. C. Ogilvy, D.S.O., who had previously been reported severely wounded in action.

Office, announcing the death of Major J. H. O. Oglivy, D.S.O., who had previously been reported severely wounded in action.

Major Oglivie went to South Africa as adjutant of the first contingent and received the distinguished service order for his gallant work at Paardoberg. He was also in action at Drietfontein, Thabanchu, Israelsport, Houtnek, Zand River, Doora Kop, and at the capture of Pretoria, being several times mentioned in despatches.

When the first contingent left South Africa, Major Oglivie joined the staff of Gen. Smith-Dorrien, and was in close touch with the second contingent during the three months that the Canadian artillery were so actively employed around Bolfast.

An unusual honor was paid to Major Oglivie at the time of the departure of the second contingent. He was offered a capitaincy in the Gordon Highlanders, which meant that every officer below him was willing to forego his seniority in favor of the interplied Canadian officer. Major Oglivie, however, declined the offer, and returned with the Strathcome's. But soon afterwards Major Oglivie went back to South Africa and took an important position on the staff of Major-General Baden-Powells' South African Constabulary.

London, Dec. 23.—One of the really social problems which will likely demand the attention of Parliament is the overworking of school children. A report just issued by the committee appointed by the Home Secretary reveals some astounding statistics.

The number of school children also employed at work in mills, shops or factories during hours when not in school-room is 150,000. These children all attend school the regulation number of hours. In addition to these, there are more than 105,000 other children who attend school half days and work the other half. All these are young children. Of those between the ages of 13 and 14 years, only 208,000 out of a total of nearly 600,000 are on the school lists at all. The committee estimates that fully 300,000 children who should be in school are now engaged in mills, mines, shops, factories, etc.

MR. TARTE'S VIEWS,

Says We Are Moving in Transportation Matters in the Right Direction But

Matters in the Fight Direction But Not Quite Past Enough.

Montreal, Pec. 23.—Under the heading, "What I would do if I were a member of Parliament," Hon. J. Israel Tarte contributes an interesting letter to La Patrie upon the subject of transportation of the St. Lawrence route. He says that as the session is near at hand he would make a study of the means of transportation, and would give neither the Parliament nor Cabinet any rest until it had adopted an energetic and definite policy in the matter. "We are moving in the right direction," says Mr. Tarte, "but we are not moving fast enough. Everything possible should be done in order that the St. Lawrence, which is the shortest route between the west and the markets of Europe, should be used for the bulk of the exportation." He insists especially upon the deepening of French River to 20 feet, and predicts that when that is done 25 to 30 million bushels of wheat will be landed on the shores of Lake Nipissing in the two months of the autumn when this trade is at its height. In his opinion this improvement of the French River is of the utmost importance. The cost would not be more than $4,000,000 at the most, a bagatelle of $100,000 a year in interest. Mr. Tarte adds that unfortunately he is not a member of Parliament, but merely a Cabinet Minister, which makes all the difference in the world.

Man From Anstrolia-Mr. Chamberlain Has Cabled a Request to Premier Barten For One Thousand Men-Some South African Despatches Speak of Surrender, But a Volksrust Despatch Says Reverse.

Harrismith, Orange River Colony, Dec. 22.—The first fight in which Gen. Dewet has figured for some time is reported to have occurred at Langberg, Dec. 18. It was rather a flasco, considering the recent ominous reports regarding the noted general's rejuvenated commando.

After a four hours' fight the Boers drew off, with a loss of four killed and 20 wounded.

The British loss was one killed and 14 wounded.

General Dartnell has been making a series of surprise visits to farms in the Harrismith district lately by night, and has thus captured 24 Boers in bed.

Fourteen Boers surrendered in a body yesterday near Standerton. Dartnell says signs are increasing of an inclination on the part of individual Boers to surrender.

A despatch to The Daily Mail from Sydney announces that Joseph Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary, has telegraphed to the Right Hon. E. Barton, the Prime Minister of the Commomwealth of Australia, to the effect that the British Government would be glad of 1,000 men for service in South Africa, Premier Barton having previously declined to offer men unless the Government asked for them.

During the summer the consomption of water was so large that suspleion was aroused and an inspector was appointed to vivit the premises of every water taker. He found a surprising state of affairs—betw.en 40 and 50 buths, 39 closets, 40 or 50 lawns and several houses had services not entered in the town books, in addition to a large number of houses having more taps than were charged for. This goes to show the necessity for close supervision of municipal plants. The Grand Trunk is now paying a rate of 10c. per 1000 gollons in Gatt. instead of 6c., the price charged for about seven years. As announced by posters, the nom-inations for mayor and six aldermen will be held Monday evening next, Dec. 30th, at 7.30 o'clock in the Council chamber. It will also be ne-cessary to nominate a school trustee for each of the wards for three year terms, to commence Jan. 1st. 1902, and a water commissioner for a similar term. Indications point to the probability that some of the speeches next Monday evening will be of a peppery nature, as the old ward warriors are compiling all sorts of statistics.

In recence to dishonest packing, inances were given where the whole-le and commission men had been sponsible for much of the dishont grading, and had even gone so

W. H. Bunting, the Fruit Commissioner to the Pan-American, gave an address on the results of the Dominion exhibit there. He found much ignorance, even among the best classes who visited the Fair, on Cannda and her products, and considered the splendid horticultural exhibits had been a great advertisement. Only three exhibits in the Horticultural Building had been awarded medals. Two went to California and one to Ontario.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Bunting by the association for the magnificent results of the Canadian exhibits in horticulture at the Exposition.

Toronto, Dec. 18.—Massey Hall has been the scene of several notable political gatherings, and many times in the heat of campaigns has it witnessed inspiring displays of party enthusiasm. The welcome given by the Liberals of the city and the Province to the Postmastor-General fast night will, however, be unique in its history. It was a demonstration in honor of a statesman, prompted not by the excitement which a general election produces, but by a general desire among his follow-citizens to honor one who had done much not merely for his party, but for his country and the empire in the affairs of which he has taken so prominent a place. Mr. Mulock received an ovation when he commenced his rep'y. He said:

Whist gratefully appreciating the kindly sentiment to which this address gives expression, I cannot but regret that my work falls so far short of deserving what has been so generously said of it, and knowing full well that no public services of mine entitle me to this magnificent reception, I interpret and accept it according to its real significance, as an endorsement of the policy and record of the Laurier Government, that for the last five years, as we humbly venture to hope, has administered the country's affairs to the best interests of Canada, and upon lines that make for strongthening the ties which bind her to the mother country." (Cheers).

"It is the lot of all Governments—ours is no exception to the general rule—to live in an atmosphere charged more or less with the spirit of partisan criticism, but such criticism, to be effective for any good purpose, should, I submit, be of an intelligent, honest and consistent character—(hear, hear)—and I propose, with your kind permission, to conduct some little investigation as to how closely our opponents' criticism of us approaches to such a standard." (Cheers). This he did in an eminently able and good humored manner, being cheered to the echo time and again.

Mr. Mulock then dealt with the Sir,—I have been informed that a rumor is in circulation to the effect that Town Commissioner Cluders has, in addition to his salary, received the money collected for permits for sewer connections, and I have been requested to correct the rumor. Best Remedy for Drink Evil.

(To the Editor of The Post.)

Dear Sir, — The Intemperate use of strong drigk is very largely a social will, since it is the universal employment of the social element with the drink habit, which is responsible. The temperance advocates seem to advocate everything, including prohibition, which is admittedly difficult, and sometimes impossible, of anforement, except what, to my view, would be the most effective preventive. If they would demand and secure the passing of an act making treating an offence subject to penalty, these a great advance would be made in at once decreasing fromkenness and its evils, with a chance of ultimately removing it altogether. Anyone who has knocked about the world a little, knows that the treating system is responsible for seventenths of the intemperate drinking of the day. Half a dozen young men, for instance, find themselves together and somebody suggests drinks, not because any need or particular desire for a drink exists with any of them, but simply because custom has made a "treat" a medium or accompaniment of social intercourse. Under the circumstances the unwrittipe cole of "honor" requires each of the six for the six young men have each six drinks, and some of them are drunk, whereas if each had been left by coustom the choice to buy a "ione" drinks, and some of them are drunk, whereas if each had been left by coustom the choice to buy a "ione" drinks, and some of them are drunk, whereas if each had been left by coustom the choice to buy a "ione" drinks, and some of them are drunk, whereas if each had been left by coustom the choice to buy a "ione" drinks, and some of them are drunk, whereas if each had been left by constanting the treating system, and any particular longing for drink, it is highly probable that no drinks at all would have been consumed. Not one of the skin drinks in drink in deference to the drunkenness and drinking habits of the community. SIGNOR MARCONI'S SPEECH

This Enormous Cheapening of the Meth ods of Communication-Would Aid Civilization Beyond Measure-Brit-Interest in This Result-Would Cement British Empire.

New York, Dec. 21.—The Herald New York, Dec. 21.—The Herald has the following from St. John, Nfld.: Wireless messages to England at the rate of one cent a word or less were predicted by Mr. Marconi at a luncheon given in his honor by His Excellency the Governor, Sir Cavendish Boyle, Thursday. In responding to the toast to his health proposed by the Governor, Mr. Marconi said:

proposed by the Governor, Mr. Marconi said:
"I wish to thank His Excellency most heartily for the very kind remarks he has made about myself and my work. Although I have visited many countries, I am quite convinced that nowhere have I received greater assistance and encouragement than in this colony.

"If my system can be commercially established between the different parts of the earth—a possibility of which, I may state, I have not the slightest doubt—it would not fail to bring about an enormous cheapening of the methods of communication.

"At present the existing system of submarine cables fulfills that object to a large extent, but the great cost of the cables themselves and their heavy workling expenses cause the existing charges to be beyond the reach of the majority of the people inhabiting the various countries, but could this new method be applied I believe that the cost of what we now call 'cabling' to England, might be reduced at least twentyfold.

"The present rates are, if I am not mistaken, twenty—live cents a word. I do not see why eventually with the wireless system, the cost should not be reduced to one cent a word or less."

"I have spoken of the use of wireless telegraphy may prove to be to the different nations of the world, but as I am at least half a Britisher, I wish to emphasize that with respect to the British Empire it has quite a special importance. Facilitating the methods of communication between the mother country and her great colonies beyond the seas, cannot but result in still more firmly cementing that bond of unity and common cause in the interest in civilization of which the Empire has given such splendid example to the world during the anxious times of the last two or three years.

"Gentlemen, this colony was the first in which a message was received by cable from across the ocean, and I am glad to say it has equally been the first to receive a message across the same ocean without a cable. It is my sincere wish that, if there is anything useful in my method this country should not be last or least in participating in its benefits."

Among those present at the luncheon, which practically was an official-ceremony, were Premier Bond and the members of the executive and legislative councils.

In proposing the tonst to Mr. Marconi's health, Sir Cavendish Boyle offered the guest hearty congratulations on his success. Speaking of the recent visit of the Government officials to the station, he said:

"You all know, I think, the reason an attempt to give us a practical demonstration of the woonderful occurrences of last week was not made, but I think what we saw on that, coupled with what many of us have had the pleasure of seeing and knowing for some days past, proved sufficient to remove from our minds any doubt whatever as to the genuincness of the statements which have been made.

I am not going to discourse on it. It may going to discourse on it. It may see for our many of the work of this great man here and the event of the circuit, it is most to some paths."

The consumication by means of wireless telegraphy was demonstrate to appear the solution of the works, and I suppose there, but to my mind. Montreal was the past place in all Canada for the location of such an exact for the capital city of her oldest colors."

"Communication by means of wireless telegraphy was demonstrate to appear the surface and the secretary destricted here in this our island to be possible over a distance, not of some paths."

"It is not the properties of the Atlanti Cocan, and between a point in the mother country and the capital city of her oldest colors."

"It mean interruption in the syntomy of the work of this great man here and not to leave us in silence.

"Mr. Marconi is here, and we are proud and glad to have him here. Join with me in telling him this, asking him to remain with us, or at any, rate to come back to us, and in wishing him health and prosperity, together with continued and increase it in success in his great life work."

Commander of Spanish Ship Says Dewey's Fraise is Just.

New York, Dec. 19.—Captain Diaz Moren, who commanded the Colon at the battle of Santiago, says that Admiral Sampson could take no active part in the fight because his ship was 12 miles to the west of Santiago harbor when the Spanish squadron appeared, while Admiral Schley with the Brooklyn flying his pennant, and the Iowa, were close to the mouth of the harbor, cables the Madrid correspondent of The Journal and Advertiser.

"Both war ships," says Captain Diaz, "fought the Maria Teresa, which, seven minutes afterwards, was on fire. My ship, the Colon, appeared then, firing her larboard artillery against the Iowa, which not moving quickly enough, would have been sunk by the Colon. Evidently the credit of the first part of the battle, during which the Maria Teresa and the Vizcaya were placed hors de combat, belongs to Schley, as well as the second part, during which the Colon fought alone against the Brooklyn, the Iowa and the Oregon. She was finally vanquished by the superior artillery of the Iowa and the faster speed of the Oregon. I think Admiral Sampson's glory, to whom as superior commander, was due the positions the ships held in the first line of blockade, and without whose instructions the result might be seen in another light."

Washington, Dec. 19.—Admiral Schley, late yesterday afternoon, through his counsel, presented to the Secretary of the Navy his bill of exceptions to the findings of the majority of the court of enquiry. The bill concludes with the statement that the proceedings of the majority of the court were irregular, that Admiral Schley's rights have been prejudiced and his testimony in many particulars not considered and that the evidence is absolutely insufficient to sustain the opinion which has been rendered, and that therefore a grave and incomparable injustice has been done Admiral Schley. "If this industry is started on Canadian soil," said Mr. Pearson, "It will certainly mean a great deal for this country. Kingston, as suggested, would be a good place for the location of the works, and I suppose it is likely they will ultimately go there, but to my mind, Montreal would be the best place in all Canada for the location of such an establishment."

The sittings of the Division Court was held here for the first time on Doc. 12th, in the town hall, the change from Wilberforce being made at the request of the Township Conneil, who stated that they had there a town hall wherein all their business was transacted. The difficulty here (Tory Hill) was that there was no accommodation for the Judge, lawyers, and officers of the Court. This was provided this time, at any rate, to His Honor's satisfaction by Mr. R. C. Short, and the sittings for the ensuing year will most likely be held at Tory Hill. The docket was a very light one. Alexis Cone versus Henry Read, $6.10 for 20 panes of glass. The glass was for new schoolhouse No. 2, Monnouth, the building of which was started, and well advanced, by the Copas, who, however, did not finish it although they drew $200 out of the $235 for which they tendered to do the work complete. When the trustees got ready to inlish the work they sent to him for the glass, and when the trustees got ready to inlish the work they sent to him for the glass, and he agreed to pay for it. The trustees, however, considered as they had furnished the money the costs. This His Honor said they would have to do, and from their own purse,—it would not be legal to pay it from the rates. The glass did not belong to the section until fixed in the school, and from their own purse,—it would not be legal to pay it from the rates. The Christmas tree and entertainment in connection with our public school took place on the evening of Friday, Dec. 20th, and was a splendid success in every way. The school was crowded to its utmost capacity, and the order was excellent, every number on the program being listened to by all with the closest attention. Although the opinion of everyons seemed to be that every selection on the program was well rendered; special mention must be made of Mr. Dan Gilchrist, of Islay, who had to respond again and again to encores. Mr. John Smith was chairman, and the able manner in which he performed his duties showed that he was the right man in the right place. The Christmas tree was well loaded with presents, many of them being very costly. Santa Claus, dressed in a very presty occurre, was present and distributed the presents. The first present taken from the tree was a beautiful gold watchchain presented by the pupils of the school to their teacher, Mr. W. A. Cameroo. Miss Gwen Morgan and Miss Bella C.
